Mrs. Serine Scroggie left Sunday for her home at Portland, Ore., after visiting several weeks at the Martin Kulseth and Joe Kulseth homes.

Saturday evening dinner guests at the Halvor Holen home were Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Holen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mayer Holen and family of Goodridge.

Visitors this past week at the Paul Bedard home were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mayer and Michael Jr., and Felicia Kent, all of East Kildonan, Manitoba, and Eleanor Raichardt of Norwood, Manitoba.

Mr. and Mrs. William Soeby left Monday to spend the week visiting with relatives and friends at Fargo, Sauk Centre, Minneapolis and Mellen, Wis.

Mrs. Tillie Hustad of the Pioneer Home at Erskine and Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Richards of this city were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Anderson.

The Minnesota "open bottle bottle law" forbids the carrying of a bottle of intoxicating or non-intoxicating malt liquor with seal broken, within the driver or passenger compartment. This includes the glove compartment.

Communism doesn't allow the ambitious, the thrifty or the talented to gain from their work but pulls them down to the level of the laggard.

LOOKING SOUTHWEST at the business section of the city, there is much evidence of the progress that has doubled the population of Thief River Falls during the past thirty years. One interesting development that is evident in the picture is the increase of car parking facilities. The half a block formerly occupied by the old Central school is in the process of development and will provide space for a large number of automobiles.

Partly in the picture is an enlarged parking area at Piggly Wiggly store and the quarter of a block made available by the Hartz store operation. Two public lots at LaBree and First street and the Red Owl area have helped materially in providing a satisfactory solution for this problem. The new telephone company building and the paving of Fourth Street have opened a large area for commercial development.

Mardi Gras Cake Wins $25,000

1959 BAKE-OFF WINNER, Mrs. Eunice Surles of Lake Charles, La., is congratulated by movie Oscar winner, Greer Garson, and Mrs. Eleanor Pillsbury, when her Mardi Gras Party Cake won the $25,000 top prize in the 11th annual Pillsbury Bake-Off.

The cake which won $25,000 for the newly crowned "Cook of the Year" is a delightful taste adventure from the deep south. Mrs. Surles says it's delightful on two other counts, too: simplicity of recipe and ease of baking. Here's the way to make it.

MARDI GRAS PARTY CAKE

Pillsbury's Best 11th Grand National Recipe and Baking Contest Recipe Adapted by Ann Pillsbury

- ⅔ cup butterscotch morsels
- ¼ cup water
- 2¼ cups sifted Pillsbury's Best All Purpose Flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ½ cup shortening
- 3 unbeaten eggs
- 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk

Melt butterscotch morsels in water in saucepan. Cool. Sift flour with salt, soda and baking powder; set aside. Add sugar and brown sugar gradually to shortening, creaming well. Blend in eggs, beating well after each. Add butterscotch morsels; mix well. Add dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Blend well after each addition. (With mixer use a low speed.) Turn into two 9-inch round layer pans, well greased and lightly floured on the bottom.

Bake at 375° for 30 to 35 minutes. Cool; spread filling between layers and on top to within ½ inch of edge. Frost sides and top edge with Sea Foam Frosting, or whipped cream. Makes two 9-inch layers.

Butterscotch Filling:

Combine ½ cup sugar and 1 tablespoon cornstarch in 2-quart saucepan. Stir in ½ cup evaporated milk, ⅓ cup water, ⅓ cup butterscotch morsels and 1 beaten egg yolk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Remove from heat; add 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup coconut, chopped, and 1 cup pecans or walnuts, chopped. Cool.

Sea Foam Frosting:

Combine in saucepan ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar, ⅓ cup water and 1 tablespoon corn syrup. Cook until a little syrup dropped in cold water forms a soft ball (236° F.). Meanwhile, beat 1 egg white with ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar until stiff peaks form. Add syrup to egg white in slow, steady stream, beating constantly until thick enough to spread.

ELC Official Will Visit TRF Circuit October 25 to 29

Rev. Oscar Engebretson Director of Evangelism, to Share in P-T-R Mission

REV. O. E. ENGEBRETSON

The Rev. Oscar E. Engebretson, a member of the staff of the division of evangelism of the Evangelical Lutheran church, will be in the Thief River Falls circuit from Oct. 25 to 29 in connection with the P-T-R Preaching Mission to be held in the area at that time.

Pastor Engebretson has special responsibility for evangelism programs among rural congregations in the ELC, a field in which he has had broad experience.

A graduate of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, Pastor Engebretson was ordained in 1930, and has served four rural parishes: Rolette, North Dakota; Walcott, North Dakota; Decorah, Iowa (Washington Prairie); and Spring Grove, Minnesota. In 1953 the Washington Prairie congregation was named by the Christian Century as one of America's twelve "great churches".

Pastor Engebretson is one of seven councillors representing the ELC on the National Lutheran Council and a member of the ELC's Rural Life commission. He has been a member of the ELC's parish education and education boards and has written numerous articles on rural church life.

Home Garden Tips

C. GUSTAV HARD
ORRIN C. TURNQUIST
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE, UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Fall Cleanup in the Garden

When the vegetables have all been harvested it's time to clean up the garden plot so it will be ready for working again next spring.

All dead plants should be removed from the garden plot. These include tomato vines, pepper plants, vine crops, remnant cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower plants. Sweet corn stalks could be cut up in small pieces and either scattered on the ground for plowing under or placed on the compost pile.

If diseases and insects have been prevalent during the past season, it's best to remove the debris and burn it instead of plowing it down or making compost out of it.

Any old fruits of tomato, pepper, cucumber, squash and melon that were not harvested should be raked up and destroyed to prevent volunteer plants in the garden next spring.

Pull up all wooden stakes used for labeling rows and supporting plants in the garden, clean and store them away for use next year. After they're cleaned and dried, you may want to paint them with a good wood preservative before putting them away.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Pete Kolstrand, who passed away 2 years ago, October 15, 1957.

At twilight when the night draws near
And the sunset flames the sky,
We think of you dear loved one,
And the happy days gone by.
Thoughts of you come drifting back
Within our dreams to stay,
And we know that you are resting
When twilight ends the day.

Your LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Continuous corn is old stuff for Merlin Hildebrandt, Waseca. According to Larry Christenson, county farm and home development agent, Hildebrandt has raised corn for five years in a row on some land and gets 100 bushel yields doing it. His recipe for this practice includes heavy fertilization, insect control, high plant population and chemical weed control. And, of course, he doesn't do it on steep land.

If the water supply dries up, so will livestock profits. Ralph Williams, Braham, found that undependable watering areas limited use of his permanent pasture. The pasture was more than a mile from the buildings, yet produced fine forage. With aid from SCS technician Fred Wahlstrom, Williams built a 60 x 80 foot pit near the pasture to collect surface water and seepage. Even though he dug it in July, it was full of water a week after completed. It was built with ACP cost-sharing help.

Fertilizer use is growing by leaps and bounds in Minnesota. The State Department of Agriculture says total tonnage for the fiscal year ending July 1 jumped a whopping 22 per cent over the previous year. Actual amount for fiscal 1959 was 541,534 tons compared with 443,389 a year ago. Compared to 1956, the increase was nearly 50 per cent.

Should nitrogen be added to pastures in one big spring application? Or should it be split in two smaller ones—the first in spring and the second in midsummer? Recent University of Minnesota research at Rosemount showed no advantage from splitting; increase in growth from the two procedures was the same. Soils specialist P. M. Burson adds, though that split application might still be a good idea in areas like northeastern Minnesota where there's plenty of rain, spread throughout the summer. Most important is to use nitrogen. Regardless of how applied, it boosted forage yields by more than 2 tons per acre in the Rosemount trials.

A burly Grand Forks Central 'B' team, after trailing by a 13 to 0 score at the end of the first period, utilized their superior weight and power in the line, blocking three Prowler 'B' team punts, to defeat the locals, 36 to 19, in a high-scoring football game played on the Lincoln field Wednesday night.

The Prowler 'B' team will travel to Crookston for a return game with the Crookston Pirates. Kickoff time for the game will be at 7:30 p.m.

In last night's game, the Prowlers rolled up an early lead, scoring on the second play from scrimmage, with Paul Klungness turning right end for a 40-yard touchdown sprint to cross the north goal. A pass play, John Aune to Karl Ekstrand, had carried from the Prowler 40 to the Grand Forks 40-yard line. Don Nicholson added the point on a sweep of right end. A short while later, Klungness, from the Grand Forks 31-yard line, circled left end for a touchdown. The conversion point, a running play, failed, and the locals held a 13 to 0 lead.

The most exciting play of the game occurred when, from the Prowlers' 21-yard line, Klungness slipped through left tackle, sifted through the Grand Forks secondary, and threaded the east side-lines for sixty-nine yards and a touchdown. Grand Forks rebounded from the long touchdown run by scoring a pair of TD's, and two conversion points, to take a 20 to 19 lead at the intermission.

In the third period, Grand Forks added a touchdown, a conversion point, and a safety, when a blocked punt went out of the Prowler end zone.

Coach Marv Skaar's Redskin 'B' squad added a final seven points to their total when Hertzelle plunged for six yards to cross the south goal, and Steve Ebert added the point, in the fourth period.

TRF Shipping Assn. to Erect Building

Structure Will Be Used for Loading Livestock

Construction will begin soon on a loading building where livestock will be handled under cover and on a concrete floor, it was decided at a special meeting of the Thief River Falls Livestock Shipping association Tuesday evening.

Harold Langseth will be in charge of the construction of the 36x40-foot building of pole-type construction. The structure will be covered with corrugated sheet metal.

A special feature of the building, which will be located just outside the city limits on the Wedul property southeast on Highway 59 will be a movable loading chute adjustable to the various deck heights of semi-trailer trucks. The new chute will make it unnecessary to load sheep into the top decks of trucks by hand or to make variations of chute heights with temporary and often dangerous temporary ramps.

Newfolden Team Trips Badger 55-19 in Game on Friday

Two-touchdown Handicap in the First Quarter Is Overcome by Nordics

The Newfolden Nordics defeated the Badger Rockets, 55 to 19, in an east half Northern Lights football conference game played on a wet field at Badger on Friday. Eight Newfolden players entered the scoring column, which included eight touchdowns and seven conversion points. Lowell Halvorson, senior halfback, scored three touchdowns for an 18-point performance.

In the high-scoring first period, the Badger Rockets exploded for a 13 to 0 lead; but the Nordics, with Darrell Bakke making a 60-yard kickoff return for a touchdown, rebounded to overcome that Badger lead and gain a 20 to 13 lead at the first period stop.

The Nordics continued to control the play in the second period, rolling up a pair of touchdowns to hold a commanding 34 to 13 lead at the half-time intermission. At one time during the second period, the Nordics had a senior-less backfield on the field, with Lloyd Iljelle, a junior, Dale Elseth, a sophomore and Jerry Strandquist and Merlin Anderson, eighth-graders.

In the final quarter, Ronnie Ueland, taking a pass from quarterback David Haug, scored a six-pointer, and the same duo converted the point on a completed pass, giving coach Jack Junker's club a 55 to 19 triumph.

Coach Junker commented that the Nordics' offense reached a season-peak, with blocking being best that the team has exhibited this year. Junker singled out Lowell Halvorson as playing his best game of the season, and Ronnie Ueland turning in an outstanding game at offensive end.

Mud Lake Goose Population Heavy

10,000 Geese and 25,000 Mallards Are Reported

The advent of unusually early winter weather conditions in parts of Canada, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, has created some interesting waterfowl migration patterns through this area, according to the Regional office of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Rapid build-ups of ducks and geese have occurred on the national wildlife refuges and on other areas where attractive water and food conditions exist. Blizzards and cold weather on the other hand, have caused the extremely early exodus of migratory birds from the famous Souris River refuges in north central North Dakota, according to Forrest Carpenter, Regional Supervisor of Wildlife Refuges.

Latest information available from Canada indicates that portions of Manitoba escaped the full brunt of the storm and it is likely that many ducks remain in the larger open water areas there.

The Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge near Holt has supported a population of some 10,000 geese since the season opening, of which the bulk are the large Canada species. An aerial census of this refuge on October 13 revealed a population of 25,000 mallards and several thousand baldpates. Very few diving ducks had arrived by October 13.

The Aid Association for Lutherans, represented locally by Alber J. Dietrich of Grand Forks, N. D., recently issued certificate number 1,000,000 he reports. Certificate number 1,000,000 brings the total insurance in force to more than one and a half billion dollars for this fraternal life insurance society. The history-making life insurance certificate was issued to Mrs. Philip R. Brown, 38, of Gillespie, Ill., on September 30 at 9:30 a.m.

Resuming the Series

The second game of the current two-game football series between the Prowlers and Moorhead Spuds will be played on Friday night at Moorhead. The two teams will meet on the Moorhead State college field, with the game-opening kickoff slated for 7:30 p.m.

The off-and-on football series between the two school began in 1931, and since that time the Prowlers and the Spuds have engaged in eight games. And of these eight games, the Spuds have won five and lost three. In the series opener, back in 1931, coach Roger Dooley's Prowlers dropped a 14 to 7 decision to the Spuds. Moorhead had a three-game losing streak in 1938, 1939 and 1940, losing to coach John Lidenmeyer's Prowler clubs in those years; but since that time the Spuds have rolled up four straight wins over the locals. And the odds are that coach Jim Gotta's 1959 Spuds will defeat the Prowlers on Friday night. Last year's game, you will recall, found Moorhead scoring a 13 to 6 win in a rugged tilt.

In 1938 the Prowlers, captained by Loren (Bones) Stadum, defeated Moorhead, 7 to 0; in 1939, with Cliff Thomas as captain, the Prowlers marked up a 13 to 6 win; and in 1940 the locals scored a decisive 32 to 14 win over the Spuds. That 1940 game was, by a big margin, the most spectacular of the series.

In the 1940 season, Moorhead came up here with a team that was highly-rated, and which featured the line-plunging of their 265-pound fullback, Norm Erickson. In the game against the Prowlers, Moorhead, using their weight to advantage, gained a 14 to 6 lead at the half-time intermission; and the Spuds held a 14 to 12 lead entering the final period. In an explosive fourth period the Prowlers, led by the slashing runs of fullback LaRue (Andy) Anderson and the passing of Eddie Flasch, scored three touchdowns and an extra-point to win by a 32 to 14 score. We'll salute those Prowlers by reciting the names of the squad members: captain Tommy Carlisle, Duane Babe Peterson, Johnny Parbst, LaRue Andy Anderson, Bob Wright, John Dablow, Orrin Pederson, Don Berg, Luther Fjelstad, Eddie Flasch, Jim Ferguson, Bob Michalsky, Irv Wilson, Roman Paulson, Jim LaFave, Doug Snelling, Lenny Lorentson, Orlin Gjernes, Dake Ayers, Connie Geston and Armand Pederson.

Oh yes, one of the Moorhead high football coaches, Alvie Lund, should recall that 1940 game, for he quarterbacked that Spud team.

Disturbing Reports

Reports from the state's prime pheasant range, judging by the items appearing in the Granite Falls Tribune and the Herman Index, are pessimistic and discouraging. The 1959 Minnesota pheasant hunting season will open on Saturday, Oct. 24, at 12 o'clock noon.

The winter-kill this past season, 1958-59, was moderate, and with the goodly supply of birds on hand, and near-ideal hatching conditions this spring, the prospects were that the state's hunters could make preparations for one of the "banner" years. And these prospects were supported by observations of sportsmen and wardens and game biologists.

But during the past six weeks, reports of trouble have been trickling in from the pheasant areas. And these reports have been growing in volume, and in unanimity of opinion that the pheasants are ailing and diminishing. In fact, in some areas the sportsmen and farmers insist that the season should be closed or curtailed drastically.

It must be a fact that the pheasants are suffering from disease and dying off in great numbers to cause such reports to be circulated. To date, no reason has been given for this decline, but the state conservation department is putting forth all effort in an attempt to find the cause, and the cure, for the pheasant fall-off.

We read a news report the other day stating that the strontium-90 reading, which reached an all-time high in May in the Mandan, N. Dak., area, had declined in July. The fallout samples, taken after nuclear tests, showed a record high of 47 strontium units in May. The point we wish to stress is that game birds, and especially pheasants, could be susceptible to strontium-90—poisoning.—The safety standard recommended by the national committee on radiation protection is a maximum of 80 micromicrocuries per liter of water. What would be the standard of safety for game birds?

Fabulous

While the duck hunting in this area, after the first burst of activity on opening day, has declined somewhat, especially the field hunting, the goose hunting and shooting continues to be amazing.

Old time hunters have to go back to the days of the early 1900's to find goose hunting conditions that are comparable to the flights of geese that are thrilling the hunters this season.

Some of the successful goose hunters the past weekend (and we are listing just a few) were Reid Stromberg, Dr. Walt Kaisler, Leif Erickson, Dr. Myron Johnson, Ed Broughton, Don Narverud and Ray and Gordon Johnson. And Don Myers bagged another goose, his third of the season.

Stromberg, Dr. Johnson and Broughton had a real shoot on Monday afternoon, bagging a limit of geese while hunting the Roseau bog area. In addition, Stromberg had a good shoot, hunting with Dr Kaiser, along ditch 200 on Sunday.

It's been a remarkable season for geese.

Lancaster and Karlstad Win in Northern Lights

The two top teams in each half of the Northern Lights conference, Lancaster and Karlstad, marked up victories last week to retain their top ranking. Lancaster defeated Kennedy, 36 to 25; and Karlstad defeated Middle River, 19 to 7.

While Karlstad, with but one league game remaining, and that against the low-ranked Badger Rockets, appears to have clinched the east half title, the west half championship remains "up for grabs," with Hallock having a two wins, two ties, and no losses record, pressing the Lancaster club. This week's game between the Hallock and Lancaster should clarify the west half championship race.

Pheasant Population Questions Raised as Season Opens Oct. 24

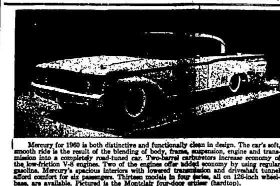
Has something happened to the pheasants? This question is suddenly being asked in states represented by Bismarck, N. D.; Pierre, S. D.; Des Moines, Iowa, and St. Paul.

Game officials in these states are busily exchanging telephone calls in an attempt to find out if anything really has happened. Pheasants are not showing up in the numbers anticipated earlier in the summer. What happened to the reproduction that looked so promising in midsummer? Has something happened to the pheasant population over a large part of the Midwest, or aren't the birds being observed for some as yet unexplained reason?

In St. Paul, Game and Fish Director James W. Kimball, after reviewing a recently compiled report on Minnesota's brood census, indicated that fewer young are being observed in the population than had expected. Similar reports are coming in from neighboring states that had earlier reported "bumper crops" in the offing.

If a sudden decline in the pheasant population over mid-America has taken place in the past few months, what has caused it? Speculation will range from weather and disease to insecticides and radioactive fallout. Nobody knows for sure what could cause such a widespread, sudden decline, if in reality a decline does exist.

"We aren't particularly alarmed over this turn of events but, admittedly, we are puzzled," explained Kimball. "In Minnesota hunters will have a wider range over which to hunt pheasants than in most years. A series of mild winters have allowed pheasant populations to prosper in marginal areas that normally can be excepted to have few birds after a hard winter. Population increases in these areas have been more noticeable than throughout the prime range."



"If the pheasants have suddenly been handed something of a setback, our Minnesota hunters will probably not equal last year's record harvest of 1,500,000 birds. However, the population will most likely equal the average for the past ten years."

The pheasant season opens at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, October 24, and continues for 30 days. Only cock birds may be taken, with a daily bag and possession limit of three (3) and six (6).

"Our enforcement officers will be vigorously enforcing the law protecting hen pheasants," emphasized Kimball.

Meanwhile, a report from one state indicates that pheasants have begun to show up in increasing numbers this past week.

Research conducted in Minnesota and elsewhere reveal it is virtually impossible to overharvest pheasants with a cocks-only season.

Mercury for 1960 is both distinctive and functionally clean in design. The car's soft, smooth ride is the result of the blending of body, frame, suspension, engine and transmission into a completely road-tuned car. Two-barrel carburetors increase economy of the low-friction V-8 engines. Two of the engines offer added economy by using regular gasoline. Mercury's spacious interiors with lowered transmission and driveshaft tunnel afford comfort for six passengers. Thirteen models in four series, all on 126-inch wheelbase, are available. Pictured is the Montclair four-door cruiser (hardtop).

6-city Republican Rally Next Monday

Crookston to Share in Statewide Radio Hookup

Some 6,000 Minnesota Republicans will have supper with their new national chairman, Senator Thursten Morton of Kentucky, next Monday, Oct. 19.

"This supper is unusual," explains State GOP Chairman Ed Viehman, "in that it will be served in six separate communities."

Party faithful from all across the state will sit down to a meal of hamburgers, potato chips, salad, cake and coffee at individual meetings in Albert Lea, Mankato, St. Paul, Montevideo, Duluth and in Crookston at the high school cafeteria.

Billed as the Republican Round Robin Rally, the meetings will be joined together by an electronic network to produce one huge state-wide event in which guests at one will hear the proceedings in each of the others.

A one-hour segment of the program, from 8 to 9 p.m., will be broadcast statewide over Radio Stations WCCO Twin Cities, KDAL Duluth and KROX Crookston with Viehman, a former radio announcer, as master of ceremonies. Featured on the air will be Senator Morton and one guest from each of the meetings who will be selected at random to ask a question of the national chairman.

Hosting the individual rallies will be Republican Congressmen Albert Quie in Albert Lea, Ancher Nelsen in Mankato, Walter Judd in the Twin Cities and Odin Langen in Crookston, along with state party officials in Montevideo and Duluth.

Tunberg Showing '60 Mercury Cars

Line Includes 13 Models and Three V-8 Engines

A completely road-tuned car, distinctively styled and functionally clean in design is offered by Mercury in its 13 new models for 1960. Body, frame, suspension, engine and transmission are blended to provide a new standard in riding comfort. The new models are now on dispaly at the Tunberg Motor Co.

Many important design changes were made in Mercury's three V-8 engines to improve both economy and performance and give greater reliability and smoother, quiter operation. All engines have two-barrel carburetors which save fuel, and two of the engines are designed for maximum performance with regular gasoline.

All models of the 1960 Mercury have a wheelbase of 126 inches, permitting a greater length between wheels, with a resultant improvement in occupant comfort. Continuing a feature introduced to the industry last year, the 1960 models have a low transmission and driveshaft tunnel.

The drinking driver is more often involved in rural Minnesota traffic accidents than in accidents within urban limits.

Within the first six months of 1959, there were 38 less traffic deaths than during the same period of 1958.

The Vote of Confidence

Tonight, at the Armory, businessmen of Thief River Falls are paying tribute to the leaders of the dairy industry in northwestern Minnesota and to the Land O'Lakes creameries organization that 30 years ago started its operation of a Thief River Falls branch.

The dairy industry has been the area's most dependable source of income. Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., has greatly expanded its operations here and, directly and indirectly, is responsible for much of the progress that has come to the city during the past 30 years. The tributes to both the industry and to this particular organization are well deserved.

The coming of Land O'Lakes was celebrated 30 years ago as a great achievement for the community, and, in a very real sense, it was a community achievement. Actually its coming here was the result of a failure that, at the time, was looked upon as a great misfortune. In this case the misfortune opened the door to a very fortunate development.

The misfortune had occurred to the Thief River Valley Cooperative Marketing Association that had been organized in 1924, and had grown steadily in the egg and poultry business up to the time of its sudden and unexpected failure in 1927.

B. O. Norby, with a background of teaching and school administration, was one of the organizers and served as manager. This local association was affiliated with the Minnesota Egg and Poultry Producers Exchange, which served as the selling agent for the district organizations. The first carload of eggs was shipped out of here in September. The first year's sales totaled $156,000 and increased to nearly $200,000 in the second year. The 1926 volume was $284,899.

In June of 1927 this poultry association and the Land O'Lakes Creameries district organization had a picnic at Squaw Point that attracted a crowd of 1,500. Thief River Falls stores closed for the occasion. Great progress was being made and all were happy.

The bad news came suddenly in January of 1928 when it was learned that the central selling organization had failed. There being no money available to pay for the turkeys that had been shipped for the Christmas market, the Thief River association folded at once.

But Bert Norby didn't give up. He started to hold meetings, explaining what had happened and encouraging reorganization. At a meeting held here in March a representative group of members in the defunct association voted to reorganize. John Brandt of Land O'Lakes had shown an interest in the marketing of eggs and poultry and thought a centralizing station at Thief River Falls might be justified. He offered the services of Land O'Lakes as a selling agency.

The new organization, The Farmers Cooperative Poultry Association, started buying eggs on April 2. Bert Norby was manager and Stuart McLeod, already district chairman for Land O'Lakes, served as president. Twelve creameries had agreed to act as receiving stations for eggs and this number steadily increased.

At a district picnic held June 17, John Brandt said arrangements were being made for Land O'Lakes to handle poultry as well as eggs, and by November 22 the new association had shipped 23 carloads of live poultry.

From then on the two organizations merged together like butter and a hot penny. At a meeting held early in 1929 Norby reported that the Poultry Association had shipped 44 carloads of eggs in 1928 and 20 carloads of dressed turkeys. It all added up to an annual volume of $384,000. On March 14 the merger of the two organizations was announced. Plans were in the making for the ultimate reimbursement of those who had lost money in the failure of the original Thief River association. On March 21 Norby announced that a processing plant was being considered.

The next public announcement came in the August 1 issue of the Times, stating that Land O'Lakes had acquired the property north of the creamery extending to the Thief River Grocery building and that arrangements had been completed for the building of a modern poultry processing plant. The Thief River Falls Commercial Club, through its industrial committee, had formed a building corporation that would build the plant, which Land O'Lakes would rent and acquire over a period of years.

This story has already been told. The new plant was built and went into operation early in November of 1929, in time to handle the Thanksgiving and Christmas crop of turkeys. Up to that time getting the turkeys ready for market had been a hand operation down on the farm. The new plant shifted the processing and packing operation from the farm to the factory.

Since 1929 the Thief River Falls branch of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., has been greatly expanded. By present standards the 1929 operation was primitive. Today the Thief River Falls branch of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., includes a new and completely modern turkey processing plant; a well equipped feed manufacturing plant; a hatchery that provides a market for a large late-winter crop of turkey eggs, and, through its subsidiary, Bridgeman Creameries, a processing plant for Grade A milk that compares favorably with the largest and most modern milk processing plants in the state.

Through its various operations in the city, Land O'Lakes now provides year-round employment for more than 125 workers and seasonal employment for nearly another hundred. In the aggregate, the company is the city's largest taxpayer. Looking back to the things that were happening 30 years ago, Thief River Falls has reason to be thankful that the Thief River Valley Cooperative Marketing Association was forced into failure.

In commenting on the opening of the new Land O'Lakes poultry plant the Times, back in 1929, pointed to several benefits that could be expected to the community from this new operation but concluded that: "Its greatest single benefit probably is the encouragement it brings." The editorial continued:

"Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., is not a local organization. It is composed of several hundred creameries, representing many thousands of farmers of the entire state of Minnesota, and portions of neighboring states. The decision of such an organization to establish a large egg and poultry plant in this territory is a vote of confidence in the future of this territory that is in itself more valuable to this section of the state than any dollars and cents benefits such a plant will bring.

"Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., one of the world's outstanding cooperative organizations, owned and operated by the most progressive farmers of the state of Minnesota, has given this section of the state an endorsement that will advertise it favorably throughout the country, and that will do much to awaken in the minds of our own people an appreciation of the unlimited opportunities that are here."

The establishment of a Thief River Falls branch by Land O'Lakes did advertise our community favorably. The knowledge that Land O'Lakes was coming here was a factor in the decision of Montgomery Ward to locate their northwestern Minnesota store in this city. Coming shortly after this were Osborne-McMillan with a great terminal elevator and the Bratrud hospital, that subsequently developed into our present very adequate hospital facilities.

Since the low mark in the turbulent 'twenties our city population has doubled. We have had 30 years of progress and there is every indication that the future will bring us continued growth. The area has a good reason for celebrating these thirty years of progress.

You'll be glad you bought a Mercury every time . . .

Why pay a medium-range price for a car with a low-price name? For this year, Mercury is in a new lower-price range. You'll be glad you didn't settle for less . . .

. . . every time you look at its Sleek-Line styling.

. . . every time you feel its exclusive Road-Tuned ride.

. . . every time someone sits in the middle.

There's real comfort for 6 people, not just 4. Full head room, hip room, foot room for all.

. . . every time you see other new cars.

You'll discover that Mercury has the freshest styling—no warmed-over '59 design as in many so-called 1960 cars. You'll find that Mercury has the newest features—de luxe interiors on even the lowest-priced model, at no extra cost. And you'll appreciate the extra quality—the kind that cuts repair bills. For Mercury is the best-built car in America today. Don't miss the first showing.

Look out for School Bus, Motorists Told

Over 277,000 Minnesota youngsters ride 3,250 school buses over 260,000 miles daily to and from school each school day.

And state law regarding school buses does not beat around the bush. The law definitely provides for the safety of the youngsters with very little inconvenience to the motorists.

Be School Bus Conscious for children's safety sake, warns Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director, and remember that:

Drivers of vehicles when meeting overtaking a school bus which has stopped to take on or discharge children shall stop that vehicle when the school bus drives signals by extending a stop arm and displaying flashing red lights.

"This means that whenever a school bus is stopped and--displays those signals, drivers coming from either direction must stop and permit the young pedestrians to cross the highway safely," Sieben said. "This does not apply when the highway is divided by a center separation, but drivers must be alert for youngsters around the bus."

In its latest report for a school year (1957-58) the department of education reported there were an even 200 school bus accidents in Minnesota. These resulted in the death of two pupil passengers and one other person. A total of 86 persons were injured in these accidents including 55 pupil passengers and four drivers.

Keyserling, presently a consulting economist and attorney in Washington, D.C., will discuss the relationship and effect of agriculture on the total national economy. He will head a roster of distinguished state and national government officials, agricultural experts, economist and practicing farmers participating in the conferences.

Governor Orville L. Freeman, Congressman Fred Marshall, Lt. Governor Karl Rolvaag, Secretary of State Joseph Donovan, Attorney General Miles Lord, State Commissioner of Agriculture Byron Allen and U. of M. Economics Professor Willard Cochrane will take part, Hemenway said.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Grand Forks VA office.

Q—The television station in my town, in cooperation with our local college, is televising a college course for which credit will be given by the college. I am eligible for War Orphans schooling. Could I take this televised course under the War Orphans Education program?

A—No. The law does not authorize War Orphans trainees to take courses given over radio or television.

Q—I have a 10 per cent service-connected disability for which I receive compensation from VA. I have recently married. Can I get extra compensation now that I am married, since my wife is a dependent?

A—No. The law does not authorize payments for dependents of veterans whose service-connected disabilities are found to be less than 50 per cent in degree.

Q—I will be going back to school this fall, under the GI Bill. I want to change my course. Would I be eligible for VA vocational counseling to help me choose a new course better suited to my aptitudes. I have never changed courses.

A—Yes. In filling out your application for a change of course, indicate that you want vocational counseling VA will schedule an appointment for you.

Q—I am considering buying my GI insurance premiums once a year in advance. What if my death were to occur shortly after making my yearly advance payment? Would the money not used for premiums go to my beneficiaries?

A—Yes. VA would refund to your beneficiaries any money not applied to premium payments actually due.

State Government Survey to Be Made

Twelve-man Task Forces Will Study Operations

Fifty-one task forces will be organized this week to take another look at the operations of state government in Minnesota, Arthur Naftalin, project director and state commissioner of administration, said the task forces will include four legislators, four public members and four administrative personnel.

This will be "Phase Three" of the self-survey, Naftalin said. In the first phase, 33 "operational" task forces studied administrative operations of particular agencies.

In the second phase, general administrative problems of concern to all agencies were analyzed by 10 "functional" task forces.

Phase Three is to provide an updating of information previously gathered and an evaluation of progress made since the project was launched in 1953.

HERE'S WHAT MAKES the CORVAIR REVOLUTIONARY

Short and sweet! Engine's in the rear—where it belongs in a compact car. With more weight on rear wheels, you get extra road-gripping traction for cornering and driving on ice, mud or snow. Also, by avoiding nose-heaviness of front-engine compact cars, Corvair handles easier, brakes better, rides smoother. Styling of both 4-door models is clean and uncluttered . . . as fresh and functional as modern architecture.
AIR COOLED — You never have to fuss with antifreeze. Turbo-Air 6 warms up quicker, with less wear on parts. Airplane-type heater* goes to work almost instantly. *Optional at extra cost.
Revolutionary Rear Engine — works small miracles with mileage. It's the world's first production 6 with the ultra-smooth power of horizontally opposed pistons.
Unipack Power Team — Engine, transmission and drive gears are neatly wrapped in one lightweight package. Takes less space, leaves you more.
UNISTRUT BODY BY FISHER — Body and frame are combined into a single rigidly constructed unit that reduces Corvair's weight, enlarges its passenger space.
Practically FLAT FLOOR — Corvair is America's only compact car with a virtually flat floor that gives you full 6-passenger comfort. For extra space, folding rear seat* converts easily to make room for 17.6 cu. ft. of cargo. *Optional at extra cost.
TRUNK'S UP FRONT — Lots of luggage space under the hood, where it's convenient for groceries, packages.
NEARLY 3 FEET SHORTER — Corvair's almost 5 inches lower, 1,300 pounds lighter, too. Its compact size makes it a joy to jockey through traffic, a pleasure to park. No need for power assists.
4-Wheel Independent Suspension — Springs at each wheel cushion bumps independently of each other for a ride that rivals much costlier cars.
. . . and the most practical thing of all is Corvair's LOW PRICE! see it drive it Corvair BY CHEVROLET the happiest driving compact car

AND THE HAPPIEST DRIVING COMPACT CAR you ever drove!

Nine Persons Fined in Municipal Court

Nine persons faced Judge H. O. Chommie in Monday's session of municipal court and were assessed fines on a variety of offenses. Several others forfeited bonds.

In a hearing Oct. 6, Robert C. Nelson, city, was brought in by the highway patrol on charges of driving over the center line. Nelson pleaded guilty and was fined $15 plus $4 costs.

Game Warden Carl Sundstrom brought Harvey Delage, city, into court on charges of transporting a loaded gun in a car. Delage pleaded guilty and was fined $15 plus $4 costs.

The lone sheriff's case was heard Oct. 8. Charles LaCoursiere of Brooks, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving on a citizen's complaint and was fined $15 plus $5.50 costs.

All other cases were brought by city police Monday. Leo Herber, city, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $10, suspended.

Severin N. Nelson, city, was fined $10 after pleading guilty to running a stop sign, while John A. Taylor, city was fined $10 for going through a red traffic signal. The same offense and plea of guilty cost Harold W. Adolphson, city, a $20 fine.

Roy J. Rude, rt. 2, pleaded guilty to driving without a chauffeur's license and was fined $10, while a plea of guilty to driving with a noisy muffler cost Gene D. Hoglo, rt. 1, $10.

Older People Are Advised of Social Security Rights

Men over Age of 65 May Be Throwing Money Away, Says Grand Forks Agent

Are you throwing money away? You may be if you are a 62-year-old woman or a 65-year-old man and have not checked up on your social security rights.

Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks social security office, cited the case of a 69-year-old area man who is in business for himself. This man in recent years has been earning less than $1200 net profit a year; yet he did not apply for social security benefits because he thought he had to retire completely before he could get old-age insurance benefits.

This is a common misconception. The fact is that if you have reached retirement age (65 for men and 62 for women) and earn $1200 or less in a year, you are eligible to receive your social security benefits for all 12 months of the year. If you work in all months and earn between $1200 and $2080 for the year, you may still get payments for one or more months; and no matter how much you earn, you can be paid your benefit checks for any months in which you neither earn wages of more than $100 nor are active in a business of your own.

The important thing to remember is to check with your social security office when you reach retirement age and particularly if your yearly earnings are running $1200 or less. Mr. Kistler invites you to visit the social security office located at Grand Forks. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Sande Showing '60 Studebaker Lark

New Line Is Displayed in Thief River Falls Today

Two new Lark convertibles — plus four new models of four-door station wagons — highlight the 1960 Larks by Studebaker which go on display in dealer showrooms today, Oct. 15. Showing the new Lark in Thief River Falls is the Sande Auto and Implement Co., local Studebaker dealer.

Addition of the convertibles and four-door wagons to Lark offerings rounds out the first complete line of body styles in the convenience-size car field.

In announcing the 1960 Larks, Harold E. Churchill, president of Studebaker-Packard Corporation, said: "Public enthusiasm for the Lark in its first year on the market prompted us to add new models which will give the buying public a choice of body styles in the convenience-size field previously found only in oversized car selections."

The new four-door Lark station wagons will be available in L-head six-cylinder and V-8 engine models in both Regal and Deluxe lines. The Lark convertibles will become part of the Regal lines with either six or V-8 power plants.

Burglars Obtain $1,500 from Liquor Store at Fertile

Also Stole Quantity of Liquor in Addition to Cash in Week-end Entry

The Fertile municipal liquor store was robbed of about $1,500 in cash and an undetermined amount of liquor over the weekend. The burglary was discovered Sunday noon by Elmer Ellegaard who had come to the store to clean it up. Ellegaard notified Einar Rogneback, the store manager.

Inventory was being taken to determine the total loss, and the sheriff's office was investigating the burglary as well as a second break-in at a Fertile implement firm reported by the owner, Jerry Petersen.

Sheriff Carl Knutson said both burglaries were engineered by the same persons.

He said the burglars apparently went first to the implement company, where they pried open a door with a wrecking bar. They took two electric drills, an assortment of drills and a heavy bar which had been used to chop ice.

From there, Knutson said, they went to the liquor store and pried open the rear door, an inside door leading to the basement, and broke open a third door leading to the stockroom.

Returning to the main floor, the burglars rolled a heavy safe from its niche underneath the bar into the ladies' washroom. With the aid of drills and crowbars, the safe was peeled open, and $1,500 in currency was taken.

The burglars also broke into a juke box and took an undetermined amount of change.

NORTHERN WOODWORK

In the last glow of the sunset, this sailboat seems to be alone in the vastness of the sea. And yet it isn't. Were this boat suddenly to get into trouble, helping hands would swiftly come to the rescue.

So it is with life. At times you may feel very much alone—yet in reality you are not. For if you didn't have a single friend in the world, you would have the Church.

The Church welcomes everyone—and that's a pretty big thing when you stop to think about it. It means that always there is a door open to you. You have but to turn the knob.

Chart a new course for yourself. Start going to church. When you do, you'll find that your voyage through life has acquired fresh purpose.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A peek at THE STARS

By LYN CONNELLY

LEST you doubt that teenagers are ruling the music industry, here's a story to paste in your hat: when a Baltimore disk jockey was publicly fired for spinning a record which conflicted with station policy, the station was inundated with calls from the jock's teenage fans . . . Letters and petitions followed, until the station yielded to pressure and rehired the lucky boy . . . The Kingston Trio continues its upward swing toward popularity and, deservedly so . . . With all the kidding about the young music fans' atrocious taste in music, this is one time the kids show they do appreciate quality.

Coughers and throat clearers, long the bane of the concert performer's existence, were recently given a sharp rebuke by George Szell, conductor of the Cleveland Symphony orchestra . . . The conductor stopped a performance by walking off the stage after announcing: "I'll give you five minutes to clear your throats" . . . The reaction of the audience was mixed . . . Wonder how the maestro manages through the hay fever season?

PLATTER CHATTER

WARNER BROS.—March Step in Hi-Fi is this company's wonderful album of martial music to follow up the Sousa in Hi-Fi . . . Henry Mancini again conducts the Warner Bros. band through such familiar marches as "American Patrol," "National Emblem," "Bridge on the River Kwai," "On the Mall," "Billboard March," "Caissons Go Rolling Along," "Marine's Hymn," "Anchors Aweigh," "U.S. Air Force March" and others . . . This should boost enlistments . . . With Maurice Levine conducting and David Terry arranging, the great music of Kurt Weill has been effectively packaged for posterity . . . There is his immortal "September Song" and "Moritat," "My Ship," "Westwind," "Speak Low," "Foolish Heart," "Jenny" and other fine ballads.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Mauritson and Chester Mauritson of Shelly, Minn., were dinner guests at the A. S. Stenberg home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Holm and children spent the past ten days visiting relatives at Indianapolis, Ind., and Detroit, Mich., returning to the city Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Tandvet and family of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gusa, Martha and Billy of Middle River, visited at the Floyd Nelson home Sunday. Later callers were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nelson of Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Lee and Hannah Lee and Hilda Becklund and Dean were luncheon guests at the Oscar Blinsmons on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tilden Haugen of Strandquist were Sunday visitors at the Fred Waterworth home.

Mrs. George Lindbeck entertained a group of youngsters Thursday night honoring Shirley Lindbeck on her birthday. Guests were Arlys Johnson, Donel and Janet Harstad, Scott Maunger, Steve Merell, Nora and Paul Qualey.

Mrs. Hannah Larson spent the weekend visiting his daughter and family, Mrs. Ray Anderson of Strandquist.

Mr and Mrs. Arden Lindeman and children of Radium were Sunday visitors of Mrs. P. Westman and Gladys and supper guests at the George Lindbeck home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lien and Mrs. Ray Saurdiff were Friday overnight visitors at the Fred Peterson home at Argyle.

PROGRESS Unique in church architecture is the contemporary design of the Zion Lutheran church at First st. and Pine, with its great sloping roof and distinctive steeple. Groundbreaking for the structure was in August, 1957, and dedication services were held in May, 1958. Besides the sanctuary, it has a social room with room in the narthex for overflow attendance. The church is constructed of brick. Roman art brick, lightweight concrete block and wood are used in the interior. Pews are made of the main floor are the pastor's office, a church council office for meetings and a spacious study. Rev. Arthur Hanson is the pastor. Rev. Hanson is also serving as pastor of the Mizpah Lutheran church at Goodridge. Services are held at 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. each Sunday.

This is the trim, spirited Studebaker Lark Convertible, a new model for 1960 and the only convertible being offered in the subcompact-size car field. With its powered top and attractively designed interior, it's a luxury car. X-frame, the Lark Convertible is offered with a thrifty six-cylinder engine and a more powerful V-8 engine. Buyers may also have a choice of conventional, overdrive or automatic transmissions.

"I REMEMBER"
BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Gladys E. Bennett, Press Correspondent: The Fourth of July was made to July 5 instead of the 1890. On July 5, children and some adults, for miles around showed up early in the morning. They came in buggies, on foot and in wagons to be in time for the parade.

Mother's duty was to see that the children and ourselves had food and something to work with. The food was put in a large basket and "Horses were kept in a rack in the barn, and when it was time to leave for their race.

On July 5, many of the neighbors would come early with the little wagon the rear of the left, and the horses were hitched to the wagon and the horses roped for the musicians. Benches were made with handy boards or boxes, kegs or wood stumps. A platform was made and the band would play for the dancers and we were the 4th of July.

July 3rd was a real fish-bake. We made cakes, doughnuts, fresh bread, heaps of potato salad and potato salad. The sour bread was made the evening before. The cellar to hold pink lemonade.

Each family brought food. Supper, midnight supper and breakfast were eaten on a plank table in the grove. The table cloths were begun as soon as the dancing stops could be persuaded to begin playing. The floor was then covered with sandy shavings.

Everyone who could would dance and would keep it dancing and most of the break of day. The smell of coffee, bacon and eggs cleared the dance floor and breakfast was served.

THE WORLD OUTDOORS

by Ted Trueblood

A FRIEND who likes to spend as much time as possible shooting golf balls continually asks me if I don't get tired of writing about golf when I play it every day or shooting the breeze after I get back.

It's not easy to give him what he considers a satisfactory answer, but, I always try, I explain, that I'm not a golf writer any more than I am a hunting writer. I write with the catch or the kill as an achievement in itself. Were I to lose, he would spend all his time wondering why I missed that putt or that backswing. It's hard for a golfer to take defeat, whether he's a fisherman, hunter, boxer, or follower of the hounds, in a man who has spent his life in pursuit of the perfect shot, or the perfect cast.

Some are content with a joke, a pun, or the lovely result of work from long hearth smoke; and others find their pleasure in light-pressed treasured; and there are those who are content with what God to dream. But most demand and I, you see, belong to a rare old fraternity. It's hard for me to stick to chores, when there's a golf course in the offing, or a lake.

Unless he is something of a poet, a man can't adequately tell you why he enjoys feeling the swirl of a trout against his line, or the sensation of a fine ball, driven with smooth his house, or the bite of a cold wind-driven sleet against his back . . . for thoughts that are like these stem from a dark mind or the setting sun casts long shadows across the land. It is a quiet whimsy. Unless he has a way with words, a sportsman can't really tell you why he enjoys the world outdoors. But, you see, I am a golf writer. I can't write clearly, nor shall I, when I'm red or sun, he feels peace and contentment, with himself and with the world about him.

Let's take a few examples. The well-known youngster started to make independent decisions. Those decisions or choices are important for his present activity and for his future. He is learning to make the "best" of his behavior. At the same time, if we look closely, we see that his decisions are based on ideas and experiences which he has had previously. Although his ideas, techniques and ideas are limited, the adolescent will make mistakes rather "poor" (from the adult point of view) decisions over the a while. Looking at his behavior from still another point of view we see shadows of things to come. Making decisions as a teen-ager is valuable background for making decisions as adults.

Numedal . . .

Pay Tribute to Firm for Growth Since Start Here in 1929

More than 400 persons attended with the lady-of-the-month theme of the Thief River Falls Northwest Business Women's club staged a banquet in the Armory in Thief River Falls Thursday evening, Oct. 15, to celebrate the 30th anniversary of a business which originated here, in the elderly years ago in 1929.

Special recognition was given to Land O'Lakes officials including M. A. Mauritsen, president; T. K. Sundheim, treasurer; John Brown, public relations director; Bridg Dahl, manager, Grain division; Lawrence Lee, manager, Feed division; Ralph Hanson, manager, district 17; Stuart McLeod, manager at the Thief River Falls branch, and B. O. Norby, one of the original employees of the firm who was with the business at the start of the egg and poultry plant here.

W. E. Dahlquist, toastmaster of the banquet, introduced Judge Fred C. A. Lundgren, principal speaker, who reviewed the early history of the business. Judge Lundgren was at the time the Land O'Lakes plant was established.

The objective of the Thirty Thousand Farmers committee in its bring up incidents of the past was stated by Judge Lundgren as "to keep the ideals of the founding fathers of the cooperative alive in the minds of the present generation." He detailed that "in 1929, we were in the midst of a depression, and anyone ever will you that the Land O'Lakes was established in the midst of a depression. There were in 1929 when the grain market was at its lowest, and dairy products were changed from a grain economy to a livestock economy." He said, "What a wonderful thing it was for the tremendous individual creamery industry that the Land O'Lakes was established. It was established collectively," the speaker remarked, "and the service of organizations that brought Land O'Lakes into being and helped make it what it is today." He cited the Land O'Lakes creamery, the Land O'Lakes Feed Mill, the Land O'Lakes Seed Division, with the firm by progress in schools, streets, sewers, water and power.

R. O. Norby expressed his appreciation on the businessmen of the city for the help they gave in the early days of the plant and told of experiences during that time in 1929, according to the history of operations.

Stuart McLeod lauded Norby for his service and said, "We don't always have a full measure of appreciation for the things we do," McLeod added, "I feel that the success of this banquet typifies why Land O'Lakes has succeed. It's the people behind it and the people who work for it that have confidence you placed in us."

E. A. Haugland, division superintendent of the Soo Line railroad, presented a gift to Mrs. Norby. Mrs. Norby is the wife of Ralph Norby, Augustus invitation was given to the Pennington county Republican convention scheduled for the following Tuesday, Oct. 27.

OVER THE BACK FENCE

By STAN PETERSON

Information, Please

There are, in our city, several organizations whose raison d'etre is service to the community.

At no other time this year has a better opportunity arisen for at least one of these groups to do Thief River Falls an important service.

An election is coming up in November to select a mayor and the alderman who will guide this city's destiny for the next two years. To date, all that is known by the ordinary man on the street and his wife is that there will be such an election and that certain individuals want the jobs. There are the "haves" and the "have nots" who will probably seek our votes on the basis of personalities rather than what they know, can do and stand for or oppose unless some plan is evolved whereby we can get this information.

One of our "service" organizations could be the means of getting this information for the voting public through a "Town Hall" meeting where candidates could disclose their qualifications and individuals, from the floor, could question them.

The meeting, of course, would have to be planned carefully and a moderator, equipped with a strong backbone, stopwatch and gavel would be a most important part of the program.

Candidates could each be given a definite period of uninterrupted time to make their qualifications known to the voters. Extra time wanted could be granted at the rate of $1 or more a minute with proceeds going to a worthy charity.

Following the "sales pitches" of the office seekers, the meeting could be thrown open to questions from the audience directed to these individuals who feel they are qualified to run the largest business in Thief River Falls—our city government.

There are those who would oppose such a public examination of our city candidates claiming such a town meeting would be unfair to certain individuals. Is it too much for voters to expect to get some definite answers for a change rather than glittering generalities spoken on the street or over a cup of coffee?

Running a city government is a job for individuals with experience in finances, conducting businesses and who want the city to grow and prosper. Above all, it is a job for people of action only after calm deliberation and clear thinking.

A "Town Hall" meeting, conducted on an impartial basis and managed by a moderator with a firm hand would quickly show all of us where the candidates stand and whether they are the caliber of persons we want to govern our city.

28 Congregations of ELC to Conduct Week-long Mission

Plan Preaching-Teaching-Reaching Mission in TRF Circuit October 25-29

Approximately 5,300 Lutheran laymen and their pastors, representing 28 congregations in the Thief River Falls circuit of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, will join forces this month for a week-long Preaching-Teaching-Reaching mission.

To be held October 25-29, the area mission will be one of many conducted this fall by the evangelism department of the Evangelican Lutheran church.

Like all of them, the Thief River Falls circuit mission will have a three-fold emphasis: Preaching services in each local congregation, instruction sessions for lay workers, and the planning of permanent local evangelism programs.

Each congregation has invited for the week a guest missionary-speaker. They will arrive in the area on Saturday to begin their preaching assignments on Sunday morning. Services will be held each evening at 8 p.m. in each congregation.

Even though church membership in the United States is on the increase, there are still approximately 82,000,000 Americans completely outside the church, it was announced.

The Mission, however, is not a "membership campaign", local Lutheran pastors stressed in connection with their own forthcoming program. Its purpose is to "stimulate the Christian faith of our people, and to equip and inspire them to do a better job of evangelism in their everyday lives" and to invite the unchurched to learn of Jesus Christ.

The public is invited to take note of the week, and to attend the nightly services in their local Evangelical Lutheran church.

Roy Barzen Speaks to Crookston Club

Tells Rotarians about Exchange Student Plan

The exchange students program was discussed at the meeting of the Crookston Rotary club Thursday by Roy Barzen of Thief River Falls.

A members of the Thief River Falls club, he said his club has sponsored several students and has found the program most gratifying not only to the students but to all the people of Thief River Falls.

The main purpose of the program is to create better understanding of this country in foreign cities. Barzen said, all the students, no matter what country they come from, have many wrong ideas of the United States gathered from movies and tourists.

He also said, although many of the students come from well to do families, all of them were reluctant to go back home after a year in this country.

He offered to assist the Crookston Rotary club in bringing a student to Crookston.

Colonial Want Ad

Nearly 170 years before the American Revolution, one of the earliest help wanted ads of record appeared calling for the service of brewers in Virginia. It is reported in the Royal Archives in London that two Frenchmen responded and that they "became respected and useful citizens of the Virginia Settlement."

Pocket Money Plus

Additional money in the pockets of Minnesota farmers resulting from the premium price paid for malting barley, for the last full year's crop, totalled more than 6 million dollars! Barley is a major ingredient of beer and helps contribute to Minnesota's farm economy.

Early State Brewers

Early brewers of Minnesota contributed much to the state's economic stability. Many of the firms they founded have grown with Minnesota through an entire century of steady progress. One example of such growth is the Fitger Brewing Company of Duluth. Dating back to 1859, the firm is now the oldest manufacturing business plant in Duluth. Its namesake, August Fitger didn't arrive on the scene until 1881. But under his direction, the firm grew to its present modern size. Typical of the proud heritage of brewing skill, passed from father to son, is John C. Beerhalter, president, son of the late John B. Beerhalter who became Fitger's brewmaster in 1902.

LOL General Manager and Treasurer Sorry to Miss Celebration

Two Land O'Lakes officials who were invited to the Thirty Years of Progress banquet Thursday night were unable to be present, and in the following letters they express their regrets. Frank Stone, manager, had a conflicting engagement. Emil Johnson, treasurer of the company when the Thief River Falls branch plant was built, admits a preference for the home fireside. The letters follow:

October 12, 1959

Progress Committee,
Thief River Falls

Gentlemen:

I certainly wish for Thief River Falls and all the people who have joined in planning the "Thirty Years of Progress" celebration a very enjoyable and profitable time.

The support that Land O'Lakes Creameries has had from Thief River Falls and the community surrounding it has always been most gratifying, and we feel most indebted to the entire community and wish them continuing success in all their efforts.

I am extremely sorry that I cannot be with you on the occasion of your celebration.

Sincerely yours,
L.O'L. Creameries, Inc.
F. D. Stone,
General Manager

Oct. 12, 1959

Progress Committee,
Thief River Falls

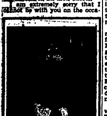
Gentlemen:

I am sorry that I will not be with you this week to help celebrate the "Thirty Years Progress" of your city and its community and Land O'Lakes. As the years roll by I seem to get more hesitant about going far from home and the office.

Invitations extended to me brought recollections of the many pleasant business visits that I had with you and other businessmen, both merchants and farmers, back in 1928 and 1929 and the years following.

My first visit was in connection with the operations of the Lake Region Poultry and Egg Association and the Thief River Falls Local. Following this were visits in connection with utilization of the old creamery property and then the arrangement for the new building.

I well remember some of the meetings of civic leaders and farmers which I attended when Land O'Lakes expansion program was considered, and when the local organization was formed for the purpose of financing the first Land O'Lakes egg, poultry and feed building at Thief River Falls, for which the association was committed itself under a Lease and Purchase Agreement.

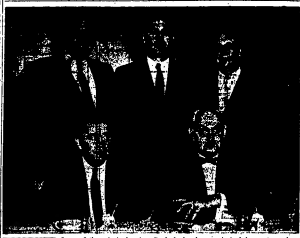


When Land O' Lakes was invited to establish a branch at Thief River Falls I was confident that the operation, if undertaken by Land O' Lakes, would be a success in view of the faith in Land O' Lakes shown by the businessmen of Thief River Falls and the farmers in the area.

The ventures in expansion during the two years were notable ones for Land O'Lakes. While it then had annual business turnover of some 49 million dollars, acquiring its plant at Minneapolis and at Thief River Falls were its first ventures in the ownership of its own plant properties. The fixed properties actually owned by the association at that time consisted of office furniture and fixtures, butter printing equipment, warehouse equipment and a few trucks, all totaling some $140,000 worth.

The business at the time required more than 5 million dollars merely to carry the merchandise inventories in transit and on hand, accounts receivable and operating supplies. All of this when the association's own capital amounted to no more than 600 thousand dollars. The balance of capital requirement was obtained through different forms of borrowings. The cautiousness in which Land O'Lakes handled its affairs has truly been rewarding for it has never been in default in any promise, agreement or obligation.

While Thief River Falls has grown immensely over the past 30 years, Land O' Lakes has also grown to where its annual business now totals some 180 million dollars, where it uses some 49 million dollars to finance its business and its own revolving capital totals some 30 million dollars, all of which belongs to its members and patrons by virtue of their being the owners of the association.



Sincerely yours,
Emil G. Johnson

Over 9,000 acres were represented by the samples submitted.

relations director of Land O'Lakes, expressed his thanks to the community.

"The invitation to come to Thief River Falls was a challenge to Land O'Lakes and I am glad that we were big enough to accept it," T. E. Sundheim, Land O'Lakes treasurer told the audience. He continued by noting the growth both of his company and the city since 1929.

M. A. Mauritsen, Land O'Lakes president, said that he was surprised to see the size of the firm's operation in Thief River Falls. He commented on the friendly relations but continued that the only time a disagreement might arise would be if property was assessed at too high a rate as has been done in some communities.

There are 40 creameries in the area, Mauritsen said, and from the standpoint of overall economy some should be closed. This is not wanted, he said, for taking a creamery out of a town makes a ghost town of it.

"If we ever have another depression like the 30's," he warned, "God help this country for many who lived on farms now live in cities and depend on their paychecks." He continued with the observation that many were able to "keep going" during the depression because they could at least support themselves on farms.

The soil bank program is out of hand, he declared, and it is hurting this district and its creameries. The soil bank plan was never intended to do what is now being done.

The concluding speaker was Lou. Conlon, manager of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee, who said that where this country goes from here depends upon the individual initiative and the cooperation such as shown by Thief River Falls and Land O'Lakes.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

October 19, 1959

Pursuant to a resolution of September 15, 1959, the Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, convened in the Main Auditorium of the City on October 5, 1959, at 8 o'clock P.M. for the purpose of conducting a hearing in the matter of Assessments against benefitted properties by reason of construction of storm sewers in Storm Sewer District No. 3, Project No. 206.33. Aldermen Benson, Lee, Dahlen, Honebrink, Carlson were present. Alderman Rau was absent.

Approximately 15 persons who might be interested therein were in attendance.

The President explained that this meeting would be limited only to discussion of the amounts of assessments against various properties as indicated by the Assessment Roll now on file, due to the fact that there was not full membership of the Council present, and that question in regard thereto should be addressed to the City's Consulting Engineer.

Hjalmer Johnson of 305 Arnold Avenue South was advised of a revised amount of assessment against his property. A representative of Great Northern Railway Company was present and was advised of his company's assessment and advised that he wished to examine the same further with the City's Engineer. Martin Bothum of 941 Arnold Avenue No. insisted that his property receives no benefit from the project, that he does not have water draining into his area, that drainage in his area is to the East to the alley between Knight and Main Avenue and that he would refuse to pay the assessment against his property established at $23.24. Agnes Iverson of 311 Horace Avenue North read an opinion of the Attorney General relative to procedure in this case. Ole Ness of 419 Duluth Avenue North requested information as to the number of yearly installments which would apply to the assessment and period of grace allowed for payment in full to avoid interest charges and the same was explained by the City Attorney. C. E. Mellquist of 811 Duluth Avenue North advised the Council of a faulty drain cover on corner of 9th street and Duluth Avenue which should be repaired.

There being no further questions from the audience, Alderman Honebrink moved that the Hearing be continued further to October 20, 1959, at 8 o'clock P.M. in the Council Chambers. Alderman Dahlen seconded such motion. All members voted in favor thereof and the Hearing was by the President declared so adjourned.

The sale, the first of its kind in the Thief River Falls area, was limited to purebred animals which had a D.H.I.A. record of at least 450 pounds of fat and grade animals with D.H.I.A. records in excess of 400 pounds.

President of the Top of the Nation Dairy association is Maynard Mehrkens; Martin Carrico of Hallock is vice-president and acted as sales manager and auctioneer; and Paul Stejmaschuk is secretary.

Dairy consignors enjoyed a banquet on Wednesday night at the Legion club, at which the speaker, Ramer Leighton, extension dairy specialist, emphasized importance of D.H.I.A. records and their value to dairymen. "D.H.I.A. records make it possible to determine profits returned by dairy cows and to sell and buy with confidence," Leighton stated.

Also speaking at the banquet, sponsored by Consolidated Breeders, were W.E. Dahlquist and Stewart McLeod. Both emphasized the importance of dairying in the area. Dahlquist pointed out that there has never been a crop failure for the dairy farmers in the area. This results in a stable farm and town economy.

McLeod emphasized dairy leadership. "Dairymen constitute the dairy industry," he stated. And as they progress and improve their herds the industry progresses with them.

Maynard Mehrkens, president of the sales group, expressed appreciation to all of the consignors for the excellent quality of cattle consigned to the first Top of the Nation Dairy Sale and to all the buyers who made the sale highly successful. The registered cows had minimum production records of 450 lbs. of fat and grade cows had produced a minimum of 400 lbs. of fat.

Newfolden Whips Greenbush 26 to 0

Nordics Spoil Greenbush Homecoming Wednesday

Coach Jack Junker's Newfolden Nordics spoiled the Homecoming festivities for Greenbush on Wednesday, defeating the Tigers by a 26 to 0 score. The Nordics, with Lowell Halvorson scoring a pair of touchdowns and Dale Elseth and Darrell Bakke contributing a touchdown apiece, tallied two touchdowns in the first period and added two more TD's in the fourth period.

On Friday, October 23, with the kickoff slated for 1:30 p.m., Lake Bronson will meet the Nordics on the Newfolden field. Lake Bronson currently shares second place in the Northern Lights east half conference standings, having a three wins and one loss record, while Newfolden has a three wins and a two losses record.

Fumbles proved disastrous for the Greenbush cause in their tilt with Newfolden on Wednesday, for the Tigers committed six fumbles and the Nordics, playing alert football, recovered five of the bobbles. A pair of first period fumbles gave the Nordics their scoring opportunities, and Dale Elseth, on a 12-yard run, scored the first touchdown, and Darrell Bake, on a 2-yard plunge, added the second touchdown.

After a scoreless second and third period, featured by the defensive play of the two teams, the Nordics tallied two touchdowns in the fourth period. A Greenbush fumble gave Newfolden possession on their own 31-yard line and, after Dave Haug had picked up several yards on a try at center, Lowell Halvorson broke through right tackle and raced forty-five yards for a touchdown. Moments later, Halvorson intercepted a Greenbush aerial on the Tigers' 30-yard line and raced away for the final touchdown of the game.

Moorhead Spuds Take Prowler Eleven 25-7

Except for an explosive burst midway through the second period, when left halfback Gary Klungness turned right end and sprinted seventy-one yards for a touchdown, and added the conversion point on a plunge over left guard, giving the Prowlers a short-lived 7 to 6 lead, coach Jim Gotta's Moorhead Spuds controlled the destiny of the football game played on the MSC field in Moorhead on Friday night, winning by a 25 to 7 score.

The Prowlers will meet the Bemidji Lumberjacks in a Northwest conference game here on Friday night, with the kickoff slated for 8:00 P.M.

In Friday night's tilt at Moorhead, the Spuds, with an aggressive line charge that held the Prowlers to five first downs; and with an attack that was sparked by the off-tackle slants and end sweeps of left halfback Wayne Knauf that accounted for twenty-six first downs, held a 6 to 0 lead at the end of the first period, a 13 to 7 margin at the intermission, and the added touchdowns in the third and fourth periods for a 25 to 7 win.

Knauf scored the game's first touchdown when, after taking a lateral from quarterback John Carlander, he skirted right end for thirty-four yards to cross the west goal. John Stever's drop-kick attempt for the extra point was wide.

Opening the second period, Moorhead, on four first downs, moved to the Prowlers' 25-yard line, but the drive was halted when Larry Haugen intercepterd a Carlander pass n the 23-yard line and returned the ball to the Prowlers' 30-yard line. Klungness on a try at right end lost a yard, but on the next play, at right end, the stocky Prowler halfback broke loose for a seventy-one yard touchdown gallop. Klungness, on a handoff from Steve Embury, slammed over left guard for the extra point, and the Prowlers held a 7 to 6 lead.

But not for long. The Spuds, with Knauf and Dick Sapa carrying the ball, and a Carlander to Knauf pass completion for sixteen yards, picked up four first downs to move from the Moorhead 40-yard line to the Prowlers' 9-yard line. Sapa lost a yard at left tackle; a Prowler offside moved the ball to the five-yard line, from where Knauf sliced through right tackle for a touchdown. Knauf's plunge thru right tackle added the point, giving Moorhead a 13 to 7 lead.

Moorhead held a marked advantage in the second half, controlling the ball on offense, and on the few occasions the Prowlers had possession being able to halt the Prowler attack. Except for a pair of runs by Steve Embury, one a 27-yard gainer and another for six yards, and a pass completion, Embury to Klungness for nineteen yards, the Prowlers were inconsistent on offense.

The Spuds, on a three-yard run by Knauf, scored a touchdown in the third period, and in the opening minutes of the fourth period, a one-yard plunge by Sapa boosted the score to 25 to 7.

The Prowler defense did exhibit sturdiness when a pair of Prowler fumbles gave the Spuds the ball deep in Prowler territory, once on the 19-yard line and again on the 13-yard line: In both instances the Prowlers held off the Moorhead scoring thrusts.

Knox vs. Washington.

Coach Phil Beadle's Northrop Indians marked up their third successive win in grade school football league competition when they defeated coach George Schlieff's Washington Wildcats on the Lincoln field Wednesday afternoon, winning by a 25 to 0 score. The Indians have not been scored upon in the three games that they have played.

On Wednesday afternoon, with the kickoff at 4:30 P.M., the Knox Tigers, coached by Roger Dorn, will play the Washington Wildcats on the Lincoln field. In a previous engagement between the two clubs, the game ended in a scoreless tie.

In the Northrop vs. Washington game on Wedensday, the Indians tallied in a touchdown in the first period when quarterback Tom Cummings, on a roll-out, scampered fifteen yards for the six-pointer. John Olson added the point on a plunge.

The most spectacular play of the game occurred in the second period when Northrop halfback Gary Olson, on a double reverse, came out around right end and raced sixty yards to cross the north goal-line for a touchdown. The conversion point failed.

In the closing minutes of the first half alert play by right end Dennis Hanson netted Northrop a touchdown. Washington's quarterback, Wayne Smith, was back on the Wildcats' 20-yard line in kick formation, but a bad pass from center gave Hanson the opportunity to grab the ball and scamper for a touchdown, giving Northrop a 19 to 0 lead at the intermission.

Sturdy defensive play by Washington held Northrop to but one touchdown in the second half, that being a twenty-five yard run by fullback John Olson, who swept out around left end and sprinted past and thru the Wildcat defenders to cross the south goal-line. The extra point try failed, and the game-ending score was Northrop, 25; Washington, 0.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Early-Season Feature

One of the highlights of the just-opened bowling season was the three-game sweep that Glenn Anderson's Schenley's team scored over the league-leading Hartz wholesale team in a Commercial league match on Thursday night at the Family Bowl lanes.

The Schenley's (or as Nicky Carlson calls the squad, the Chinese bandits — Shen Lee's) is made up of the following bowlers: Glenn Anderson, manager and coach and pilot, Bob, Myrle, and Claire Lincoln Carlson, and Harold Adolphson. That's a bowling team if we ever heard one!

Keeping score for the boys on Thursday night, and giving legal advice on the various problems that arose, was Glenn's younger brother, Thornton, of Minneapolis.

And speaking of Thornton, who is practising law in Minneapolis, calls to mind the football season of 1945 when the Prowlers, coached by Glenn Hanna, compiled a record of five wins, no losses, and one tie.

That was the squad — Wes Hovie, Ninsk Carlson, Les Vigness, Phil Beadle, Don Brossoit, Alan Thompson, Bob Melby, Ralph Foster, Roger Tunberg, Cliff Aase, Glen Berg, Swede Lund, Bob Larson, Jim Kiland, Dick O'Hara, Don Engelstad, and Dick and Marlo Davidson — that had eleven quarterbacks. There were occasions when the Prowlers' offensive huddle sounded like a United Nations debate. We perhaps mentioned this before, but do you know how coach Hanna solved the problem?

He had Ninsk Carlson, the quarterback, play a lonesome position, that is, Carlson would remove himself from the huddle as the Prowlers prepared to run the ball. Thornton Anderson, who centered that season, would trot out of the huddle and get the play and the signal from Carlson. The Prowlers would assume their positions on offense, and then Ninsk would rejoin the lineup! Those were the days!

The Luckless Gophers

It's not too far-fetched to state that, with a favorable bounce or two of the football, the Minnesota Gophers would be leading the Big Ten football race with a three wins and no losses mark instead of their one win and two losses that the record book reveals.

On their play in their two losing games the Gophers could easily have reversed the decision. The Northwestern Wildcats, a week ago, were very happy to trot off the field with a one-touchdown win; and on Saturday, the score was 14 to 6 for Illinois, the game was a toss-up.

If the Gophers do not become discouraged by these two losses, the boys can turn in an upset or two before the 1959 campaign has been concluded. An the upset could be at the expense of Iowa, or Purdue, or Wisconsin.

May They Have a Fine Winter

The sharptailed grouse hunting season for 1959 came to a close at sundown on Sunday, and we wish the birds that eluded the hunters (and we know of one bird in particular) a most happy and prosperous New Year. They'll need it if we are to have an open season next year, or the year after that.

The ruffed grouse season will continue through November 15, but the hunting will be hazardous from November 7th on to the closing date, for that's the period when the deer hunters will be taking to the woods in quest of venison. We thought that the legislature gave the commissioner the authority to set the deer hunting dates at a later date, such as Nov. 15 to Nov. 26?

While the ruffed grouse hunting hasn't been too exciting in this area, and being very slow along the ridges west of town, there have been reports of success at bagging partridge in the Beltrami Island and Red Lake refuge areas.

The hunters who haven't much enthusiasm for looking at the foliage and thorn-apples and enjoying nature (the three-dollar license fee gives you this privilege, you know) have been active in the bog and the marsh and the slough. Duck and goose hunting is holding up remarkably well, and while there have been "burned out" areas the duck and geese are continuing their concentration here. The past couple of days has witnessed an influx of bluebills into Thief lake, and vast number of snow geese into Mud Lake.

Dr. Jim Disse had himself a limit shoot on geese the other day, making a fine stalk to get within shooting range. Gary Hanson, left tackle on the Prowler football team, bagged a Canada goose the other morning. Incidentally, there are quite a number of enthusiastic hunters on the Prowler football squad.

Tony Dorn, who with Cy Schantzen and Stan and Sandy Wilson, has a fine setup on Thief lake, reports fine hunting at the lake. And he added a goose to his duck bag the other morning.

Juel (J. K.) Stadum, too, bagged a goose this past week, and that feat makes J. K. the number one sportsman of the Unemployment Bureau group. He's already the best fisherman.

A Fine Performance

That was a stellar golf performance that Rollin (Ron) Solheim turned in during the state high school golf tournament played over the University course in Minneapolis last week.

Ronnie, the number one player on coach Jack Boyer's Prowler golf squad, turned in scores of 42 37 39 39, for an aggregate of 147. And this 147 stroke total earned Ron a second place tie in the individual competition. Breckenridge's Jim McElhoney had the low medal score.

Burt Dyrdal Reports on Summer Trip to Norway

The following account of a summer visit to Norway by Burt Dyrdal of this community was given to his daughter, Mrs. Daryl Lewis, Times Norden correspondent. He says:

"The trip over was uneventful, except for the excitement of meeting a lot of new people. I was quite impressed by the fine service offered on the boat, the "Bergensfjord," and the great variety of entertainment possible. It was similar to being in a small town where swimming, library, church and movie facilities were available. Games and dances were also presented regularly. The dining room featured a huge smorgasbord table from which you could choose almost every type of food, or you could sit at a smaller table and give your order to a waiter.

"The fact that I gained some weight on my trip attests to the fact that the food was excellent both on the ship and in Norway. The diet of the Norwegian people consists largely of potatoes, fish, cured ham and dried mutton; also a lot of fruit and berries, which are grown in abundance there. Popcorn, which I brought along from home, proved to be quite a novelty. Chocolate, in any form, is a treat, as it is very expensive to buy.

"We were still on the ocean the 17th of May (Norway's 4th of July), so I didn't get in on any of the celebrating in my homeland, but I did have the privilege of seeing and hearing Marion Anderson, who sang for us that day aboard the boat.

"Most of the farms there are quite small, usually a couple of cows and a few goats made up the livestock. The southern and middle parts of the country were as dry as could be, but the northern part, where there had been heavy snowstorms late this summer up in the mountains, had excellent grain and hay crops. The people seemed to live happily, none of the worry, hustle or bustle so common over here, yet they appeared to be quite prosperous. There wasn't any unemployment as I could see, and the wages compare to a little more than a dollar an hour, the rate of exchange being 7.15 kroner to our dollar.

"I went along when they took the goats up in the mountains and spent a couple days in a cabin. There I saw how the goat cheese was made, then transported down the mountain fastened to a couple of big logs, which in turn were fastened to big cables. This was the way they got the cheese and timber out of the mountains at the same time.

"I did a lot of fishing for trout and cod, including net fishing for salmon. Although I didn't attend the Rassmussen-Rockefeller wedding, I did see Anne Marie's home, and also the house Rockefeller had built. I did attend the wedding of a distant relative, but found they don't dress in native costume or celebrate as they used to.

"I had planned to stay Stalheim, but a friend at nearby Dyrdal asked me to stay with him overnight. That evening our whole valley was filled with smoke, and then we heard that the Stalheim Hotel had burned. I did go there the next day and took a picture of the ruins.

"One thing that took my notice was that there didn't seem to be as many breeds of dogs. They all seemed to be of a wolf color, similar in size to the Husky, and with heads of the German Shepherd or police dog.

"We ran into heavy seas on the trip home, and once thought I was going to be washed overboard. They did hold a drill, which would be the same as a fire drill in a large building.

"It was a wonderful trip that I shall always remember, but it was nice to get home again, too, and my only regret is that I wasn't able to reach all the addresses given me."

Trailer Company Set to Open RLF Factory Shortly

Alma Trailer company of Alma, Mich., will start moving production machinery and other equipment and raw materials into its Red Lake Falls plant within the next several weeks, officials of the Red Lake Falls Development corporation stated last week.

Most of the major work on the plant buildings has been completed but the roof covering, pouring of cement flooring, wiring and plumbing remain and will probably be completed within the month.

A total of about $35,000 has been raised from persons in this city and surrounding area for the project and another $10,000 will be needed to complete the necessary improvements. To date, about 90 persons have invested in the project.

Wet Weather Halts Area Beet Harvest

Harvest 50 Pct. Finished, Says District Manager

Area sugar beet growers need sunshine in order to complete their harvest, which is about 50 per cent along, according to O. A. Holkesvig, district manager of the American Crystal Sugar Co.

Beet harvesting operations in the Crookston area have been at a virtual standstill for the past week or more because of wet and slippery conditions in the fields.

But beet plants at Crookston and East Grand Forks "will keep going as long as the growers can harvest, and when they can harvest," Holkesvik said.

Three or four hours of sunshine will make resumption of beet harvesting possible, he added. At the present time, the Crookston plant has enough beets on hand for about 20 days of sugar processing.

Holkesvig said that snow is standing in the beet rows in fields in the Neche and Cavalier, N. D., area. Conditions at Moorhead are somewhat better than in the Crookston-East Grand Forks region.

As long as growers are able to bring their beets, the plants will be prepared to process them, Holkesvig said.

Better Be Ready for Those Goblins

It's that season of the year when the homemaker has to be ready for an influx of Trick-or-Treaters like the four pictured above making a frontal attack. Wise housewife that she is, this one has provided herself with a variety of the individually wrapped caramels and fudge candies especially designed for the occasion, making it a pleasure to "do business" with hungry spooks, gremlins, and goblins.

Editorials...

"Without the knowledge of what is done by their representatives, in the use of powers entrusted to them, the people cannot profit by the power of choosing them, and the advantages of good government are unattainable. It will not surely cost many words to satisfy all classes of readers that, without the free and unrestrained use of the press, the requisite knowledge cannot be obtained."
—James Mill

A Good Foundation

Good cows brought good prices at the "Top of the Nation" sale held here Thursday, but good dairy men tell us the animals sold were good buys at the prices paid for them. All of the animals offered had production records of not less than 400 pounds of fat a year. An average cow produces about 235 pounds, which means that half of our cows produce less than 235 pounds of fat.

There seems to be no rule-of-thumb scale as to how much more a 400 pound producer is worth than a cow that produces only 200 pounds. Several dairymen to whom we put the question agree that a 200 pound producer is worth only what she would bring for butchering. As a producer of butterfat she would not pay her own keep. The 400 pound producer will show a profit.

The production standard that was used at the "Top of the Nation" sale brought many favorable comments. A good grade cow might be worth more than some of her purebred cousins, and the fact that only cows with a proven production record behind them had been consigned was an important factor in establishing buyer confidence.

This area has made good progress in herd testing but we still have far to go in this field. There are several counties in southern Minnesota where 20 per cent of the total cow population is on D.H.I.A. test. In this area the total is not more than 3.5 per cent. But the dairy industry hereabouts, is making progress at both the producing and marketing levels. We have a good foundation to build on and from now on the progress should be more rapid.

Extravagance, Yes

Congressional leaders are planning two large scale investigations of the Federal highway program and we agree that this is one costly government activity that should have a thorough examination. The General Accounting Office charges that both the states and the Federal agencies have mismanaged the program. Some congressmen think they will find "waste, graft, extravagance and politics all mixed in the concrete."

They can come to Minnesota and neighboring states for evidence of extravagance, and what is true for this part of the country probably is true generally. There can be no justification for the extensive clover-leafs and elaborate overpasses and underpasses for new highways through sparsely settled areas that would be better served by improvements to some of the existing trunk routes.

There no doubt is need for modern thruways in and about the larger centers of population where motorists are inconvenienced by traffic congestion, but here in Minnesota, and in the Dakotas, out in the wide-open spaces, we will get along nicely with just a few more miles of four-lane trunk roads.

Latin Is Good

In an interview with a group of high school students, reported by This Week magazine, Ernest Hemingway recommended Latin as a good foundation for the study of French, Italian and Spanish. While he stressed its special importance as a background for an understanding of the Romance languages, he probably would agree that Latin is also helpful to students of English.

Two years of Latin could well be put on the must list for high school students who intend to continue their schooling beyond the twelfth grade. And in this rapidly shrinking world of ours every high school student should be exposed to at least one foreign language.

What's It All About?

Today probably will bring the beginning of the end of the steel strike. If the strike is not ended voluntarily by agreement then the government is expected to order the workers back on the job for an 80-day cooling off period.

Dr. George Y. Taylor, chairman of the board appointed by the President to set in motion the Taft-Hartley act, came up with the embarrassing confession last week that "... our mediation efforts are impeded by our difficulty in nailing down what the issues are. I think it very distressing at this stage that we are still having trouble defining issues."

It is strange that after more than 12 weeks of at least part-time negotiating, the issues are not well defined. It is generally understood that the question of a wage increase is a matter of secondary concern and that the failure to agree is due largely to differences over working rules. But little publicity has been given to the working rules that are in question.

In a statement setting forth their position, the steel companies have asked for rules changes that would "... enable management to take reasonable steps to eliminate waste and to improve efficiency," and "to permit flexibility in the scheduling of work to conform reasonably with the requirements of the business."

These are general requests with which it would be difficult for any reasonable person to disagree. No one, surely, would deny to management the right to eliminate waste and improve efficiency, or to schedule work to conform to the requirements of the business. There could be reasonable differences of opinion about specific rules and whether or not they are unduly restrictive, but it should be possible to settle such quesions by negotiation and arbitration without idling the entire industry and threatening the economy of the country.

It is to be hoped that during the cooling-off period there will be a more rational approach to these problems. And it would be interesting to know specifically what rules are involved and why they are considered so important from the viewpoint of both labor and management. The public would be interested in knowing what's it all about.

Two Faces of America

(Milwaukee Journal)

At one and the same time America shows two faces to the world. Our congress now has members of Negro, Hindu, Japanese, Hawaiian, Arab and Chinese extraction. This, we say, is a sign of maturity and a growing realization that race doesn't matter. And it is.

But there is another side to the coin. In Falls Church, Va., a well trained, experienced teacher applied for a job in the public schools. A school board member said that she was "even better qualified" than others who sought a job. But she was rejected on the grounds of race. She is a "sansei" or third generation American of Japanese extraction.

And in Kansas City the secretary general of the Nigerian Civil Service Union went to a cafeteria to eat. He was served but he was advised never to return because of the color of his skin. The day when we can really hold up our heads will be the day when we can honestly say that we have equality not just in some parts of our nation but in all of it.

That Diplomatic Mumble

(Denver Post)

Remember poor Gluck who got into considerable difficulty as a potential ambassador to Ceylon because he couldn't reel off the name of his intended host—Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike?

His plight was recalled the other day when a reporter noted that the next ruler of Nigeria may be one of these three—Obafemi Awolowo, Nnamdi Azikwe, or Albaji Ahmandu, the Sarduna of Sokoto. A story the same day said a man named Yu Tsendenbal, the current Communist khan of Mongolia, sends greetings.

In Afghanistan we cozy up to Ala-Hazrat Al Mutawakil Al-Allah, and in Brazil one Juscelino Kubitschek de Oliveira. In Cuba we have just had Urrutia, and there are Novotny, Siroky, Kekkonen, Karamanlis, Asgeirsson, Sihanouk and Nkrumah to consider.

It is apparent that one of the new tests of any fledgling aspiring to the Foreign Service must be his ability to develop a smooth mumble when, on behalf of us all, he doesn't quite catch the name.

Borrowed Nonsense...

Fletcher Knebel defines a political scientist as "a fellow who knows enough about elections not to bet on them."

She looked at him cooly and replied, "Well, for most of it, I wasn't born."

Lawyer: "You say you want to get a divorce on the grounds that your husband is careless about his appearance?"

Report from the Governor
by Orville L. Freeman

Not long ago two prominent business men from the Scandinavian countries visited me in my office, after having spent a few days in Minnesota. I was especially impressed with one comment they made. 'After having visited Minnesota, we feel that we have really seen and have come to know the United States.'

Both men had previously visited the large cities on the east coast several times, and one had been on the west coast. But until they had come to know our part of the great midwest they did not feel that they really knew America.

I think that we in Minnesota are only beginning to recognize the importance of our part of the country. And this is why I am very happy to cooperate in the observance; in 1960, of what the President of the United States has proclaimed as "Visit the United States of America Year."

Guests during Centennial

Last year an important aspect of our observance of the Minnesota Centennial was the encouragement of official visitors from abroad. Now we are being urged by the United States Department of Commerce to continue and extend this idea by encouraging increased travel to this country by people from foreign countries.

Value of [illegible] Program

It would be difficult to overemphasize the value of such a program. It is one of the most effective ways of making friends and of demonstrating the values of the American way of life. It has important economic aspects as well. We can thus hope to get our share of the rapidly growing world travel market; and it can assist in increasing trade.

This is a kind of program to increase international understanding in which nearly everyone can participate, officially or unofficially. Many thousands of Minnesotans have relatives and friends in foreign countries. They could help in a most direct and effective way by writing personal letter inviting such friends and relatives to visit them, and describing the many attractions that Minnesota has to offer such guests.

The Department of Commerce is urging special and official action to stimulate communities, service clubs and private organizations to make a special effort to promote travel to the United States during 1960. As far as I know this is a new kind of program. Although Minnesota has been ahead of many states in encouraging foreign visitors, many states have yet to exert their first effort along that line.

Minnesota Advantages

There are many reasons why I believe Minnesota will do more than its share in this new program. We have many very active nationality groups — organizations of people whose origins were in one or another European country — that could very effectively direct a part of their programs in 1960 to this effort. Many have pioneered in this kind of exchange without any special stimulus.

And Minnesota is especially favored with many advantages to offer foreign visitors. I think that any Minnesotan who writes to invite friends or relatives to visit can quite honestly suggest the importance of the factor which our Scandinavian guests mentioned to me — that in getting to know Minnesota they will come to really understand our country. Here they can see the great diversity of our land; great mines and forests, some of the world's finest farms, some of the world's greatest industries, great metropolitan areas and modern smaller cities, an ocean port in the middle of a continent, and even some of the best — if not the biggest — fish.

PEEKIN' into the PAST
THE CRADLE

Since the days when Cleopatra lounged in luxury while her people paid the taxes, farmers used grain cradles like the one illustrated above to harvest their grain.

In 1830 our American ancestors were still using the primitive cradle and scythe. The long jump from these tools to the combine was made in a little over a century due to American initiative and the free-enterprise system. This system has provided men (and women) more time to play, with or without playsuits like the young lady above is wearing.

OLD MAID'S CHILD

By Natalie E. Carlson

"SNOOPY old maid!" Janet muttered, over her coffee. "Nothing to do but pry into the neighbors' business."

"Now that will be enough," Mrs. Connor said, briskly. "Celia Wilson isn't snoopy — she likes you. After all, she and I taught school together, and she has taught you. Of course, she's interested in what concerns you."

"Interested!" Janet raised eloquent eyebrows, but she said no more against the retired teacher who lived next door.

But when Mrs. Connor started down the street on her morning errands, she smiled to herself to see her friend busily clipping her hedge along the sidewalk. The two women talked casually, for a few minutes, then the teacher said, "So Janet's home for a little visit?"

"A very little one, if I can manage it," Mrs. Connor said. "I hope I'm not the kind of mother who encourages her daughter to run home crying over every little thing."

"Oh—?" Celia looked concerned, "What happened?"

"Janet hasn't said too much," Mrs. Connor said, "But—money, I suppose, and Janet not being able to buy things, or go out, as much as she used to."

"Well, she is a mite spoiled," but Celia smiled as she spoke, and her friend nodded.

"I can see that, now. But being the first, and so sick that first year—I suppose it was only natural."

"Yes," Celia nodded, then smiled a little, "Try psychology," she suggested.

Mrs. Connor sighed. "That was all very well in a class room, but I have my home and family to care for—and Janet's old enough to use her common sense. I'll give her a couple of days to cool off—then, we'll see."

Celia smiled fondly after her departing friend. Later, when Janet wandered out into the back yard, Celia 'happened' to be hanging out a towel, and called, "Come and join me in my 'coffee break'. I haven't seen you for a long time."

She led the way into the house, and ignoring Janet's startled look around the disorderly kitchen, took a pile of books from a chair and dropped them on the floor.

While the kettle was heating, she rinsed out cups from a pile in the sink, dried them and put them on the table, then cleared another chair of its heap of dresses and slips.

"I suppose Mother told you," Janet said, "about — me!"

"Don't worry," Celia smiled. "Once you're used to it, you'll realize how well off you are. A man around the house," she added, confidentially, "is a nuisance. When you're alone, you can do as you please." As Janet remained wide eyed but silent, she continued, "Of course, I loved my father—but he would never have lived like this . . . ." she indicated the surrounding chaos. "Oh, it may look a little cluttered—but I know where things are, and can reach what I want, with no trouble—and no one to bother me. You'll see," she concluded cheerfully, "how comfortable you'll be."

"Thanks," she spoke rapidly. "But I just remembered—I have to make a phone call—Another time . . . ?"

A few minutes after her hurried departure, Celia answered a tap on her back door, and admitted a plump woman in a house dress, who beamed at the untidy kitchen.

"This is wonderful," she said, "The minister is comin', himself, with a station wagon. But you're sure you want to give all this to the rummage sale?"

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Mrs. Davis Ignores the "ADvice"

Last week, the Clarion advertised a homemaking course given by the Woman's Club.

"Seemed a fine idea to me," Red Davis told me later, "so I showed the ad to my wife. Told her she'd learn how to do new things—more efficiently, too."

"But all she did was look at me and smile," Red continued. "'You men,' she said, 'always thinking of more work for women. Learn new things? Why, I haven't even got the time to do all the old ones!'"

From where I sit, a lot of us do leap into the new at the expense of the old. Take the idea of tolerance, for instance. It's been around for centuries . . . but it's something we can never bypass. Tolerance demands daily respect for the other fellow's preference—and that includes beverages. Tolerance doesn't mean that you have to like a glass of beer for Saturday night supper—just as I don't have to choose buttermilk. Just respect the next man's choice.

PRINCESS KAY of the Milky Way reads up on the rules and absorbs a bit of "atmosphere" before leaving Minnesota to participate in the fifth annual American Dairy Princess contest. This year's competition will be held Oct. 27-31 in Scottsdale, Arizona. Pretty Betty Jax, Adams, Minn., will compete with girls from 40 other states for the national title. Rules are similar to those under which Betty won the honor of representing Minnesota's 96,000 dairy farmers as Princess Kay. Besides her personal looks and charm, Betty has tradition working for her. Another Mower County farm girl—Ruth Marie Peterson of Lansing—won the first American Dairy Princess contest ever held. Betty, who never had traveled farther from her farm home than the 120 miles to the Twin Cities before becoming Princess Kay, said she was thrilled at the prospect of the long journey. She was to leave the Twin Cities by plane. The covered wagon shown here was just "to get in the Western mood," according to Betty.

Producing AND Providing

JUST 3 WORDS SPELL OUT THE MAJOR ROLES PLAYED BY MINNESOTA'S IRON MINING INDUSTRY!

The iron mining industry of Minnesota is producing and providing—producing iron ore and providing jobs and markets for the people of the State.

Iron mining provides thousands of jobs in Minnesota—jobs for typists and truck drivers, for shovel operators and surveyors. Mining also provides jobs for railroad men and retailers, for farmers and factory workers—all of the people who work at supplying and servicing the mining industry and its families.

How much it produces—how many jobs it provides—depends on many factors; among them the attitude of all the people of the State—the business climate.

Farm Research to Be Conducted at Morris

Research that can save more than $80 million per year in production costs for farmers in a 38-million acre area is already underway at the new U. S. Department of Agriculture's North Central Conservation field station at Morris, Minn.

Scope of this research was outlined today by Byron T. Shaw, administrator of the USDA Agricultural Research Service, Washington, D.C., during dedication services for the new $4,000,000 soil and water laboratory building at the station site.

"The $80 million figure which Shaw mentioned applies solely to savings farmers can have by eliminating tillage operations on row and grain crops which research will show unnecessary. Even greater benefits would result," he added, "if we could learn how to save just a fourth of the rainfall now lost through runoff and evaporation."

Shaw referred to the station as the kind of cooperative effort—by private citizens, state experiment stations, USDA and members of Congress—that is responsible for the great success of agricultural research in the U.S.

"The station's research will benefit agriculture on about 38 million acres in Minnesota, the eastern Dakotas and northwestern Iowa," he stated.

"We need more information on the water intake rates and water storage capacities of the area's soils, and on the effectiveness of moisture-conserving practices such as mulch tillage," according to Shaw. "We need to study water requirements of different crops at different seasons. We need to hear more about how to build and use grassed waterways and other erosion-control devices and how to predict the frequency and severity of drouth."

Along with money, it pays to save yourself for old age.—Herbert V. Prochnow in Successful Farming magazine.

Local Woman Is Soloist with ND 'U' Choral Union

The University Choral Union at North Dakota 'U' has reorganized and has begun practice to present the dramatic oratorio "Judas Maccabeus" by G. F. Handel early in December, according to Professor Hywel C. Rowland, head of the music department.

The Choral Union has sung a number of dramatic oratories and other classical works in past years, Rowland said. Membership is open to all people. University students and people from downtown.

Barley Smut Causes Heavy Loss in Valley

An epidemic of loose smut disease cost Minnesota farmers more than $1.5 million in losses this year.

The damage was concentrated in the Red River Valley, where most of the state's barley is grown, according to plant pathologist Karl D. Fezer at the University of Minnesota.

A survey shows than an average of 6.4 per cent of all barley heads were infected, and it went as high as 30 per cent in some fields. In most cases, an infected seed produces no seed.

The disease is seed-borne, and a farmer's best choice for avoiding it in 1960 is to get disease-free seed. Treatment to kill the smut in the seeds is possible, but not practical.

Plant pathologists are now checking about 150 seed samples from around northwest Minnesota. If infection is shown by this survey to be widespread, all barley growers will be urged to send in samples of their seed for checking. Results of the survey will be announced as soon as it is completed.

There are three kinds of smut that affect Minnesota barley — loose, semi-loose and covered smut. With the first two types, smut galls rupture soon after the heads emerge, and the spores blow away. In covered smut, the gall covers remain until the crop is harvested.

Loose smut, however, caused more than 95 per cent of the smut trouble this summer, and is the only type that can't be controlled by chemical seed treatment. It is possible to kill loose smut in seeds with a special hot water treatment, but the process is difficult, expensive and may reduce germination. Therefore, Fezer says it's more practical to avoid loose-smut-infected seed entirely, and use hot water treatment only as a last resort.

The disease does not vary much among varieties. Traill barley had a little more smut this year than Kindred and Forrest, although all three—the recommended ones for Minnesota — were seriously hit by the disease.

PENNIES FROM HEAVEN, DOLLARS FROM FURROWS

Two bicycles were given to two youngsters at the Kandiyohi county fair; although now living in different towns, the lucky boy and girl were born the same day in the same hospital, where their mothers shared the same room, and they are now in the same grade in the same school. . . . Pennies showered from heaven on the Melrose Beacon when each of six subscribers within a week doled out coppers to pay for new and renewal subscriptions — a total of 2,400 coins. . . . Nels Hallstrom, near Mora, enjoyed apple blossoms in October . . . Tunis Stob, Milaca, found in a furrow of his fall plowing a billfold lost four years ago with about $60 in it; government identified and reimbursed him for $56 worth of the deteriorated currency . . . 3 days after she was married in Chicago 22 years ago Mrs. Raymond Sandin lost her wedding ring; nine years ago they move to Virginia; this fall they had a davenport overhauled, and now Mrs. Sandin is again wearing a practically brand new wedding ring.

Council to Submit Bond Issue of $225,000 for Water Tanks to Voters

Voters at the Nov. 3 city election will decide whether the city should issue $225,000 in general obligation bonds to finance the construction of a new east-side water tank, underground storage tank and the necessary piping, it was decided at the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, Oct. 20.

The matter of the waterworks bonds was only one of a number of matters taken up during one of the shortest and quietest council meeting in many months.

Bids will be opened at the November meeting for a new police patrol car and a sander with sealcoat attachment, the council decided. Two sanders from a company whose bids had been accepted conditionally were found to be unacceptable requiring the readvertisement for bids.

No objectors appeared for the continuation of the assessment roll hearing for Storm Sewer District three and the amended roll was adopted. Those affected may pay the assessment within 30 days without interest and others may pay over a 20-ear period with six percent interest being charged each ear. The vote was unanimous with the exception of alderman A. J. Rau who abstained.

The bid of the Oen Fuel Service to supply 400 tons more or less of 1¼ inch stoker coal, at a cost of $20.05 a ton for heating municipal buildings was accepted in preference to three other higher bids. Acceptance was based on the condition that the coal be tagged on delivery.

The possible purchase of a used crawler-type tractor for use by the city street department at the city dump and for other needs was discussed and will be taken up again at the November meeting.

The chance that Thief River Falls will be considered in the proposed extension of natural gas service to western Minnesota is remote, according to a collect call to Robert Wurst, city attorney, received Tuesday afternoon from the office of Sen. Hubert Humphrey. According to the call, the hearings now under way in Washington by the federal power commission are too far advanced for the city to protest its exclusion and it was decided by the council that Wurst should draft a letter to the Midwestern Natural Gas company to see if the city could be included. The action was taken at the suggestion of City Attorney Rober A. Student Nurses on Rotary Program

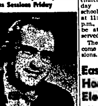
B. O. Norby, Former Club Member, Speaks to Group

Seven students in the rural nursing program together with their director, Mrs. Ted Mills, were guests of the Rotary club at the regular noon meeting Monday, Oct. 19.

Five of the girls from St. Olaf college, training at Fairview hospital in Minneapolis, and two from St. Theresa's college, training at St. Mary's hospital in Rochester, are in Thief River Falls at Northwestern hospital to gain experience in the operation of hospitals in smaller communities.

The students presented several vocal numbers in a sextet and quartet grouping after their introduction by Mrs. Mills.

Following their entertainment, B. O. Norby, a member of the club for 23 years who was in the city to take part in the Thirty Years of Progress celebration, gave an account of his experiences in the south and west.



Norby said that he still works for Land O'Lakes and, for the past seven or eight years, has been selling dried milk powder to cooperatives.

The complaint of western and southern farmers that they get too little for their milk is the same story as here, he said. And, although these farmers get more than Minnesota farmers do, their production costs are higher.

He spoke of the specialization of farming in California and of egg production in the northern part of that state.

Women Are Sought for Welfare Work

Case Workers Needed in Rural Areas of State

A need for more women as candidates for case work positions in the rural counties of the state was announced today by G. Theron Peterson, executive director of the state welfare board.

Marshall Farmers in Conservation Reserve Are Paid

Payments Have Been Made to Participants, Reports Chas. Edward A. Johnson

Payment to farmers who had Conservation Reserve contracts in effect during 1959 are now being made, according to Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

All farms with Conservation Reserve contracts have been checked to determine that the conservation practices have been carried out during the contract year. Farmers signing contracts agreed not to break up a crop or graze livestock on the designated acreage in the reserve. The contracts also require a reduction in the acreage of crops that are planted on the farm.

Johnson also reminded farmers that the requirements of the contracts remain in effect for the duration of the contracts. The end of the growing season does not end the obligations under the contracts, but only one of the regulations under his control.

There are 1,000 contracts in effect during 1959 in Marshall county covering 134,000 acres of cropland. This land is out of production for the 10 year period in an attempt to reduce surpluses.

3 Youths Confess to Shoplifting

Admit Stealing Items over Two-year Period

Three rural juveniles, two from Pennington and one from Red Lake county, confessed Wednesday to thefts of a large number of articles from local stores, after interrogation by law enforcement officials.

The youths, all 15, were apprehended through the alertness of a saleswoman at Gambles, who alerted her store manager and another store's personnel as well.

The manager of Gambles called police to report the youths had acted suspiciously while in his store and due to his employee's close scrutiny of the youths was able to give an accurate description of them, and they were apprehended for questioning by Chief Elton Cumings Wednesday as they left the Coast to Coast store.

The interrogation brought admissions they had lifted merchandise from 11 local stores over a period of at least two years, and amounting to considerable cash value, before being caught.

Cummings said the three will be brought into juvenile court next week to face charges arising out of the thefts.

Crookston 'B's Whip Prowler 'B's 34 to 14

Coach Ron Thompson's Crookston Central 'B' team piled up a 27 to 0 lead in the first half of the football game played on Crookston Highland Park field at Crookston on Tuesday night, and then added a touchdown in the second half while the Prowler 'B' team scored two touchdowns to mark up a 34 to 14 over coach George DeCoursey's locals.

In an earlier game, played on the Lincoln field, the Prowler 'B' scored an 18 to 6 win over the Pirates.

The local 'B' squad will conclude its 1959 schedule on Saturday afternoon when, with the kickoff at 2:00 P.M., they play the Bemidji 'B' team on the Lincoln field.

In Tuesday night's game at Crookston, the Pirates tallied their first touchdown on a fourth-down pass, Barry Hanson to Dave Sorenson, which netted thirty-six yards and six points. Sorenson's plunge for he point gave the Pirates a 7 to 0 lead. A pass interception set up the Pirates' second touchdown, with Hanson plunging two yards for the TD; and a pass to end Janecky added the conversion, giving Crookston a 14 to 0 lead.

Crookston, on touchdowns by Gary Harris, who played a fine game at quarterback for the Pirates, and Janecky, who picked off a pass in the end zone, gave Crookston a 27 to 0 advantage at the intermission.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Bad News

Assistant coach Dick Edlund returned from his scouting trip to Crookston, where he watched he Bemidji Lumberjacks score a 20 to 7 win over Crookston, with the bad news that Bob Glas has returned to the Bemidji lineup.

Glas, an athlete who has the ability to inspire his teammates to game-winning efforts, had been sidelined for more than a month by a hairline fracture in an arm. Glas, a southpaw passer, suffered the injury in an early season game, and during his absence the Lumberjacks of coach Ken Wilson have been taking their lumps, losing more often than they have been winning, a strange state of affairs for a Bemidji team.

Coach Edlund stated that the return of Glas to the Bemidji backfield has served to "jell" the Jacks into a strong club. The Prowlers, with wins over Bemidji in 1956, 1957, and 1958, will be hard-pressed to make their victory streak over the Lumberjacks a four-game skein.

The Prowlers haven't appeared very impressive or inspired during their drills this week. Left halfback Gary Klungness has missed several practice sessions because of a touch of the flu, but the latest report indicates that he will be physically fit for the Bemidji game. Larry Haugen, who has looked very well running the ball, has come up with an ailing leg, and he will be handicapped considerably.

Quarterback Dale Wennberg has finally discarded his crutches, but his high school football playing career has come to end, and now our hope is that his injured right knee will not hinder his hockey playing this season.

First Reports

After an enjoyable, and successful, three-day jaunt into South Dakota for pheasants, Jerry Amundgaard returned to town early Tuesday morning.

Jerry, with his dad Iver of Argyle, his uncle Ben Amundgaard of Warren, and younger brother Roger of Aberdeen, picked up a good bag of pheasants hunting the area south of Aberdeen. Jerry said that the birds were especially wild on the opening day, Saturday, flushing out of gun range. This was due to the strong winds that prevailed that day.

Surprisingly, the pheasant hunting was better on Monday, with the birds being found in greater numbers and bunched into flocks, than on Saturday and Sunday.

The methods of hunting in that area was fantastic, with many of the hunters using "armored cars." One party that Jerry observed had swivel seats installed on the front fenders of their car, and the gunners would man these positions as the driver maneuvered the car through the swales. The summer drouth that the pheasant range had experienced this year had dried out the sloughs and the pot-holes, and it was possible for hunters to cover vast areas by car.

Visitors

Spending a few days in-town on business matters are two of the basketball-playing Mickelson brothers, Grant and Reuben. The two former Prowler football and basketball players will be in attendance at the Bemidji vs. Thief River Falls football game here Fridy night.

We maintain that the five Mickelson brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Mickelson, were just about the best basketball family we have had here, both as to numbers and ability.

The brothers, and the year in which they graduated from Lincoln high, follows: Arnold, 1930; Grant, 1931; Gil, 1936; Clark, 1938; and Rube, 1939.

Grant, who was a fine playmaking guard, attended te North Dakota A. C., and was a member of the team that won a North Central conference basketball title for the Aggies. His coach at the A.C., Craig Ruby, moved to Illinois University during Grant's junior year, and Grant followed the coach to Illinois, earning a varsity letter as a member of the Illini basketball squad. Following his graduation at Illinois, Grant attended Ohio State for further study, and at present he is a research chemist for the Morton Salt company.

Rube, who was a member of coach George Lee's 1933 state champion Prowlers, concluded his high school career in 1939, playing with coach John Lindemeyer's regional champions in the state tourney. Rube played his college basketball at Iowa State. He is now employed by the Eastman Kodak company in Rochester, N. Y.

The five brothers never did get together for a game of basketball, but four of the brothers — Grant, Gil, Clark, and Rube — did engage in scrimmage sessions a couple of times during the 1938-39 season.

Added Attraction

The Bemidji vs. Prowlers football game here Friday night is, by itself, a number-one attraction for the fans. But an added attraction has been arranged, and this treat will find coach Phil Beadle's Northrop Indians meeting coach Roger Dorn's Knox Tigers in an exhibition tilt during the half-time intermission of the varsity game.

Sports fans will have an opportunity to get a look at the nifty uniforms, complete with helmets and all, with which the grade school teams have been outfitted.

Recover Checks Stolen at Fertile

A green canvas money pouch taken in the course of the $1,500 robbery of the Fertile municipal liquor store October 11, was found Sunday near Gary by a youth who was searching for a lost hub cap on a county road.

Larry Krueger, 16, who lives south of Gary, turned in the pouch and the $488 in checks it contained to Norman County Sheriff Herman Lovas at Ada, who notified Sheriff Carl Knutson at Crookston.

Lovas and Knutson searched the area and found another money pouch and one small check. There was no trace of the cash.

Wildlife in Minnesota

by JIM KIMBALL

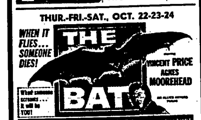
This week we are in the process of hiring four new game wardens to fill vacancies of men who have recently retired. Sportsmen do a great deal of talking about not wanting to meet a game warden, but from where I sit it is most obvious that the majority of Minnesota sportsmen very definitely want a warden right in their back yard looking out for the welfare of our game and fish. No warden station can long be vacant without demands from the sportsmen that a new man be put in the territory — proof enough that the bulk of Minnesota sportsmen want good law enforcement as well as the other services rendered by our game wardens.

To avoid receiving a basketful of letters applying for game warden jobs, I should remind you that few positions are more difficult to attain these days. Out of some 1,100 men taking the last written and oral examinations only 100 passed and, of course only the top few of these are selected from the Civil Service register. Even these tests may be relatively simple compared to the scrutiny the men get in passing interviews by the chief warden, the commissioner, and myself. Even after this some fail to pass the rigorous six months of training and probation. If all these precautions seem excessive, it is only because we do not fully appreciate the qualifications necessary to handle the responsibilities of a good Minnesota game warden.

The role of the game warden is in a period of transition. There was a time when he was the sole field representative of the division of game and fish. Now, as more intensive wildlife management is required to meet the ever-increasing pressure on our wildlife resource, the warden finds himself surrounded by fish managers, game managers, and research biologists. Administrators in some states believe that the warden should now confine his efforts to law enforcement, and be, in fact, a policeman in the woods. In my opinion this is a serious mistake.

The officer must always enforce the game and fish laws, because without such enforcement all management would fail. However, if we are to operate efficiently and democratically this man, whether you call him a warden or a conservation officer, must be the principal contact between administration and the people whom we serve. In addition to being an enforcement specialist he must be a jack-of-all-trades in the conservation field. He must have a working knowledge of all phases of conservation. He is the eyes, ears, and mouth of the department, and he must be as much an educator as he is a public servant.

No state can afford a staff of public relations people adequate to keep abreast of the needs of the people, and, at the same time, carry on the conservation education program. This, I believe, is the logical job for our constantly improving warden service. It is a difficult job requiring the services of men who are not only intelligent but well balanced and well equipped with a fund of conservation knowledge and the understanding of people.



The duties, responsibilities and authority of the Minnesota wardens are increasing each year, and filling the shoes of old-timers with 20 or 30 years of valuable experience can be done only with the most capable young men we can hire.

County Hits 66 Pct. of Its Bond Quota

Savings Bonds Now Earn 3¾ Per Cent Interest

Purchases of the new 3 3/4 per cent Series E and H Savings Bonds in September, 1959, totaled $14,633 in Pennington county, bringing the year to date purchases to $136,749 or 66.3 per cent of the county goal for 1959, J. M. Roche, county chairman, announced today.

"Although September was two-thirds over when President Eisenhower authorized the higher interest return on Savings Bonds," Roche said, "all of the Series E and H Bonds purchased during September will earn at the new rate of 3 3/4 per cent, for this change was made retroactive to June 1, 1959."

Savings Bonds purchases in Minnesota for the first nine months of 1959 totaled $51,887,402 and represent 63.7 per cent of the 1959 quota.

Doctors Shatter Illusions on Food

Say Fish and Celery Are Not Special Brain Foods

White eggs are not more nutritious than brown eggs. It is merely a matter of pigmentation. In spite of this, brown eggs will frequently sell for several cents per dozen less because of the color difference, the Minnesota State Medical association reports.

Likewise, many persons still erroneously believe that fish and celery possess special brain food qualities. The fact is: all foods from the basic seven groups eaten in proper proportions are essential to the sustenance of body and mind. Celery and fish have no priority in this respect.

To feed a cold and starve a fever is another old wives tale which has continued to persist. The fact is that when a person has a fever the natural tendency to desire food is often missing and the person just does not eat. On the other hand, a person may have the congested and stuffed-up feeling that accompanies a cold but still maintain an appetite.

A well balanced daily diet is necessary for persons who are well or not so well. Good nutrition will help to maintain body resistance as well as build up additional resistance against infectious viruses and germs. Persons who have a fever should also drink plenty of liquids in addition to maintaining proper eating habits.

There is little danger that food left in an open metal can will become poisonous when proper refrigeration methods are employed. Metal food containers ordinarily do not cause toxic reactions. It is usually the bacterial action from lack of refrigeration.

These are but a few of the many fallacies about foods which continue to persist because people do not fully understand the facts, advises the Minnesota State Medical Association.

"The only security of all is a free press. The force of public opinion cannot be resisted when permitted freely to be uttered. The agitation it produces must be submitted to. It is necessary to keep the waters pure." —Thomas Jefferson.

Truth Makes Us Free?

The conservative victory in Britain gives encouragement to the hope that the world is moving in the direction of realistic government and a more general recognition of the rules of simple arithmetic.

In Britain, as here and elsewhere, there have been many popular leaders whose popularity has been based on pretty promises that somehow have ignored the laws of the multiplication tables. Life would be more appealing if facts would be a little more [illegible].

We have been taught that the truth will make us free. It does free us from error. But truth, in liberating us from error, places us in bondage to reality, and as our knowledge of truth increases, the greater must be our realization that there are some hard and fast rules that govern our conduct and that we must pay for our folly.

The people of Britain, and the people of other European countries, have been much closer to the brink of economic ruin and political chaos than have we. They traveled quite a distance into the valley of the shadow before they recognized the imminent danger of disaster. In their struggle for recovery they have made many sacrifices, and have accepted government enforced austerity, as essential to survival.

What has happened in Britain had already taken place in Germany and is now being experienced in France. The road to recovery in these war-torn nations has not been and is not now, an easy one.

In each of these countries, and in others that have lived through a similar experience, there have been leaders who advocated an easy way to recovery. Printing press money and increased public spending has been the medicine prescribed most generally by these political quacks.

The conservative victory in Britain is encouraging mainly because it provides added proof that the people of Europe are now guided by common sense and the simple rules of arithmetic in their efforts to restore that which was nearly destroyed.

Eventually the facts of life will be recognized more clearly in our country. Unfortunately the advocates of printing press money, who would spend us into prosperity, still have much too much popular appeal.

Canadian Hogs

Farm leaders are asking our government to be prepared to set up barriers against an expected flood of Canadian pork later in the year. Canada now supports hog prices by buying surplus pork. The inevitable has happened. There has been a big increase in production and with a huge crop coming to market the Canadian government is becoming frantic.

There is talk of a new plan under which the hogs would sell for whatever they would bring, the government reimbursing the farmers with deficiency payments. Under this plan the bottom would fall out of the Canadian market, and unless barriers were set up, the flood of cheap Canadian pork would further depress the already sagging American market.

There is justification for concern about this possibility and our government should be prepared to act. But let's keep in mind that what surplus Canadian hogs could do to us, some of our surplus crops have done to others. There are many advocates of dumping in our country who look upon it as a proper solution for our surplus problems. Dumping is not the answer, and any subsidy plan that encourages production beyond normal market needs is wasteful and unsound.

Some Time, Maybe, But Not Now

Richard L. Strout, writing in the Christian Science Monitor, argues that our country should accept, without question, the authority of the United Nations Court of International Justice at the Hague, in deciding international disputes.

Our country has approved the world court idea with certain reservations. In effect, we retain the right to veto the court's jurisdiction over American cases. This position was established when the "Connally Amendment" was adopted by Congress in 1946.

The question has become an issue at this time because Senator Humphrey has offered a resolution that would repeal the "Connally Amendment."

The world court idea appeals to us, and it is not difficult to understand the position of those who argue that a court cannot function properly so long as a party to an action before the court reserves the right to reject the authority of the tribunal. But let's not be hasty in giving up our rights to make our own decisions in these international matters.

The balance of power in the world is not firmly in the control of nations that recognize our concept of right and wrong. And in the uncertain and highly explosive condition of world affairs at the present time, we would prefer that we retain a veto power in any argument between the "haves" and the "have nots," in which our responsibilities are to be determined.

At some future time, with world conditions more stable than they are now, we might be willing to go along with Senator Humphrey and those who favor an international court that would have final authority to decide our destiny. For the time being, however, we will string along with the reactionaries who think we should proceed cautiously before we give up any more of our independence.

Dairy Surplus Down

Uncle Sam's stock of surplus dairy products has reached the lowest level since 1952, and that is good news for the industry that has experienced a long depression. The depression has not ended but there are indications that supply and demand are nearing each other again, and that is an encouraging development.

On September 30th the government owned only 33.5 million pounds of surplus dairy products, far below the 217.6 million pounds a year earlier. The inventory includes no butter, compared with 52.8 million pounds last year. There were only two million pounds of powdered milk, down from a year earlier total of 151.8 million pounds. Cheese was the only dairy product that reversed the trend with 31.5 million pounds this year, more than twice as much as the 18 million pounds of a year ago.

Milk production nationally is down about one per cent and the population increase accounts for the increased demand. This has resulted in a smaller surplus to be purchased by the government. The figures indicate that there still is overproduction. Since April the government has sold or given away 92.6 million pounds of butter; 21 million pounds of cheese, and 431.5 million pounds of powdered milk.

It's Census Time

(Hoard's Dairyman)

A monumental task is now underway throughout agricultural America. During October and November the 1959 census of agriculture will be taken by 30,000 census takers or "enumerators," as they are called.

This 1959 census is perhaps one of the most important, if not the most important, in history. It is doubtful if any other five-year period since the founding of this country has witnessed more changes in farming than has the period from 1954 through 1959. But only the census can reveal the magnitude of those changes. It is extremely important that specific and accurate information be provided.

The U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, asks that each farmer bring up to date the record of his harvest, the products sold and major farm expenses so that he can easily and accurately fill out his census report in October or November. When these facts and figures concerning each farm in the nation are added together, this new information provides an up-to-date guide for governmental, industrial, educational, commercial, and informational services to farmers. They serve as the basis for farm services and planning for the next five-year period.

Maintaining strict confidence of information set out on the census forms is a tradition of the Census Bureau. Moreover, the act of Congress providing for the farm census prohibits the making available any of the census information on individual farmer or farm to any tax or investigation agency.

This is an eminently worth-while project. The results, when compiled, can mean equipment better adapted to modern-day farming, more meaningful and significant articles in farm magazines, more productive research, and improvement in the farm credit structure.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS from the Desk of SENATOR HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

Special Report on Arms Control

The possibilities of progress toward a disarmament agreement—even with the vital provisions for adequate inspection and control—have increased, I believe, because Chairman Khrushchev has clearly decided to step up the pace of economic and political competition with the United States. And Khrushchev needs a shift of at least part of his war production to civilian production. Furthermore, Khrushchev is convinced that a major disarmament agreement would cause a setback in the American economy. There is mounting evidence that a major policy decision has been made in the Kremlin to the effect that thermonuclear war would be too costly, dangerous and uncertain to be embraced as a policy for Communist advancement. Despite the clear Soviet lead in rocket propulsion (a sever propaganda handicap to us, as well as a military lag) Khrushchev understands that we have the weapons system to utterly lay waste the Soviet Union. And he must understand the world devastation from nuclear fallout which would occur with any major war.

Struggle still on—On the other hand, the struggle between the Soviet Union and the Communist world on the one hand, and the United States and our allies, will be pressed vigorously on the economic and political fronts, the Soviet 7-year plan—which has already made impressive gains over last year's production—is a blueprint for the fiercest kind of economic competition—and for Soviet political gains behind the spearhead of economic penetration. In other words, while the Soviet 7-year plan requires peace and some reduction in arms spending, it is only in order that the long-range struggle with the West can be stepped up.

Why Concede?—There is no reason to concede that a major reduction in arms spending would cause serious unemployment and other economic distress in the United States—if we plan concrete government and private action to forestall it. Certainly a major reduction in defense procurement can have sharp effects on local economies, as we have seen this past year when plans have been cancelled for jet fuel plants and air bases. Without a doubt, truly major reductions in defense spending could have severe effects on our economy—slowing it down at a time when the Soviet economy is spurting ahead—if we are not prepared for it.

Peace mobilization—our Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization plans constantly for mobilizing the nation for hot war. It ought to be planning also to make the necessary economic readjustments in the event that a major arms spending reduction is agreed to. As the chairman of the Federal Reserve board, Wm. McChesney, Jr., testified before me 2½ years ago, "Much as I believe in the market process and the desirability of private enterprise, I think the government would have to assume a role in that sort of a transition, similar to the work that the Defense Mobilization board is presently doing for mobilizing our resources in case of the opposite situation."

Lack of initiative—Since Martin testified, the executive branch has given no indication that they have been conducting any serious studies of this matter. My Disarmament subcommittee, therefore, is undertaking this fall studies of the possible economic dislocation resulting from various arms control agreements. There is no question in my mind that our economy would in the long run benefit enormously by a cutback in arms expenditures—but we must be ready to make the transition if it should come.

Why should hospital care and Blue Cross cost more today?

A Young Minnesota Couple Take Their Questions To A Man Who Knows . . .

Tom and Louise Keane of 4238 Harriet Avenue South, Minneapolis are a typical Twin City couple, they're in their mid-thirties, have five active children, own a postwar home, drive a 1958 model car. And, like other people, they have to be concerned about getting the most for their money—whether it's for hospital care and Blue Cross—or for food and clothing. But, instead of just wondering about hospital costs, they asked Mr. Ray Swanson, administrator of Swedish Hospital in Minneapolis. He gave them some illuminating answers about hospital costs and Blue Cross costs.

Mr. Keane: Mr. Swanson, prices are rising for most things, but it seems like hospital costs are rising even faster.

Mr. Swanson: Yes, it's a fact that it costs us over twice as much to take care of a patient today than it did twelve years ago . . . hospital expenses per patient day have risen more than 200% since 1947-1948.

Mr. Keane: What's the reason?

Mr. Swanson: Well, let's look at the increased costs more closely. Almost 70 cents of every dollar paid out by hospitals goes for wages. Ten years ago, hospitals employed between one and two persons for every bed . . . today, we need more than two hospital employees for each bed to provide the kind of specialized, concentrated care you need . . . and expect. This means a substantial increase in personal care . . . and these experienced, better-educated hospital people get paid a much higher wage today, just as you do. And, today's more effective treatments, new drugs, and surgical procedures are much more expensive, too.

Mr. Keane: But, couldn't you let machines do more of the work, like factories and other businesses do?

Mr. Swanson: The hospital's only product is better health care for you and your family. You receive "personal services" from nurses, laboratory and X-ray technologists, and other personnel who are on hand twenty-four hours a day . . . three hundred and sixty-five days a year. Labor-saving machines can't take over the task of soothing a frightened child or bathing an invalid. The tender, personal care of experienced hospital people is, and will continue to be, the most vital of all our hospital services.

Mr. Keane: I can understand that now . . . but I still can't see why my Blue Cross costs me more today.

Mr. Swanson: Blue Cross was founded on the principle of making available today's modern hospital care to the greatest number of persons at the lowest possible cost. Your Blue Cross contract provides coverage in full for most vital services provided by the hospital, plus room and board allowances. As the costs of these services increased, the value of your Blue Cross contract has increased too.

Mr. Keane: So, if Blue Cross would cut their rates, or if they held the rates at one level when hospital costs were rising . . . I wouldn't be able to get the same amount of coverage!

Mr. Swanson: That's right. Hospitals must keep pace with the progress of medical science. Every technique, new medicine, or advanced method of treatment must be available to every hospital patient . . . on a moment's notice. If Blue Cross rates remained fixed, progress in the field of hospital care would out-race benefits, and you as a Blue Cross member would have to pay more and more of your hospital bill from personal savings.

MR. SWANSON shows the KEANES an emergency room, which like most hospital services, must be staffed 24 hours a day . . . whether it's used or not!

Mr. Keane: Thanks for the information, Mr. Swanson. Now, hospital costs and Blue Cross rates are more understandable. I guess most people don't really appreciate their hospital services or Blue Cross coverage until they need them.

IS BLUE CROSS WORTH THE COST?

When you think of hospital expenses and Blue Cross costs—whether you live in the Twin Cities or anywhere in the state of Minnesota—think of their value in terms of longer, healthier lives. Remember, it takes the cost of only a few days of today's modern hospital care to approximate what you pay for Blue Cross for an entire year.

Always there when you need care

Blue Cross

RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING:

$500,000,000 LOSS

TO THE NATION—INCLUDING YOU—EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads — pay for work not done or not needed — is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman — even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

fresh new beauty
Wide-Track wheels!

A car is a living thing.
And all living things must change.
This is why the creative car builders of Pontiac took the proved principle of Wide-Track Wheel Design and surrounded it with fresh, exhilarating, totally new beauty for 1960.
The prow is styled for excitement.
The perfect profile comes from just-right proportion, unity, rhythm.

With the widest track of any car, Pontiac's width is on the road—where it gives you better stability. Wide Track widens the stance, not the car.

Its effect upon your attitude toward driving and owning cars can be quite radical.
For you cannot possess this automobile and be anything less than lighthearted. You cannot control it and be anything less than sportive about driving.

Legion Honored for Traffic Safety Work

Gov. Freeman announced Monday in St. Paul that the Minnesota department of the American Legion has received one of the nation's highest awards for traffic safety activities.

The National Safety Council awarded the citation, award for 1958 traffic safety activities, to the Legion for its outstanding leadership in traffic safety through operation of the Legionville school patrol training center. The award was made in Chicago.

Legionville is a practice training center established on a 500-acre tract of state-owned land on the shore of North Long Lake, about 21 miles northeast of Brainerd. Constructed at cost of more than $100,000, the center has a network of traffic-control units and is used by about 1,540 boys and girls this past summer.

Legionville was dedicated in 1957 by Gov. Freeman. Training has been given to nearly 3,000 boys and girls since the Legion has made training facilities for more than 20,000 pupils in its three summer sessions.

The center operates with the state Department of Conservation.

No Deer Licenses Sold after Nov. 7

Hunters Advised to Plan Trip Well in Advance

No license to shoot deer will be issued this year after the first day of the regular rifle season which opens Nov. 7, Larry Sowder, Crookston, state game supervisor, Bemidji, stated that the law which formerly provided that licenses could be issued until the third day of the season was amended by the state legislature in its 1959 session.

Sowder said Chief Warden Francis Johnson said, "that deer hunters should plan their trip well in advance as they will be unable to purchase a license, on or after the moment, after the first day of the hunting season."

Sowder said that it is also illegal to return tags and unused license blanks to the county auditor on the second day of the season.

Mink Trapping to Start October 31

Season Continues until Nov. 30 in North Zone

Not many people ever see a mink in the wild, and Donald Hendrickson, game biologist with the Minnesota Conservation department. There are, however, about 50,000 mink taken by trappers each year and most of these end up in fur coats. Minnesota ranks fifth in the nation in trapped mink, says; about 50 per cent of those taken are males! Because the males move around more than the females, trappers find it easier to get males.

Trapping season will open this year at 12 noon, October 31 for the first time in the history of the state, a Legislature enactment beginning Sunday, Oct. 25 and ending Thursday, Nov. 5 inclusive. Besides the Sunday morning season, trapping will be allowed on evening beginning at 6 o'clock.

Trappers may not set traps within 10 rods of any building or fence connecting to the permit which he has now in his hand.

Pheasant Hunters Warned of Traffic Fine Likes Last During Opening of 1958 Season

Minnesota pheasant hunters were warned of spending "big" fines for careless driving during the opening day, as report issued today covering reported traffic accidents on the opening weekend of pheasant hunting in 1958.

Five persons lost their lives in highway crashes over the opening weekend of the season, the same as last year, in the period from 6:30 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday. In the 305 accidents reported for the 56-hour period, 196 persons were injured.

There is an additional hazard in traffic, the report said, "the excitement that comes from other hunting openings," the department warned. "Pheasant hunters must be coordinated in almost one fourth of the state and many of the roads are narrow and crooked. Add to this the presence of deer and you have a combination that is ripe for disaster."

Good hunting and good driving do mix for a safe weekend," the report concluded. "Remember, when everyone follows the three rules of safe hunting and safe driving, there will be fewer service and other drivers and pedestrians, and compliance with traffic and hunting rules.

Drivers License Revocations Down

9 Months Total of 6,668 Down Slightly from 1958

Revocations of Minnesota drivers licenses showed a slight drop in the first nine months of 1959 compared to the same period of 1958 in a report issued by the Minnesota Safety Council and the Minnesota highway department indicating that there were 6,668 revocations in the year compared to 6,688 in the same time period.

Leading the causes for revocation was driving while under the influence of alcohol, with 2,000 persons having their driving privileges to drive following conviction. Of these it was the second conviction for 1,228 persons within a five year period.

Other causes for revocation included driving after revocation, careless and driving after revocation or no drivers license.

Veterans in State Hospitals to Get Pheasant Dinner

Minnesota hunters will take to the fields October 24, 25 and 26 with the hope that they will get more than 100 members of the state veterans hospitalized throughout the state.

Some 8,000 hunters from 240 clubs, Minnesota sportsmen's clubs and conservation clubs, and the Minneapolis Tribune.

Shave said that veterans in 13 hospitals throughout the state will receive pheasant dinners as announced throughout the state. The planned beginning October 29. The largest meals will be served at Minnesota veterans' organize.' at St. Cloud Veterans hospital, where 1,450 will be fed, and at Minneapolis Veterans' hospital for 950 veterans.

It is estimated that almost 1,000 pounds of cattle iron have been contributed throughout the world since this new engineering material was introduced by International Nickel in 1946.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest force on earth. It is the only institution founded and directed by the wisdom of perfect values. Without a strong Church, civilization would perish. Without the support of every individual, the Church cannot survive. Everyone who every person should regularly support and attend the Church. How can it? For each one of us, the Church is a personal matter. For the sake of the Church itself, which is the only hope of mankind, and for the sake of each individual and each man's home and life.

Here's what happens when four super-highways meet—a far cry from that simple "plus mark" we used to call an intersection!

Life is becoming more complex, isn't it? No longer is it simply a matter of doing the right neat. Today it is a matter of doing the right neat until you find the right spot, and then doing the right thing. And of the direction you want to go, and then finding yourself speeding away from your destination at a pike that permits no U-turn.

As life has become more complex, the value of a deep and abiding religious conviction has become more evident. Against a background of confusion and complexity, the excellent assurance of Christian faith is sharply silhouetted.

And the millions who have turned to the Church for truth and guidance have found it. The Church is the Way of Christ is clear, simple, direct, and inspiring as it was to those who heard it from the lips of the Galilean road.

The cost is suprisingly low, too. Rates shown are typical charges for 3-minute station-to-station calls after 6 p.m. and all day Sunday. Tax extra.

Why not encourage your boy or girl to call home every week?

Remember, long distance calls are cheaper when you call station-to-station ... faster when you call by number.

Cancer Fund Is Not Sharing Chest Appe

Cancer Society Determined to Reach Individual Donors

Richard A. Truax, field representative for the Minnesota division of the American Cancer Society, met with directors of the Thief River Falls Community Chest last week and demanded that the Chest withdraw or decided to the cancer drive already under way. The Chest fund directors decided to comply with the demand and have announced that the American Cancer Society will not be included.

Dr. Clarence Martin, president of the Community Chest organization, stated that the name of the society will be omitted from pledge cards and that refunds would be made to those who have already contributed to the cancer drive. Contributions to the cancer drive may be made at the office of the organization in the Avalon theatre building.

According to Hale the cancer society was included in the drive budget when it was learned that the organization needed a certification from the Minnesota Community Chest organization. It was stated that the proper quota for the Cancer society, in the Pennington county was $1,000.

Upon receipt of this information the Chest directors decided that they would not comply with the request for funds. Money collected during the Cancer society in their budget, as well as the Chest organizational material that has been distributed, will be returned to the objector, both the individual and the Community Chest board finally agreed to withhold the society from any further material used.

In his statement, Hale explained that the Cancer society is attempting to establish a "direct mail" appeal to the Community Chest. The local board of directors has made a strong effort to plan a campaign that will be carried through both on a financial and informational basis. Many of the organizational materials and solicitation plans have already been started in some areas and the work has been done that includes the use of radio and TV. He went on to say that the society is interested in involving individual business firms that have generally not been participated with other drives and has contacted these groups with the combined effort.

The local drive will continue, the total of the board of the Community Chest, with cooperating organizations serving their budgeted shares and with any surplus being returned to the emergency fund managed by the Community Chest. The Chest will be responsible for the cancer drive to satisfy the just needs of the organization and the continuing goal of the Community Chest, concluded the officials.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Manderud of Goodridge and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Beaulieu of Frederic, Wis.

The altar of the church was graced with baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums for the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Reuben Loskrem of Thief River Falls was at the organ, playing the nuptial music and accompanying JoAnn Johnson as she sang "Oh Promise Me" and "The Wedding Prayer" and Mrs. Walter Pedersen as she sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer".

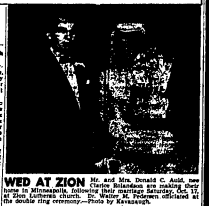
Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over net and taffeta. It featured a scalloped neckline on the lace bodice and long sleeves, which came to a point at the hand. Her bouffant skirt was graced with lace inserts and studded with pearl sequins. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white feathered carnations. Her pearl earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss JoAnn Johnson of Plummer, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, followed by Jeannie Johnson of Madison, Minn., and Shirley Hoover of Frederic, Wis., as bridesmaids. Their gowns were turquoise and waltz length, accented by cap sleeves and a full skirt, balloon style with inserts in the back. They carried bouquets of bronze and yellow mums. Their earrings were a gift of the bride.

The bridegroom was attended by Gerald Shull of New Richmond, Wis., a friend, as best man with Raoul Heggerness of Minneapolis, his brother-in-law, and Jerome Rolandson of Goodridge, brother of the bride, as groomsmen. Ushers were Lowell Thoreson and Larry Ellingson of Goodridge.

Mrs. Manderud was attired in a navy blue two-piece dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a black suit with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for approximately 200 relatives and friends. A four-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the serving table. Mrs. Adolph Peterson, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Dick Hoover, a friend of the couple, cut and served the cake, while Mrs. Palmer Johnson, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Lloyd Schallenberger, sister of the bridegroom, poured. Mrs. Ed Geving, friend of the bride, served as hostess.



Waitresses were Rosalie Koch and Delaine Richter.

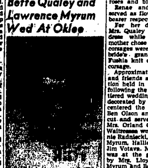
For their honeymoon trip to the North Shore Drive the bride chose a navy blue suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white carnations. After Nov. 1 they will make their home at 2507 Emerson Ave. So. in Minneapolis.



The bride is a graduate of Goodridge high school, class of 1956 and is now employed at Northrup King and Co. in Minneapolis. The bridegroom is a graduate of Frederic high school and is employed with the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Minneapolis.

Bette Qualey and Lawrence Myrum Wed At Oklee

Nuptial vows were exchanged Sunday, Oct. 18, at the Oak Park church at Oklee by Miss Bette Qualey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Qualey of Gully, and Lawrence Myrum, son of Mrs. Gunda Myrum of Oklee.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of lace and tulle over taffeta. It featured a lace bodice with a V neckline and long sleeves, with a very bouffant skirt. Her veil of French imported tulle was held in place by a cap of lace studded with pearls and she carried a bouquet of red and white roses. Her necklace and earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Bernell Myrum of Trail, sister of the bride, was matron of honor with Darlene Olson of Trail serving as bridesmaid. They wore gowns of yellow and blue respectively, styled identical with bouffant skirts. Their bouquets were of yellow and white roses and bittersweet.

Approximately 200 relatives and friends attended the reception held in the church parlors following the ceremony. A four-tiered wedding cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. John Nelson, centered the bridal table. Mrs. Ben Olson and Mrs. Glen Tasa cut and served the cake while Mrs. Orland Chervestad poured. Waitresses were Mary and Bonnie Radniecki, Judy and Marlene Myrum, Hallie Oftelie and Mrs. Jim Votava. Mrs. Milton Myrum was at the gift table assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Myrum, Sonja Myrum and Beverly Moen at the guest book.

For going away the bride chose a blue wool dress and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will make their home in Aurora.

Mrs. Myrum is a graduate of Oklee high school, class of 1959. The bridegroom also attended Oklee high school and is now employed with the Erie Mining Co. in Aurora.

Relatives and friends from Aurora, Gonvick, Bemidji, Thief River Falls and territory attended the wedding.

Ad Infinitum, Ad Nauseam

Now that the time for preparing the city budget for next year is here, Thief River Falls' historical problem of providing streets in keepink with a community of its size needs to be considered with a great deal more thought than has been the case in the past.

It would be hiding our heads in the sand to say that our streets are "good enough." Smaller communities have been able to do away with gravel paths such as ours and the time has long passed since the work should have been done here.

We are now in one of the two seasons of the year when it is apparent to anyone who drives a car and lives outside of the business district that our residential streets need to be drastically overhauled. Every spring and fall, rain and melting snow turn streets into quagmires. Memories of ruts and chuckholes, dimmed by the lulling warmth of summer, are jarred back to reality as the metalwork of automobiles is twisted and hammered out of alignment along with the bodies of the passengers.

There is one consolation, however. During the season of snow and rain, the dust from these rural paths which has covered homes and property for several months is kept in check.

This is not a new situation—it has gone on since Thief River Falls was first founded. It was brought forth again during the recent banquet which was a part of the Thirty Years of Progress celebration. At the banquet, one speaker presented several indications that the city had kept faith with industries which had located here. One of these shining examples of progress was city streets.

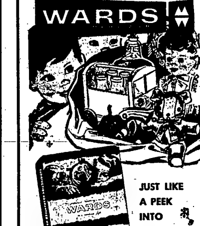
Has the city kept faith with the businesses which moved here during the past year? What is more important, has the city kept faith with the individuals who have moved here from other localities, who have believed enough in the future of the community to buy homes here and to make the community grow and prosper?

Man's progress in all parts of this nation has been accompanied by a certain amount of retrogression. He has built magnificent cities, then invented automobiles which have covered these cities with layers of poisonous fumes. He has carved highways which are too often eyesores and dangerous to life, through mountains and plains.

Here, we have divided the land into blocks and lots, then divided these areas with thinly-graveled paths which, through the years have been largely unimproved.

For the most part, it is difficult for our property owners to have the pride of ownership which they should have and which is such a necessary part of a community's success. Such pride, leading to a community's promotion, could and should be bolstered.

Until now, two plans have been suggested for street improvement. The first, a stopgap measure, results in the large expenditure of tax money to maintain the status quo. Street department personnel are kept busy patching up the mistakes of the past and the city goes nowhere.



The second plan is to ask property owners to come to the council, hats in hand, to beg that they be assessed so that they may at last be deprived of the sloughs which run in front of their homes. The chance that this will be done is quite remote. Only one such request was made during the past year (and the work was never started). At that rate, the city will never move ahead in a street program.

In our northwestern Minnesota area, one community, plagued with the same situation we now have, decided to do something about it. It is within the power of a governing body to order in such street programs as necessary to the welfare of a community. This has been done in other Minnesota cities and villages and could be done here just as the storm sewer project was carried out.

We are inheriting the headaches and shortcomings which have been wished upon us by governing bodies of the past. It would be unfortunate if we repeated their errors.

Plan For Over 50,000 Boy Scout Campers At Colorado Springs National Jamboree

Urge Observance of Veterans Day Nov. 11

The Veterans Day Committee, composed of representatives of all veterans organizations in Minnesota, has been named to help plan and conduct suitable services in every community in the state November 11 in observance of this, the sixth annual national Veterans Day. By act of Congress, Veterans Day replaces Armistice Day, formerly set aside to honor World War I veterans.

Heads of the statewide committee are: Stuart A. Lindman, Minneapolis, chairman, and Frank Murawski, St. Paul, secretary.

"Peace with Honor" is the theme followed in this annual observance, a day set aside to honor all veterans who have served their country in military defense. Lindman commented that every post or unit of every veterans organization in the state has been asked to help plan and conduct a suitable service in their community, in close cooperation with their local mayor. In addition to the veterans organization, an appeal has been sent some 625 mayors asking them to contact local veterans groups so that local committees may be set up.

Lindman stated, "We believe the general public will be amazed at some of the peacetime contributions of veterans. We find more and more veterans in positions of leadership and responsibility. Through our Veterans Day observance we hope to renew public appreciation of those who have defended our nation. We hope to encourage honorable peace by adhering to the strict principles of truth and loyalty and by preparedness to meet aggression."

Winter Protection in Borders

Winter protection means several things. First of all, it means taking the necessary precautions to protect plants against the climate, to protect against the rodents and, third, to protect against certain variations of weather during the winter season. Most of our perennial materials will benefit from winter protection.

Winter protection begins when the flower border is first planted. A shrub background helps to break the winds and provides a snow catch. Snow is one of the best winter protection materials we have and we should take advantage of it.

A winter mulch can be used. Such mulch material as marsh hay, straw, alfalfa hay, corn stalks all help to insulate against extreme cold temperatures. These mulches will also help to control the soil temperature late in the spring when there is alternating freezing and thawing. These mulches should be applied about 6-8 inches deep over the flowering plants.

Apply the winter mulch after the ground has begun to freeze in the fall of the year. A wet mulch can cause severe damage through suffocation and added disease problems in the border. That's why it's best to put the mulch on fairly late in the season.

To keep mice from being a problem in the border, use a bait. Cut both ends from a tin can and a small quantity of the poisoned bait inside the tin can so other animals cannot get to the bait.

Trees and shrubs that are prone to be damaged through rabbit or other rodent injury should be protected with hardware cloth screen. Smaller trees can be wrapped with aluminum foil to provide protection. At garden centers and hardware stores, certain types of repellents are available which can be used in the garden.

33 from Pennington Co. at University of Minnesota This Fall

A total of 33 students from Pennington county are enrolled this fall at the University of Minnesota, it was announced Friday by Wm. T. Harris Jr., director of the University News Service, who explained:

"The information was taken from student address book cards filled out by students as they registered for the fall quarter. If any student's name is omitted, it is because he did not file an address book with the University or did not fill out the card completely or because he registered late—after the first week of school. We are depending, of course, on each student for a correct listing of his home town. Some students, especially married students, list their current addresses in the Twin Cities and suburbs rather than designating the towns from which they came."

Shriners Meet in G. Forks Saturday

TRF Members Planning to Participate in Event

Kem Temple of Grand Forks is planning one of the most elaborate Shrine ceremonials ever held in the state in observance of its Golden Anniversary.

The celebration will be a day-long affair Saturday, October 31, and is being arranged for the entertainment of hundreds of Kem Temple Nobles and a host of visitors from all parts of the Northwest.

Large delegations of Kem members and their wives are expected from the larger centers throughout northern North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota, including Thief River Falls.

Business sessions will occupy the morning. At noon there will be a smorgasbord-oasis for all Nobles.

First spectacular event will be a parade at 1 p.m. with Kem uniformed units and those from other temples participating.

A social hour for Shriners and their wives is planned at the City Auditorium at 5:30 p.m., and at 7:00, also in the Auditorium, there will be a ceremonial banquet during which professional show people will entertain.

The day's activities will close with the traditional ceremonial ball, held in the City Auditorium.

FFA Chapter to Aid Camp Courage

12 Members Will Solicit Grain Friday, October 30

The Thief River Falls chapter of the Future Farmers of America will hold a "Grain Day for Camp Courage" on Friday, October 30.

Jon Metusalem, Lincoln high school agriculture instructor and F.F.A. adviser, who announced the project, said members of the F.F.A. would stop at farms in the area, pick up grain that farmers would like to contribute, and then sell it to a local elevator.

Funds from the sale will be turned over to the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults to sponsor Minnesota's handicapped farm youth at Camp Courage. Each summer approximately 75 farm youth attend this special camp.

Metusalem said 12 of his agriculture students will take part in the project.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

Comments and remarks made by myself at a meeting last week on the coming city election as The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen's organization backing certain individuals and not others have been erroneously misconstrued.

I clearly stated at the start of the meeting that I could not vouch for the approval or opinions of the B. of R. T. until a meeting of our brotherhood was held and action taken to give me authority to do so.

Under these circumstances, notice is hereby given that the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen go on record as not endorsing any one in the coming city election.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare
University of Minnesota

"Are Ye Able"

Many of us will recognize the above as the title of a rather rousing—and—challenging—old hymn. Whether we can or can't do something, however, is often more a matter of our attitude toward our abilities than anything else.

Actually, human beings are loaded with abilities of all kinds. Even the newborn, dependent and incapable as he may seem, has a large number of abilities and he wastes no time putting them into use. He can cry, sleep, swallow, suck, yawn, hiccup, eliminate, to mention just a few.

All through the preschool and school years we see youngsters literally "sprouting" abilities. These are the years which are devoted mainly to the business of acquiring knowledge and skill. Most parents know this and believe that it is important to help our children get an education and and become more and more skillful. Fewer parents, however, recognize how important it is for a child to feel self-confident, to have an attitude toward himself which says "I can do well."

In a study done some time ago, one child psychologist showed how important attitude can be to achievement. Two groups of young children of about equal ability were asked to do a number of different jobs. The one group was asked to do the tasks in a way that implied that they might not be able to do the job, that it might be too difficult for them, etc. The instructions to the other group were designed to instill self-confidence. They were given in a positive, expectant manner. The differences in the children's performance were remarkable. Letting a child know and understand that he is able to do something, that we believe that he can do the job well, and that we are counting on him to "come through" is an important spur to his achievement.

As parents, we want our children to do the best they can with what they have. Two things that we can do which help are: (1) give them plenty of chances to develop confidence by successful experience with simple tasks, and (2) convey to them an attitude of self-confidence by positive, expectant encouragement.

HALF-PAST TEEN

COMPULSIVE GAMBLER

By Don Damis

WHEN Ray Englsky, a tall, broad-shouldered man with slick black hair, entered the living room of his white stucco house, his two sons were fully engrossed in dismantling their electric train set. He glanced at them for a few seconds, turned and started to ascend the stairs leading to the bedroom. Suddenly, Hazel's voice calling him from the kitchen startled him.

"Hello Honey," he said.

She was a tall, pretty, blonde-haired woman, with a smooth, milky complexion.

"You gambled again and lost," she said, smiling derisively.

"You know me like a book," he said.

"I'm not going to put up with your compulsive gambling any longer, Ray," she complained. "Can't you realize that we have two young sons to feed and a house mortgaged to the hilt?"

Ray pulled up a chair and sat down. A frown flitted across his face as he muttered:

"All right, I promise I'll quit this time."

"I'm tired of your promises. I've made an appointment for you to see a psychiatrist."

"What!"

"Just what I said," Hazel murmured.

"And how do you propose I pay for such psychiatric treatment?" he asked, disgustedly.

"My brother Floyd is going to pay for your treatments."

"O. K. you win. I'll go."

The next afternoon he was seated in the office of the eminent Doctor Albert Dowski.

"I have had inordinate success with compulsive gamblers," the doctor said.

"I'm very anxious to get cured, Doctor," he answered.

"I must ask you some questions about your background. Did any one in your family gamble?"

"My father made a living gambling," Ray answered brusquely.

"Gin Rummy."

"And what is your special game?" The doctor smiled.

"Gin Rummy."

"It appears as if you've taken after your father."

"I was an enterprising fellow," he answered. "Tried several business ventures and failed miserably."

"I see," the doctor answered as he reached in his desk for a deck of cards.

"I want to play you a game of gin," he said eagerly. "Of course, you must realize that this will be part of your therapy. I would like to see how you react emotionally."

"For me to react emotionally I'm afraid we'll have to play for money."

"Name your price!" the doctor said.

"Fifty dollars?"

Doctor Dowski nodded and shuffled the cards.

Three months later Hazel was saying in the living room:

"I can't understand why the doctor insists on seeing you every day when he started by seeing you twice a week."

"I suppose he's determined to cure me, honey," he answered, consulting his wristwatch. "Hey! I don't want to be late for my treatment."

Ray took a cab to the medical building and rode the elevator to the tenth floor. He peered at the name on the window which read: "Doctor Albert Dowski, Psychiatrist." He smiled happily and thrust his chest out proudly, as he thought of how he had only two more payments to make on his mortgage.

He was an enterprising man and this was a most profitable business. A business that he never thought would be realized.

HOME GARDEN

Winter Protection

The time to think about protecting fruit plantings against various types of winter injury is before cold weather approaches.

Fruit trees should be protected against mice and rabbits by placing a cylinder of ¼-inch mesh screen or hardware cloth around the base of the tree. The cylinder should extend into the soil enough to prevent mice from getting underneath the wire screen. Rabbit repellents which may be sprayed on the trunk and upper branches are also available.

Sunscald is a common winter injury to fruit trees. This disorder results from bright sunlight that is reflected from the snow and strikes the southwest side of the trunk and branches during winter months. As a result the bark warms up to a point where cold resistance is lost. At night when the temperature again falls below freezing, the cells are killed and injury to the bark results. Any measure that will shade the southwest side of the tree will reduce sunscald. Boards, evergreen boughs or burlap will usually provide necessary protection.

Prowler Eleven Bows to Bemidji Team 26-7

The Prowlers, after playing a creditable brand of football during the first two periods of their game here Friday night against the Bemidji Lumberjacks, trailing by a 13 to 7 score at the intermission, gave up a pair of touchdowns in the second half to drop a 26 to 7 decision to coach Ken Wilson's club in a Northwest conference tilt.

The local squad will continue in Northwest conference play this week when, on Friday night, they meet coach Lowell Larson's Crookston Pirates on the Lincoln athletic field.

With a brisk and cold northwest wind sweeping field Friday night, Bemidji, winning the toss, chose to defend the north goal and kicked off to the Prowlers. The locals, after failing to pick up a first down in three running plays, and being assessed a fifteen-yard holding penalty, were forced to kick on fourth down, with Bemidji gaining possession on the Prowlers' 34-yard line. Spencer Price sliced to left tackle to the Prowler 9-yard line; but the Prowlers, with a couple of Bemidji penalties assisting, held off the threat, and recovered the ball when Larry Haugen intercepted a pass on the ten and returned the ball to the Prowler 29-yard line. Two first downs, with fullback Jeff Hartje making a 24-yard run, carried the ball to the Bemidji 37-yard stripe. Lee Fawbush intercepted a Prowler pass to stop the drive.

Bemidji, with a fourth and nine situation, kicked to the Prowlers' 22-yard line. On the second play from scrimmage during this sequence, Bemidji's Vern Wagner recovered a Prowler fumble on the locals' 25-yard line. After the Jacks had taken a five-yard penalty for illegal procedure, Bob Glas came out around left end on a run, and then tossed a lateral to trailer Fawbush, who carried the ball from the 20-yard line to cross the south goal. Price added the point on a run around right end.

The Prowlers evened the game at 7-all in the second period when, after Arlan Hjelle had recovered a Bemidji fumble on the Jacks' 40-yard line, the locals notched three successive first downs to move the ball to Bemidji 2-yard line. Hartje picked up twenty-one yards in four plays during the drive. From the two-yard line, Hartje nudged center to the two-foot line, and then Steve Embury sneaked center for the touchdown. Hartje hit left tackle for the point, and the game was knotted, 7-all.

With but four seconds of play remaining in the second period, Bemidji, from the Prowler 14-yard line, scored when Price flipped a pass to Mike Barclay in the north end zone. The conversion point failed, on a run, and Bemidji held a 13 to 7 half-time lead.

In the second half Bemidji, piling up ten first downs to the Prowlers one, held a marked advantage. In the third period a four-first downs march was culminated in a touchdown when Fawbush, on a bootleg play, circled left end for twenty-four yards to cross the north goal. A pass, Fawbush to Barclay, added the conversion point.

Early in the fourth period, having the ball on the Prowlers' 26-yard line after moving the ball from their own 44-yard line in six plays, the Jacks notched their final touchdown when Bob Glas, a southpaw, tossed a touchdown pass to Bob Kennedy in the end zone. Price failed to add the point, and Bemidji had their 26 to 7 win.

Prowler 'B's Win over Bemidji 'B's

Wind up 1959 Schedule with 14 to 12 Victory

The Prowler 'B' squad, coached by Charles DeCoursey and Gene Sack, closed out their 1959 football schedule on Saturday afternoon by scoring a 14 to 12 win over the Bemidji 'B' squad in a game played on the Lincoln field.

Trailing by a 12 to 7 score entering the final minutes of the game, the Prowler B's, on a 12-yard run by Paul Klungness, and a conversion point by Jim Weckwerth, scored their game-winning points with a minute to play.

Quarterbacks John Aune, on a sneak, scored the Prowlers' first half touchdown, tallying from the two-yard line. Arvid Loe set up the scoring play by breaking away for a fifty-yard run, carrying the ball deeply into the Bemidji territory.

For the season, the Prowler 'B' team, playing seven games, marked up a record of three wins and four losses. The Prowlers scored wins over Crookston, 18 to 6, Roseau, 27 to 12, and Bemidji, 14 to 12; while losing to Bemidji, 28 to 13, East Grand FForks, 13 to 0, Grand Forks Central, 31 to 19, and Crookston, 34 to 14.

Results of last week's games:
Washington, 6, vs. Knox, 0.
This week's schedule:
Wednesday, October 28:
Northrop vs. Knox

Coach George Schlieff's Washington Wildcats moved into second place in the grade school league football standings by scoring a 6 to 0 win over coach Roger Dorn's Knox Tigers on the Lincoln field on Wednesday afternoon.

Washington scored the game's lone touchdown on an 11-yard sweep out around left end by halfback Steve Furuseth in the first period. Fudseth, on an end run, had moved the ball into scoring position on the previous play, making a fifteen-yard gainer. The try for the conversion point failed, but stout defensive play by Washington protected their six-point margin during the remainder of the game.

In the closing minutes of the first half, Knox's Mark DuChamp booted the ball deep into Washington territory, to the Wildcat's ten-yard line, but the Tigers were unable to gain possession of the ball before the second period ended.

In the fourth period, Knox advanced the ball to the Washington ten-yard line, but were unable to cross the goal line.

The last regularly scheduled game in grade school football will be played on Wednesday afternoon, with the league-leading Northrop Indians meeting the Knox Tigers, with kickoff time at 4:30 P.M.

Newfolden Trims Lake Bronson 20-2

Nordics to End Season at Argyle Next Friday

The Newfolden Nordics won undisputed possession of third place in the Northern Lights east half conference standings when, in a game played on Friday, they defeated Lake Bronson, 20 to 2. The two teams were tied for third place prior to the game. Friday's win gives coach Jack Junker's squad a four wins and two losses mark in conference play. On Friday, Oct. 30, the Nordics will travel to Argyle for a season-ending game against the Eagles.

In Friday afternoon's game, neither Newfolden nor Lake Bronson could score in the first period. Newfolden tallied a touchdown in the second period on a drive that began on the Nordics' 8-yard line. This sustained drive was carried through by a strong running attack, and was featured by fine runs by Lowell Halvorson. It was Halvorson's three-yard drive that netted the game's first touchdown. A Dave Haug to Ueland pass added the conversion point.

Lake Bronson scored their only points of the game when, in the second period, with Haug back on the Newfolden five-yard line to kick, the pass from center went over his head and out of the end zone for an automatic safety, and two points for Lake Bronson.

The Nordics marked up a touchdown in the third period, with Haug scoring from the two-yard line. Darrell Bakke, on an off-tackle smash added the point, giving the Nordics a 14 to 2 lead. A big gainer in the touchdown march was a Haug to Halvorson pass completion that netted twenty-two yards.

A Lake Bronson fumble, and which was recovered by Newfolden, set up the final touchdown for the Nordics. Having the ball on the Lake Bronson thirty-yard line, Haug, on a jump pass, reached Wendell Hagenbeck, who made the catch on the 25 and raced for a TD. The extra point try failed.

2 Minor Accidents over the Week-end

Minor Damage Reported in Collisions in City

Very little activity was reported by law enforcement agencies in the city over the weekend, with only the city police reporting minor traffic mishaps.

The highway patrol reported roads in the area were very slushy and reminded motorists to use due caution.

The first of the two minor mishaps reported by city police occurred Friday about 9:50 p.m. when a car driven on Main by LuAnn J. Smith, Holt, collided with another driven by Gerald S Szczpanski, rt. 1, Strandquist, who was going south on Main and making a left turn onto E. Third st.

Damage to the Smith car was estimated at $35, to Szczpanski's, $75.

The other mishap occurred at 4:42 p.m. Sunday when Herbert G. Meyers backed out of the driveway at his E. James st. residence and collided with a parked car across the street.

Damage to the parked car owned by Arnold Helgenset was estimated at $30, none was reported to Meyers' car.

Harvesting the Surplus

What surplus? From personal observation, and from discussions and conversations with a number of hunters and farmers, it is the consensus that the pheasant population in the Wheaton-Dumont-Herman area has been reduced by twenty-five to fifty percent from last year's numbers. The reason from this decline in the pheasants is a puzzler. The decline occurred during the spring and summer months, and it is agreed that there was a fine carryover of birds during the winter.

We hunted the area south-east of Dumont during the opening hours on Saturday, and we got but one shot at an eligible bird, and missed. The ditch grades, which in previous years had produced some fine shooting, were proving to be blanks on Saturday. There did appear to be an abundance of hens, and that bodes well for the future. We were given permission to drive a small cornfield, and we flushed nine hens out of this narrow strip of corn.

We met one party of twelve hunters, guided by a Herman resident who was acquainted with the area, and this group, in their opening drive had worked an eighty-acre corn field and bagged but three birds. In former years, such a drive on opening day, would have yielded from ten to fifteen birds. And this wasn't an unusual case.

Clarence Mattson, hunting with Ed and Larry Nelson, and getting some valuable assistance from his wide-ranging dog Rusty, did bag a limit of three pheasants. But it was an all-day job. The trio hunted southwest of Herman, and at the season-opening they posted around a small thicket and were able to pick up three pheasants as the dogs flushed the birds. That's the ideal way to hunt pheasants, but the problem is to find the thickets.

And another problem that confronted the hunters on Saturday was the gusty winds that prevailed. This wind, from the northwest, kept the birds grounded, and when the birds did become air-borne they quickly soared out of gun-range. It was difficult, too, to hear the birds flush out of the corn.

Don L. Olson, Jack Edmiston, Walt Anderson, and L. L. Tygeson returned early Sunday afternoon and they had eleven pheasants, all bagged on Saturday. The fact is, the party should have filled out their twelve-bird limit on Saturday but for some erratic marksmanship. The quartet hunted the slough bottoms in the area about five or six miles north-east of Herman. The miserable weather that set in on Saturday curtailed their hunting yesterday, and they quit hunting in time to make the trip home by daylight.

A Hard Task

Bob May, who resigned as varsity hockey coach at North Dakota U to accept the coaching position of the newly-organized Denver Mavericks in the professional International league, will have a hard task this season. The Denver club will begin play next week.

May, who had remarkable success in collegiate ranks, will rely to a great extent on former college players in building his Denver club. Among the prospective Denver players are such former North Dakota Sioux stars as Joey Poole, Bill Steenson, Bill Reichart, and Bill LeCaine.

Poole, a former Prowler hockey star here, being an all-state tournament choice in 1954 and 1955, and who played three years of college hockey under coach May, is expected to center one line for the Mavericks.

Bill Reichart, who first gained the attention of hockey fans in this area when he played, as a sixteen-year-old, with the Crookston Pirates, was a starring member of the Sioux several years, being an All-America selection. Reichart, who had a geology major at North Dakota, has been employed in western Canada, and he has been playing hockey with top-flight hockey clubs in that area. We watched Cowboy Bill, playing with the Red Deer, Alberta, team, in action in Winnipeg a couple of years ago.

We wish Denver lots of luck in its hockey venture, but we expect that coach Bob May will find the job of professional hockey coaching much more trying than college hockey.

Mutual Benefit

A hockey rumor that had been given circulation in this area for the past couple of weeks was given substance this past week when it was announced that the Winnipeg Maroons, carrying much hockey tradition and for many years one of the "powers" in Canadian senior hockey, would be basing their hockey play this season in the Roseau arena.

It is probable that the Maroons, who have made strong bids in Canadian Allan Cup play the past several seasons, reaching the finals three years ago, will make an application for entry into the Minnesota-Ontario league, joining Warroad, Fort Frances, Kenora, and Dryden.

For the past couple of years the Maroons have been coached by Bill Robinson, who played several games with the senior hockey Thieves here in the mid 1950's.

The transfer of the Maroons to the Roseau arena should be of mutual benefit. The Maroons, in preparation for their Canadian Allan Cup playdowns, will receive the benefit of the hockey competition provided by such teams as Warroad, Fort Frances, and the others; and the Roseau senior hockey fans will be given an opportunity to witness hockey of a caliber approaching the professional brand. It will be interesting to watch the experiment.

50,000 Will Share in Boy Scouts National Jamboree Next July

More than 50,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers and leaders from all parts of the Nation and some from other lands will camp together at the 50th National Jamboree, July 22-28, 1960.

A 2000 acre site at Reverse J Diamond Ranch in Colorado Springs, Colorado, is being prepared for the Jamboree. It will have its own water supply, electricity, telephone, post offices and other services for the largest gathering of boys in the western hemisphere.

Jamboree campers, all of them 12 years old or older, will share daily camp chores, cook their own meals, take part in displays, campfires, demonstrations, skill contests, and intercamp visits during the seven day event.

Outstanding Americans will take part in the principal events.

Three Troops, composed of 111 boys and nine leaders, from the Lake Agassiz Council, will participate in the pre-Jamboree training on July 16 and 17 at Emerson, Manitoba, Canada.

The tour will be as follows: the three troops will leave by bus, on July 18 and arrive at the Jamboree site in Colorado Springs on July 21 with stopovers at Redfield, S. D., Rapid City, S. D., and Torrington, Wyoming.

On the return trip, the tour will include stopovers at Craig, Colorado, Kimbell Junction, Salt Lake City, Utah; Little Thumb, Wyoming, Billings, Montana, Dickinson, N. Dakota; and the boys will arrive in Grand Forks on August 6th. Sightseeing tours, other than Salt Lake City, will include the Black Hills and Yellowstone Park.

Registrations for this event must be in the Boy Scout Office before December 1st.

U. S. Fire Losses Hit $83,000,000 for September

Estimated fire losses in the United States during September amounted to $83,027,000, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported.

This represents an increase of 13.3 per cent from losses of $73,303,000 reported for September, 1958, and an increase of 11.2 per cent from losses of $74,660,000 for August, 1959.

Losses for the first nine months of 1959 now total $800,887,000, a decrease of 1.2 per cent from the first nine months of 1958, when they amounted to $810,811,000.

Active H. S. Students Earn Higher Grades

Spending a lot of time with community youth groups, school debate clubs or other social groups doesn't necessarily mean a high school student will get lower grades as a result.

In fact, University of Minnesota rural sociologists found in a recent survey that high school youths who are unusually active in community and school social activities are also above average scholastically.

By the same token, students who don't take part in these activities are more likely to get lower grades.

Gordon Bultena, George Donohue and Marvin Taves made the survey among 450 junior and senior high students in a Minnesota community. They report on the study in the current issue of Minnesota Farm and Home Science, a University Agricultural Experiment station publication.

Among students who had "high participation" in school and community activities, 46 per cent had average grades of B or higher. As participation went down, so did grades. Only 14 per cent of those with "low participation" in the school and community had B grades or better.

On the other hand, only 6 per cent of the students in the "high participation" group had grades below the C category, while 44 per cent of the "low participation" students fell in that group. Level of participation was based on membership in social groups, amount of time spent in them and committee and officer responsibility.

These findings, the sociologists say, tend to reject the argument that extremely active students do not do well in school.

Activities reported by students in this study ranged from recreation and athletics to church, dance and cultural projects.

Students apparently didn't think there was too much going on. Nearly two-thirds of the boys and three-fourths of the girls said there were actually too few activities in the community. Only three per cent of both boys and girls thought there were too many activities.

Interprovincial Pipeline Company Boosts Dividend

Interprovincial Pipe Line company, whose lines pass thru this area, Tuesday declared a quarterly dividend of 55 cents per share payable December 1st to shareholders of record on Nov. 6. This represents an increase of 5 cents per share over the previous quarterly payment and brings to $2.00 the total regular payments during the year.

The company also declared a special dividend of 25 cents per share payable December 1 to shareholders of record on November 6.

In commenting on the board's action T. S. Johnston, president, stated "Earnings for 1959 have made possible this increase in the quarterly payment. The special dividend is being paid as a result of the favorable decision handed down by the supreme court of Canada in the company's long standing tax suit."

"Let this truth be present to thee in the excitement of anger, that to be moved by passion is not manly, but that mildness and gentleness, as they are more agreeable to human nature, so are they more manly; and he who possesses these qualities possesses strength, nerve and courage, and not the man who is subject to fits of passion and discontent."

Ten Mills More

Taxpayers of the community will have their incomes reduced again next year as a result of the ten mill increase in the tax levy for school purposes. Most of them were aware of this fact when they learned of the big increase. Many wondered why another substantial tax increase is needed at this time. There is reason for the wondering.

School financing in this community has been a tricky business for several years. A few years ago the voters approved a big bond issue for building purposes. They had been assured by school officials that the $1,200,000 asked for would provide adequately for all of the building needs of the foreseeable future, with a continuing population growth taken into consideration. Other school districts were urged to declare themselves on whether they wished to become a part of the Thief River Falls district in order that provision could be made for them in the planning.

With the surveys completed and the needs carefully charted, the program was outlined in a report that was quite specific on matters of cost. Taxpayers knew what was ahead of them and on the basis of such a thorough presentation, the big package was approved.

There were excusable errors in the attempt to predict the probabilities. Interest rates were higher than had been anticipated, for instance. But in general there have been no unforeseen developments to account for the shortcomings of the program that was adopted.

Within two years of the completion of the program we were informed that our expanded facilities were inadequate, and suddenly the schools overflowed into rented quarters. Now, we have been told, another new building will soon be a "must." How come?

Enrollment figures for the past three or four years do not justify more classrooms than were provided in that $1,200,000 building program. Possibly this sudden need has been brought about by reducing the size of classes. If we cut the class size in half we of course would need twice as many classrooms and twice as many teachers. If smaller classes is a factor in the shortage of classrooms then the folks who pay the bills have a right to know about it.

Four of the ten mills increase are accounted for by the decision of the school board to pay all of the storm sewer assessment in one year. While we favor the idea of extending the cost of permanent improvements over a period of years, and let the taxpayers of tomorrow share in the cost of improvements that benefit them, we will not labor this point. The sum of money involved is not great. But we do not like this kind of financing in this instance because we fear it will be used next year as a means of increased spending without an increased mill rate. The four mills will remain but the money will be used for other purposes.

And a big item in the increased cost of operating our schools next year will be the across-the-board salary increase that the board approved some time ago. We can see no justification for any across-the-board salary increases for public employees in this community at this time. Some merit increases may be justified, but our teachers, and other public employees, are not now underpaid. Our community is geared to an agricultural economy that has been and still is depressed. We are not a rich community and in providing essential public services we sometimes will have to be satisfied with less than the ideal and adjust ourselves to the practical.

Problems of this kind are faced by all of us in our individual operations, year in and year out. In our homes, in our businesses, on our farms, we must occasionally make sacrifices in order to live within our means, and over a period of time our happiness, as well as our success, depends to a large extent on how well we manage our own affairs.

Most of the time we are able to adjust ourselves to our ability to pay by sacrificing the things that are not essential, denying ourselves the luxuries and the frills.

And with this approach in mind, we are satisfied that the cost of operating the Thief River Falls schools could be substantially reduced, without lowering the academic standards. Our guess is that under good leadership we could develop a superior school system in our community at less cost.

Another Bond Issue

Members of the city council have properly submitted the question of water system improvements to the voters at the regular election. Any bond issue in the amount of $225,000 deserves a thorough discussion before being submitted, and a thorough explanation of the need for this expenditure should be made. We are satisfied that the proposed improvements not only can be justified as desirable but also classify as essential, and will be favored by informed voters.

As we understand it, the proposed water tank to be erected on the East Side will be adequate for all of the present water needs of the city. At some future time, when additional capacity will be needed, a second tank will be erected on the West Side.

The present tank has been declared irreparable several times but time and again it has been patched up and continued in service. A scaling job last spring could not be completed because of its condition and it is considered no longer reliable for storage purposes. It is also unsafe.

The new tank will have a capacity of 250,000 gallons, compared to the 75,000 gallon capacity of the present tank. Adequate mains will feed into the water system of the entire city and the West Side will not be adversely affected because of the East Side location.

In addition to the new tank, the bond issue will provide for the construction of a new underground storage basin at the water plant, and this will have 1,000,000 gallons capacity. This will make available a reserve supply that will be important for emergency needs.

One important question that will be raised is the probable effect this expenditure will have on city taxes. A purchase of this kind should be spread over a period of at least 20 years, and on this basis the payments could be worked into a debt service program that probably could be absorbed without any taxes for city purposes.

If the payments are spread over a 20 year period, starting in 1965, the cost would be about $9,000 a year for the next five years and an average of about $16,000 a year from then on, figuring interest at four per cent. By 1965 we would have our bond maturities down to $100,000 a year. Figuring income from other sources at the present level, and they should increase, we can retire that much debt without taxes for debt service.

Our taxes for city purposes are high now because the council insists on a fast debt pay-off. This year, and next year, the annual maturities are $180,000, making a heavy tax for debt service necessary. Under this program we are paying half of the city's total debt in the next four years, and that of course is unfair to present taxpayers, and has been a factor in discouraging improvements within the city.

But we are hopeful that the Council will adopt a reasonable pay-off plan if these much needed improvements are authorized, and if that is done they will not be an added burden to the taxpayers.

Safety Is Money

(Denver Post)

The testimony of experts shows that there is added incentive to safe driving. It turns out that driving which is safe is also money-saving.

Among the tips passed out by an economy-run winner recently were these:

—Drive at moderate speeds. Driving at speeds over 60 can reduce gas mileage as much as 50% over what you'd get sticking to the 40-45 m.p.h. range.

—Avoid sudden stops. When you see a traffic light turn red or a stop sign coming up, take your foot off the accelerator and glide to a stop.

—Stay away from the hot-rodding getaways. Accelerate slowly, and shift gears quickly, rather than gunning it up to 50 in second gear.

This and other economy practices could save you up to $250 a year in gas costs, the experts say.

Of course, those who can't bear to abandon their black leather jacket mentality—their penchant for using an automobile as an instrument for satisfying an animal yearning for power won't change their hot-rod habits just because it saves money, or is safe, or more polite.

Just the same, it is nice to know that the man who drives as if he had a head on his shoulders, rather than a monkey on his back, is making himself money as well as well as driving safely.

I am never sure just how accurately letters sent to the governor reflect the interests of the people as a whole, but I do assume that when many people write about one question there is real and widespread interest. For some time I have received inquiries about danger from radioactive fall-out, — inquiries that express uncertainty, worry, and concern, and sometimes offering suggestions.

Does Radiation Threaten Us?

Much has been written about dangers that can result from radioactive fall-out. Many citizens have read enough of these reports to know that there is reason for concern. Lay citizens cannot be expected to know enough about the scientific problems involved to be sure just how concerned they ought to be. But —more serious is the fact that even the experts don't know enough to be sure either. But the experts can help us to find out.

Atomic Development Problems Committee

More than two years ago I appointed an Atomic Development Problems committee as a study group to gather and evaluate information. Some of the ablest experts in the field served on that committee, and its deliberations have already made invaluable contributions toward the solution of problems that will be with us for some time.

Among its noteworthy accomplishments was the publication of a volume of basic data on atomic development problems that meets a real need throughout the nation. Much essential study and research on the hazards of radiation was stimulated by this committee's activities.

A Conference of International Importance

One of the outcomes of the work of this committee was a symposium held last week at the University of Minnesota, sponsored by the University and co-sponsored by the United States Atomic Energy Commission, the National Science Foundation, and the Agricultural Research Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

This meeting was described by an outstanding science writer as "the world's widest ranging conference to date on radioactive bomb materials in soils, crops, food and men." Experts from all parts of the world participated in the discussion of problems relating to fall-out as it affects soils and plants, the food eaten by animals and man, and as it has consequences that affect health, life, and future generations.

Scientific Phrasing — Down-to-Earth Meaning

The title of the symposium, "Radioisotopes in the Biosphere" probably means little to the casual reader, but the subjects involved have a vital meaning to every man, woman and child on earth, and to millions yet unborn.

The scientists are concerned with how radioisotopes contained in the fall-out from nuclear explosions find their way into the soil, and they want to learn where, and in what kind of soils, the concentration of such radioisotopes is the greatest, and what can be done to minimize resulting hazards.

They have studied how such isotopes are transferred from soil to plants, and thence to animals, including man, and they want to learn about methods for removing harmful matter such as strontium 90 from food.

They want to know how the absorption of any strontium 90 in the food we eat can be prevented and controlled.

Anticipated Progress

By the time this column is published some of the conclusions and results of this memorable conference may be known and I hope to be able to report to you real progress toward finding answers to the questions that you have asked and that the scientists are studying.

To me a most important aspect of this problem lies in the phrase repeated so often: "they want to learn . . ." There is so much we need to know about this new scientific field. We need this knowledge desperately—in fact, we need it so much that it is unquestionably worth whatever it may cost.

I feel sure that one of the conclusions that will be reached as a result of this conference will be the need for more intensive and extensive study to find answers to all the problems in this field. We can be truly proud of the leadership, ability, and courage of the Minnesota scientists and of our University for the initiative they have taken to put us in the vanguard of progress in this vitally important area.

BRIDGE BREAKER

The steam engine and water wagon, like those shown above, were replacing horsepower for threshing and pulling gang plows at the turn of the century. Between 1880 and 1920, 500,000 steam engines were sold, ranging from 10 to 50 horsepower. Most of them were used for threshing.

An early steam rig could thresh, 1,000 bushels a day and was accompanied by a crew that traveled from farm to farm, threshing from stacked or shocked grain. Many a country bridge broke down under the weight of these monsters, and their plume of coal smoke marked their approach from miles away.

Then came smaller engines for the individual farmer to use. But it was not long until the advent of the gasoline tractor.

State Doctors Cite Cancer Statistics

Do statistics impress you? These cancer statistics compiled by the Minnesota State Medical Association are intended to do just that.

Cancer is still the second leading cause of death due to disease. Heart disease is number one. More men than women die from cancer. In 1956-57, the cancer death rate for men was 163.3 per 100,000 population compared to 140.9 per 100,000 population for women. This represents a difference of almost 17 per cent for male cancer deaths. The figure may rise to 25 per cent when allowance is made for the fact that there are more women than men in the older age groups where the number of cancer deaths is the highest.

Statistics show that the rate of cancer deaths among boys is about 20 per cent greater than girls under the age of fifteen. In the 15-34 age bracket, the number of male deaths is almost 15 per cent greater.

Cancer deaths among women in the 35-54 age range outnumber male cancer deaths almost 150 per cent. Cancer of the breast and genital organs account for an estimated one-third of the number of cancer fatalities among women in this age group. The digestive system of women in the age 55 and over group is frequently the site of cancer. However, there appears to be an increase in the mortality rates from cancer of the breast and genital organs in the 55-64 age group.

It has been estimated that more than 40 per cent of the cancer deaths in this age group as well as nearly one-third of the deaths among women over the age of 65 can be traced to cancer in these sites. Cancer involving the respiratory tract accounts for nearly 20 per cent of all deaths due to this disease among white males. By contrast, only 4 per cent of the total cancer deaths among white females are from this cause. The tendency toward death from lung cancer is growing among men. The lung cancer mortality rate for white males is six times that of white females in all age groups combined.

Cancer involving areas of the mouth is also more common among men. Men, more frequently than women, suffer from cancer of the stomach and urinary organs. Hodgkins disease and the various forms of leukemia are also more common among men.

Because more persons are aware that an annual health checkup is necessary to detect and stop the spread of cancer, it is now possible to save the life of at least one out of three cancer victims, says the medical association.

State Automobile Assn. Meet Oct. 29

Directors to Set Policies at Minneapolis Session

How to finance the nation's super roads? How to meet similar financing problems on our own state roads and streets? How to trim traffic accidents in Minnesota?

These and other current motoring issues will be some of the questions facing the Minnesota State Automobile association at its 53rd annual meeting on October 29 in Minneapolis.

The 45-man board of directors of the statewide motoring organization, men from all walks of life and all parts of Minnesota, will determine by vote the position Minnesota AA will take on various issues affecting motorists in Minnesota. Each director represents 3,000 AAA members in his area of the state.

Attending this year's meeting will be Frederick T. McGuire, Cleveland, Ohio, president of the AAA, and Russell E. Singer, Washington, D.C., executive vice-president of the national organization.

A report from Hugh M. Craig, executive secretary of the Minnesota AAA, will open the all-day session. Election of officers, new directors and executive committee members will also be undertaken at the morning session.

Extending North Central Lines to Regina Endorsed

A Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) hearing examiner last week recommended that North Central Airlines be certificated to extend service to Regina, Sask., Canada from Minot, N. D., with an itermediate stop at Williston, N. D.

Examiner Herbert K. Bryan, in issuing CAB's initial decision in the Regina Air Service case, recommended that the new service be authorized by a three-year amendment to North Central's certificate of public convenience and necessity.

North Central would then be the first of the nation's 13 local airlines to be awarded an international route.

The initial decision now goes to the full five-man CAB which will issue a final order in the case in the near future.

Humpback Salmon Found in Superior

Finding of Salt-water Fish in Lake Is Mystery

Now a "where did they come from?" mystery confronts the bureau of fisheries in the division of game and fish. Hjalmar Swenson, supervisor of the bureau, revealed today that during the month of September three humpback salmon (oncorhynchus gorbuscha) were taken off the Minnesota shores of Lake Superior—one in a net in the Grand Marais area, one by angling near the Manitou river, and the other by angling from the Sucker river.

They were identified as salmon by the fisheries research section of the division of game and fish and Dr. Samuel Eddy of the University of Minnesota.

"We do not know how the humpback salmon got into Lake Superior but we are checking with other states bordering Lake Superior and also with Canadian fisheries in an effort to learn how they might have been introduced," Swenson said.

Winter Testing of Potatoes Starts

530 Lots of Seed Spuds Are Shipped to Florida

Minnesota shippers have just sent to Florida a carload of 530 individual lots of potato seed samples assembled from all over the state. They will be tested in the outdoor plots maintained by the Minnesota department of agriculture, dairy and food at Homestead, Florida. The tests have been conducted there annually by the department every winter beginning in 1937.

These samples represent the basic stock from which approximately 30,000 acres of Minnesota certified seed potatoes are grown. A total of about 88,000 acres of potatoes are grown for both seed and food in this state each year.

Although the operation is conducted by and under the supervision of the Minnesota department, the costs are paid for by the growers themselves through inspection fees. The test plots are planted early in November and by the first of February it is known which will make good seed sources and may be put on the state approved list. Samples that show defects are eliminated.

Over the period of years during which the tests have been conducted there has been a marked improvement in the quality of Minnesota seed potatoes.

Also Will Register Views on $225,000 Water Plant Bonds

The campaign for municipal offices in the biennial city election next Tuesday, November 3, is now reaching its climax, and candidates are busily engaging in handing out cards and otherwise appealing for the support of Thief River Falls voters.

Polls for all five city wards will be in the municipal Auditorium, with voting to continue Tuesday from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

In addition to electing a mayor to succeed Dr. O. D. Beich, who is not seeking reelection, five ward aldermen and two aldermen-at-large will be elected, as well as a city treasurer, municipal judge and special judge.

Voters also will be asked to express their attitude toward a $225,000 issue of general obligation bonds to finance the construction of a new city water tank to replace the present inadequate one built more than 50 years ago, and for other waterworks improvements.

Seeking the mayor's office are Orin J. Green, active in community affairs, and Mrs. Agnes Israelson, who had served a term as mayor preceding Dr. Beich.

Voters are reminded that ward lines in the city have been revised so that Fourth st. is the north boundary of the third ward and the south boundary of the first and second wards, while on the east side the center line of Crocker av. divides the fourth ward from the newly created fifth ward.

In the third ward, Olaf Dahlen, the incumbent, will be opposed by Max Jensen.

Candidates for alderman-at-large include two incumbents, Bob Carlson and A. J. Rau, and Roy Lee, present alderman of the second ward.

Hazel C. Olson, present city treasurer, is the only candidate for that post in the Nov. 3 election; H. O. Chommie is unopposed in his bid for reelection as municipal judge as is Stanley Mortenson, who seeks reelection as special judge.

Women's Project Leaders Hear Talk on Mental Health

Homemakers' Group Is Addressed Wednesday by 'U' of M. Authority

Dr. Charles Martin, University of Minnesota extension family life specialist, told homemaker delegates here Wednesday that mental health is not assured by absence of mental illness. Mental illness may require treatment. Mental health, on the other hand, is a state or a condition people find themselves in from day to day.

Martin pointed out that a leading authority in this field, Dr. Karl Menninger, defines mental health as "the ability of human beings to adjust to the world and each other with a maximum effectiveness and happiness." "At the present rate one out of 12 children born will need mental hospital care during his life," Martin stated. He also pointed out that one billion dollars of tax money is spent on mental illness in this country annually.

Mental health is a fluctuating condition as is the physical health of the body. People never go completely insane nor is there such a thing as a completely sane person, Martin pointed out. The emotionally and mentally disturbed people may need psychiatric treatment because there are excessive pressure on the nervous system. Since the nervous system is part of the body physical manifestations may occur which require treatment by specially trained clinical personnel.

Factors relating to good mental health include self esteem, realistic thinking and planning, emotions appropriate to the occasion, sense of values, faith in worthwhileness of life and people, ability to adjust to life's changes and ability to learn by experience.

Each factor was explained in detail by Martin. County agent Paul Stelmaschuk stated that the homemaker delegates now will distribute the information received at the training session to the members in their homemaker groups. This will be done at group meetings during the next month.

TESTING Donald D. Olson, 108 Merriam ave. N., an employe of the city power and light department, checks an electrical meter on the new test equipment put into operation by the city this year. Contrary to popular belief, 95% of the meters checked following complaints that light bills are too high are running too slow and giving more electricity for the dollar than the meter users pay for.

New Equipment Tests Accuracy of Light Meters in An Instant

With the coming of cold weather, the offices of the city clerk and the power and light department will be deluged with the seasonal complaint that "our light bill is too high — the meter must be wrong."

This year, the city has the answer to the question, "Is my meter right?". New test equipment was installed in the basement of the power and light department, which checks light meters in a matter of seconds. Purchase of the test apparatus was made by the city to replace an obsolete model which was able to test only one kind of meter out of the 10 or more models in use.

Every two weeks, a number of meters which have been taken out of residences and business buildings in the city are tested and adjusted before being put aside for later installation when needed. Other tests are made on individual meters when requests are made for accuracy checks.

Contrary to common belief, most of the meters checked are not running fast and causing bills to be too large. 95% are running slow allowing too much electricity to be used for the amount that is billed to utilities payers each month. Your chances of having a reduced bill are pretty slim.

The main reason for slow-running meters is lack of lubrication and stiffness during cold weather. Nothing can be done about warming up the meters but a testing program will soon be started, probably in January, to check all meters in the city to discover those which need maintenance.

Such a program may also reveal other irregularities like the one recently discovered. In a routine check in one home, it was discovered that improper installation of wiring had resulted in the resident's being metered for only half of the 110-volt electricity being used. This had been the case for 20 years.

From now on, his bill will be double.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday morning, a resolution was passed unanimously, recommending an affirmative vote by the citizens of Thief River Falls, for the $225,000 bond issue for a water reservoir.

All citizens were urged to vote "Yes", Tuesday, November 3.

Arlene Dietrich And Donald Wald Are Wed

Rev. Keough Patnode performed the ceremony Saturday, Oct. 17, at St. Bernard's Catholic church which united Miss Arlene Dietrich and Donald Wald, both of St. Hilaire in holy matrimony.

The bride has been living at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Franke while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wald of St. Hilaire.

Baskets of assorted fall mums graced the altar of the church for the double ring, 10 a.m. ceremony. [illegible] Kleinwachter was at the organ playing the nuptial music.

Walking in on the arm of her [illegible] Walter Franke, the bride was attired in a ballerina length [illegible] of lace and net over bridal [illegible]. It featured a scalloped neckline with a v-shaped bodice and push-up sleeves. The back [illegible] accented by tiered rows of [illegible] lace and net and her fingertip veil fell from a jeweled crown. She carried an orchid on a white missal.

Miss Alyce Lawson of Thief River Falls was maid of honor with Cathy Ann Wald, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid. They wore gowns of lime green and [illegible] color, respectively, identically styled, ballerina length, of [illegible] over taffeta. The bodices of the dresses were plain ending in a four-inch white eyelet, [illegible] with a satin ribbon at the waist and slowly flowed into a [illegible] bouffant skirt. Their wristlet corsages were of pink roses and white carnations.

Little Cathy Wald, sister of the bridegroom, dressed identically to the bride and carrying a basket of rose petals and mums, served as flower girl, followed by [illegible] Franke, nephew of the bride, as ringbearer.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Bob Wald of St. Hilaire, his brother, with David [illegible] serving as groomsman. Ushers were James Kresel and [illegible] Scott. All he gentlemen of the bridal party wore white dinner jackets, black trousers and white carnation boutonnieres.

Approximately 130 relatives and friends attended the luncheon served at St. Bernard's hall. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Franke. Mrs. James Kresel, godmother of the bridegroom, cut the wedding cake, while Wenell Senger, cousin of the bridegroom, served the punch. Waitresses were Mariann Lawson and Sharon Rude with Mrs. Aurelia Lawson in charge of the serving.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

I am sure that the accounts of recent council proceedings have furnished the readers of the Times with quite a few free chuckles. And then we have the added touch of a splashy, huckster-type paid advertisement in the Times wherein an alderman-at-large alleges martyrdom at the hands of the Mayor.

All of this resulted from an irresponsible accusation made by him.

This, in retrospect, is a little humorous and I am somewhat reluctant even to dignify this sort of activity with a reply.

It is regrettable, however, when the relationships on the City Council degenerate to the point where we are forced into a ridiculous public exchange of charges and counter-charges. It is certainly not in keeping with the dignity of the office involved and, as a matter of fact, holds the entire city government up to public ridicule. It also makes doing any kind of business before the Council unpleasant.

This councilman should not be permitted to make political capital out of his antics and, therefore, I hope in the following paragraphs to shed the light of truth and accuracy on some of the things which transpired.

At the Council meeting of September 15th this alderman alleged that I had obtained preferential treatment from the street department through my office as Mayor. The truth of the matter is that during all my tenure I have endured a condition little short of intolerable alongside my home, but have deliberately avoided ever requesting that it be repaired. My street was blacktopped, assessed and paid for, one year before I bought my home, but since then it had deteriorated badly. Never once did I request or receive repairs, even though the City had the responsibility of maintenance.

The strange thing is that this Aldermen had repairs made to the street in front of his home some weeks prior to the time repairs were made near mine. This must have been according to his personal "Work Plan" he talks about. I am not aware that any photograph was made with his home in the background however.

The paid advertisement would have you believe that I bragged that I was a skillful politician. This word "politician" has many meanings — some of them very flattering, and I am not insulted by being called a politician. For instance, Webster defines "politician" as "one who is versed or experienced in the science of Government." However, all I stated was that I was enough of a politician to know that I should not obtain special favors for myself. (Please read the write-up in the Times of September 17th.)

I did state, and still believe, that it is too much responsibility for one man to approve purchases and bills that border on or are over the legal limit. I stated, and still believe, that we should advertise for bids for road oil just as we do and have done for years in the purchase of coal. Advertising for bids normally results in savings to the city and gives local interested suppliers equal opportunities to bid.

I have always supported and requested good, well-planned street improvements and I think it can certainly be said that progress has been made. Nevertheless, a good deal of poor street work has been done under this alderman's personal "work plan." A good example is North Kneale Avenue between First and Third Street where the street received this special salt treatment and then was hurriedly covered up with an expensive oil treatment following many complaints of property owners on that street. After just a few weeks this street was again in such horrible condition that it was torn up and we are right back where we started — money down the rat-hole.

I could go on commenting on his advertisement but, suffice it to say that none of this alderman's "defenses" stand up under examination.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks to all of the people of Thief River Falls who have given me the honor and allowed me to serve as Mayor for two terms. While it has been exhausting at times, I have enjoyed working for the good of the city and faithfully representing it to the best of my ability. I have seen accomplishments and progress and I am proud to have been part of a team that has worked for the betterment of the community.

Tests Set for Navy Reserve Officers

November 14 Is Deadline for High School Seniors

High school seniors and graduates have only until November 14 to apply for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps, V. Adm. H. P. Smith, chief of naval personnel, said today. Applicants will take the nationwide competitive examination December 12 as the first step toward an appointment as midshipman.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice which has an NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives an annual retainer of $600 for four years. During the summers the student goes on interesting training cruises to many parts of the world. After completing the usual four year college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty as a prospective career officer with the Navy's far-flung fleets.

High school senior and graduates who have reached the 17th anniversary of birth and have not reached the 21st anniversary of birthday on July 1, 1960, may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be given a rigid physical exam early in 1960. From the pool of qualified young men remaining in competition, approximately 1600 will be selected to begin their naval careers next September.

To the Voters of Thief River Falls

During the past several weeks much interest has been directed at the City Council and the actions of various members. I believe that as a member of the Council and as a candidate for re-election it is right that I point out several matters to the public.

In the small political world that we have in our city it is with some amusement that I hear a candidate for the council, A. J. Rau, state that he is not a politician and that there is no place on the city council for a politician.

When I consider the following actions of the city council and the voting on the actions I believe that the description of politician, whether it be good or bad, can certainly be used in describing Mr. Rau.

For your consideration I suggest you check the official proceedings of the council and you will find these developments:

On Jan. 20, 1959—Rau introduced a resolution to consider improvement of Storm Sewer District 3 at a total cost of $356,000. All voted in favor.

On March 17, 1959—All councilmen, including Rau, voted in favor of proceeding with the project.

On June 16, 1959—All councilmen, including Rau, voted in favor of a resolution approving the plans and specifications.

On June 22, 1959—All councilmen, including Rau, voted in favor of a resolution to advertise for bids.

On July 21, 1959—All councilmen, including Rau, voted in favor of a resolution accepting the bid of the Central States Co.

On August 18, 1959—Rau introduced and voted for a resolution declaring the cost of the improvement to be assessed at $133,000 and instructed the clerk and city engineer to prepare the assessment rolls.

On Sept. 15, 1959—All councilmen, including Rau, voted in favor of a resolution receiving the assessment rolls and setting the date for hearing as October 5.

On Oct. 5, 1959—The assessment hearing was held. Councilman Rau was absent and the hearing was adjourned to the regular council meeting.

On Oct. 20, 1959—All councilmen except Rau voted in favor of a resolution to adopt the assessment roll and to spread the payments over a 20 year period. ALDERMAN RAU ABSTAINED FROM VOTING.

In view of the actions listed it would seem that the nearness of the municipal election might have had some effect on Alderman Rau suddenly feeling that he didn't know how to vote on the important measure that the council had worked on for several months.

I believe that office holders have the obligation to cast their ballot either for or against. I certainly hope that men elected on November 3rd will be men who have the courage to vote as they deem right.

Respectfully,

Livestock Feeding and Market Outlook To Be Topic Nov. 5th

"Outlook and Livestock Feeding" will be the subject for discussion at a farm meeting set for Thursday, November 5, at ... p.m. in the court house meeting room. The information presented will be of importance and interest to all farmers.

The outlook portion of the meeting will look into such problems as: How is the large pig crop going to affect future hog prices? Is this the time to be going into hogs or should a farmer consider sheep instead? Is it advisable to go into sheep or expand flock numbers? Are feeding profits going to be eliminated next year? What is the most economical size of herd of cattle or sheep? Is the bright dairy picture going to continue to improve?

There will be some of the questions answered by "Outlook," according to county agent Paul Stelmaschuk. The outlook portion of the program will be conducted by Paul Hasbargen, extension economics specialist, University of Minnesota.

The second portion of the program will be livestock feeding. Some highly important changes are being made because of research with antibiotic stilbestrol and hormone feeding, as well as ...tizing of feeds. Where is the breaking even point and what are the profitable levels of feeding these materials? How much can a ration containing these materials improve rate of gain? What is the profit over cost? These are the questions to be answered during the livestock feeding portion of the meeting. Research is changing the feeding programs continually and farmers need to get the latest information on new developments.

Robert Jacobson, extension livestock specialist, will be the speaker.

All farmers are urged to mark the date November 5 on their calendar and to attend the meeting. The material to be presented is important to all farmers who are engaged in dairy, crops, beef, sheep, or swine production, Stelmaschuk stated.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Prowlers from Cripple Creek

What could well be the last game of the season (the Detroit Lakes Lakers are slated to play here on Nov. 6, but this game, which was originally slated for October 9 and was postponed, will be dependent on the weather and playing field conditions) will occur on Friday night when the Crookston Pirates invade Lincoln field for a Northwest conference football game.

It will be a badly-crippled Prowler squad that will take the field against coach Lowell Larson's Pirates. Missing from the action (in addition to quarterback Dale Wennberg, who has been sidelined for a number of weeks) will be co-captain Peter Iverson, who suffered a mild concussion in last week's losing effort against Bemidji, Larry Haugen, who ripped loose some ligaments in his left shoulder when he was downed after making a fine run after intercepting a pass, and defensive end Benji Martin, who has a touch of the flu.

Iverson, after playing much of the season at fullback, had been shifted to end, where his aggressiveness and competitiveness proved a bulwark for the Prowlers on offense and defense. Haugen and Martin have been in action mostly as members of the Prowlers' defensive unit. Coach Joe Mrkonich will have to make some shifts in the defensive assignments on Friday.

With the possible exception of the athletic rivalry with the Bemidji Lumberjacks, the competition between the Prowlers and the Crookston Pirates, in football, basketball and baseball is the most intense.

The football competition between the Prowlers and the Pirates had its origin back in 1915, with Crookston winning by a 40 to 0 score, and has, since 1920 (with the exception of 1931) continued every year.

The Prowlers, although losing in 1957, 20 to 14, and in 1958, by a 12 to 7 score, hold a marked advantage in the series, having scored 27 wins, taken nine losses and played four ties.

The most lop-sided game in the long series was recorded in 1953 when coach Ralph Skay's (he spelled his name Skjod in those days) club defeated Crookston 60 to 6. In that game, left halfback Bob Helgeland thrilled the fans by scoring three touchdowns, racking up runs of 37, 44, and 39 yards to reach touchdown territory. It's a certainty that Friday night's game here won't find the scoring reaching those figures.

Gunder Gets a Buck

Gunder Legvold, one of the city's veteran bow-hunters, returned to town Saturday afternoon with a spiked buck that he had killed earlier in the afternoon. Gunder, using an Ace broadhead arrow and a Bear Kodiak special bow, killed the deer by complete penetration from a distance of about 30 yards.

He was hunting in the Beltrami Island state forest when he made the kill.

Congratulations to Gunder. But we haven't had any reports from John Anderson and Ted Kusmak.

The Evidence

In spite of the protestations of game and fish director Jim Kimball that there isn't any shortage of pheasants or that there has been a decline in the pheasant population, the evidence continues to pile up that the weekend's pheasant hunting was fair to poor, with the emphasis on poor.

It is the contention of the game and fish department that if there is a shortage of pheasants, and they will argue the point, this shortage is due to the lack of reproduction. Now that's a profound statement!

Reputable witnesses, farmers and sportsmen, have told us that great numbers of pheasants were in evidence during the early summer, and as late as June the indications were that this season would be of banner proportions as far as pheasant hunting was concerned. The contrary has been the experience of the majority of the hunters.

There have been instances of successful hunting trips. Orvis and Gordon Olen and their party of eight, and getting invaluable help from Gordon's three Brittany Spaniels, bagged 35 pheasants hunting in the area south of Herman. The Skomedal-Rupprecht party of 12, in spite of some poor guiding by Leonard Furuseth, who was always leading the group into barb-wire entanglements and out into plowed fields, had 19 pheasants in the game bag.

And a successful hunting trip was reported by Bill Palmquist and Carl Peterson of St. Hilaire, and Hjalmer Peterson and Christ Haugen, local residents. The quartet, ably assisted by Bill's dog, "King," filled their limit by 3 p.m. Saturday. The party hunted in an area about 15 miles southeast of Moorhead. They report that the birds were all young, with one exception, and in good condition.

Social Security Man Offers Advice

Persons of Retirement Age Should See Agent Early

A representative from the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security Administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, Nov. 3, at 10 a.m. He will answer questions about social security and accept claims for benefits.

Do you plan to retire soon? If so, Walter D. Kistler, district manager of the Grand Forks social security office offers the following pointers on things you can do to assure that your first check will reach you on time.

First, inquire several months ahead to find out exactly what proofs you will be asked to submit so that you can be sure to have those necessary to establish your claim for payments.

Then, file your claim a month to six weeks before you actually retire.

These two steps might save considerable delay in the issuance of your first check, Mr. Kistler says. He points out that his office handles thousands of new applications for monthly benefits each year and therefore early filing is important to assure prompt initial payment.

State Auto Assn. Enjoys Best Year

Membership in State Group Grew by 22,000

The Minnesota State Automobile Assn. (AAA) recorded its top year for membership in the organization's 52 years of existence during the past twelve months. It also broke all records for its travel service and emergency road service to AAA members in Minnesota.

"More than 22,000 motoring families in Minnesota joined AAA membership ranks during the past fiscal year," Hugh M. Craig, executive secretary of the motoring organization, told directors of the Minnesota AAA at its 53rd annual meeting in Minneapolis today.

Craig said AAA came to the rescue of stranded motorists in Minnesota more than 200,000 times in the past year. Dead batteries, flat tires and cars stuck in snow, mud, or ditches were the main troubles of motorists in distress.

Total AAA membership in Minnesota has passed the 133,000 mark, while AAA membership in the United States has reached 6½ million members.

Make-Believe

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Philippians	1	18-19
Monday	Luke	12	22-30
Tuesday	Philippians	4	12-13
Wednesday	Job	11	18-19
Thursday	Colossians	4	2-4
Friday	Matthew	10	12-16
Saturday	Romans	11	33-36

This is make-believe . . . tying a bundle to a stick and pretending to set forth upon a great journey. His lively little imagination glows as he thinks of all the things that will happen on his adventure. Maybe, right around that bend in the road, he'll run smack into a big brown bear . . .

And because that's a "scary" idea, he takes off his hat, puts down his bundle, and contents himself with playing blocks in the middle of the living room floor. Yes . . . it's fun to make-believe. But only when you can do it right in the safety of your own home!

Home, just now, is his place. In it, he feels a wonderful sense of security, basking in his parents' love, knowing by instinct that they are there to help and guide him. At night when he kneels to say his prayers, his mother tells him the beautiful story of Christ. She is preparing him for the day when he will go to Church School, when he will become part of the Church. She knows that, during his life, when he actually sets forth upon journeys, the Church will be his home, and that it will help protect and guide him when she cannot.

Forest Rangers Will Eaxmine Shipments of Christmas Trees

A roving patrol of forest rangers will be on the highways of northern Minnesota during November and part of December to check on persons transporting Christmas trees, C. L. Graham, director of the division of forestry, announced today.

"Laws regulating the cutting and transporting of Christmas trees are for the purpose of conserving the state's forest resources and public lands," Lawson said. "All that is necessary for anyone to transport trees is to have according to show he was given or purchased the trees and that they were not cut from any forestry station or officer, or any Forestry Office, State Office Building, St. Paul, which allow legal possession and transport of such trees. They are free for the asking.

Residents of northern Minnesota, hunters and fishermen making an annual trip to the woods who desire to secure their Christmas tree to carry home in the car should be sure to obtain the necessary slips of authority.

Wholesale cutting operations will start as soon as weather and temperatures indicate winter has set in, usually after November 1. Cutting will continue until the supply is exhausted, but not later than the last week in December.

Some trees will be transported immediately to industries which

Harry A. Sieben Says Motorists Should Be on Lookout Halloween Night

Keep Halloween safe for young pedestrians," Minnesota motorists were warned today by Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director. "Tricks and treats mean a gay night, out of doors, for thousands of children on the night of the evening.

Sieben noted that a number of communities had designated Friday, October 30, as "tricks and treats" night to coincide with school parties and activities. In such events children will be out both Friday and Saturday in city residential and near-by neighborhoods at private parties.

"Adults have the obligation of keeping youngsters safe," Sieben said. "Be sure costumes and look inexpensive and masks that too often cut down the vision of the kids or of the all community projects in Minnesota on the basis of effective community effort to encouraging motorists to have time, although caution is always in order, children are apt to be on the streets.

Some 600 cooperative representatives and 200 Minnesota farm youth, including Sharon Stenerson, Thief River Falls, and Jim Clifton, Warren, gather in the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives and the 12th annual youth cooperative conference for youth in St. Paul, Monday and Tuesday.

Johnson told the banquet audiences Monday night that "our basic problem is the telegraf part of the free-enterprise system and its greatest safety valve — the right and the opportunity to do big things."

In spite of decentralization in our economy, it is clear now that the modern cooperatives must be big and able to deal head out with other giants."

They told an audience of 600 cooperative representatives and 200 Minnesota Farm Youth about the activities of their organizations at the annual cooperative conference for youth, in Hotel Lowry.

Defense Education?

Uncle Sam's billion dollar defense education program is now moving into its second year and the experts will soon be able to disagree among themselves as to just what is being accomplished by this new federal subsidy. We are interested in the fact that up to now $60,500,000 has been made available to 1,370 participating colleges and universities to establish or expand student loan programs. The schools will have to put $1 into the fund for each $9 advanced by the government.

Maybe this program would have merit if it required that these loans must be repaid in the field of foreign service. The backward nations are greatly in need of medical, dental, engineering and other special services and the Communists are making good progress in meeting these needs. Professionally trained young men and women are being prepared for special assignments in their foreign service, including language studies to prepare them for particular areas.

Such an army of professionally trained and thoroughly indoctrinated Communists probably will prove to be a much more effective force in the conquest of the world than jet planes and intercontinental missiles. There is need in the world for thousands of young Americans in this field, and the young Americans who would devote a few years of their life to this kind of service would be making an important contribution to the security of our nation.

We could become enthusiastic for a program of federal aid to education if it were tied down to an objective of this kind. The cost could properly be charged to military defense.

One More Study?

State Master William B. Pearson of the Minnesota Grange, speaking to a convention of that organization recently, recommended that the University Farm School in St. Paul be reorganized as a separate University of Agriculture. He supported his position by referring to the long record of the Grange in supporting agricultural education. He is of the opinion that the Farm School is not given sufficient recognition by the present Board of Regents and that the needs for a better agricultural education program, and more farm research, are not fairly presented to the legislature.

Such a division probably would be in the best interests of both the Farm School and the University. We are satisfied that the University, as such, is already much too large and, because of bigness, is not doing a good job in the field of quality production. In spite of its great increase in size it is not graduating any more medical doctors, dentists, lawyers or pharmacists than it did 30 years ago. And if you get an appraisal of the University a few hundred miles from Minnesota you learn that this is not looked upon as one of the great schools of the country. It isn't one of the great schools of the Big Ten group, and the Big Ten is far from tops in the nation.

Our state is not now doing a good job in the field of higher education. At the University and at the state colleges the emphasis is on big enrollment. State college standards are shamefully low, and the taxpayers are not getting a fair return for the many millions of dollars that are wasted in the support of these diploma mills.

The answer to the problem is to make these state schools better. They have been expanded far beyond the actual needs of the areas they are intended to serve, and if reasonably high scholastic standards were maintained we would have an abundance of classroom space for deserving students for many years to come.

We have had many studies of the needs of higher education in Minnesota. Most of them have been slanted, set up largely for the purpose of justifying a special program. We would suggest one more study, to be made by some reputable national research organization, and to include several educators of national reputation, to appraise what we now have, and suggest what should be done to get the best results with what we now have. Such a study, if completely objective and not influenced by political considerations, would do much to clear the air of many present misunderstandings that stand in the way of progress.

Our Best Wishes for Success

Will C. Turnbladh, who has returned to Minnesota to accept an appointment as the state's new Commissioner of Corrections, is accepting his responsibilities with a great deal of confidence in the new program that is being established here. He will have the best wishes for success from all good citizens. He faces a problem for which, up to the present time, no completely satisfactory solution has been found.

Some years ago we adopted a Youth Conservation program that was patterned after a plan that had been experimented with in California. Under the Youth Conservation plan the emphasis was on rehabilitation, and punishment was relegated to the background. The hoods were to be converted by kindness. Few citizens now look upon the Y.C.C. as a success, and many judges and other law enforcement officials have stated that instead of improving conditions it has made matters worse.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Turnbladh thinks there is a place for punishment in the rehabilitation program. That establishes him as a reformer who is not just another dreamer, and that is good. We have much faith in the effectiveness of both punishment and reward in dealing with problem people. The prime objective of both punishment and reward must be an inculcation of respect for authority.

Mr. Turnbladh did suggest that to do a really big job would require a really big organization, and on that point we would like to suggest to him that the big organization, at best, will be slow in coming. Y.C.C. officials, who started out with great enthusiasm and confidence, soon started to complain that they were not doing as well as they had hoped to do because they were inadequately staffed. It was the old story. From our observation no head of a government agency ever has a large enough staff, and Mr. Turnbladh probably will have this same experience.

How close he will come to getting the kind of a staff he would want will probably depend largely on how much he will be able to accomplish with an "inadequate" organization. That will be the real test of his own capacity and the record on which his program will be judged.

Fund Raising Headache

Community Chest officials were embarrassed last week by the demand made by a representative of the American Cancer Society that that organization be not included in the Pennington County fund drive. The name of the organization had been put on the list in good faith. In some places the society does consent to inclusion in such united fund raising efforts.

It is regrettable that all organizations that look to fund raising by popular subscription as their principal source of revenue will not be considerate of the wishes of contributors who prefer to make their contributions on the one-drive basis. Because we do not like the attitude of such organizations, we have refused, in recent years, to give to any organization that will not accept our contribution in the way we prefer to make it.

Our Community Chest directors this year are getting off to a good start in establishing a payroll-deduction plan for contributions. In many cities such a plan has been recommended by both organized management and organized labor. This plan should be given encouragement here. With such a plan, and a community determination to give only to organizations that will recognize and cooperate with the community, and respect the wishes of contributors on how they prefer to give, the Community Chest idea will succeed. And without a program of this kind we will revert to chaos and the dozens of solicitations that will be attempted, with each organization begging not only for money but for workers as well.

These goblins always get you

When ghosts walk and witches gibber, no household is safe. The goblins ring every doorbell. And at this point, we wish to say that the goblins have got us, too. We know that today's goblins are tomorrow's citizens, and a way to mould good citizens is to help them cultivate thrift.

May we help with your boy or girl? Bring the child into our bank (with or without Halloween regalia) and let's get started with a savings account.

To the Citizens of Thief River Falls

I urge each and every voter to exercise his important privilege of voting in the City Election of November 3.

In declaring my candidacy for the office of Mayor, I do so with the awareness of the responsibilities of the office. I believe that the taxpayers are entitled to honest, efficient government and the most their tax dollars can provide. A City Council working together cooperatively to seek a solution to our City's problems can accomplish these ends.

I will work with the council you elect, listen to all sides of any problem and make recommendations when necessary. Any ordinances, orders or resolutions of the council will receive my very careful consideration before rejecting or accepting them.

I realize also that one of the responsibilities of the Mayor is the police department and I will endeavor to continue the efficient operation of this department.

I am most interested in the future of our City and I realize that it takes efficient planning to have a progressive community.

If elected your Mayor, I will proudly represent the City whenever called upon and will perform the duties and responsibilities of the office to the best of my abilities.

I will appreciate your vote in the November 3 election.

Receives Bronze Plaque

Gov. Orville Freeman and the president of the Minnesota Safety Council present Mrs. Agnes Israelson with a bronze plaque for superior law enforcement during her term as Mayor in 1955.

LET'S VOTE AND ELECT OUR FORMER MAYOR

Mrs. Agnes Israelson

Tuesday, November 3, 1959

Experienced, Qualified and a Proven Administrator for HONESTY In City Government

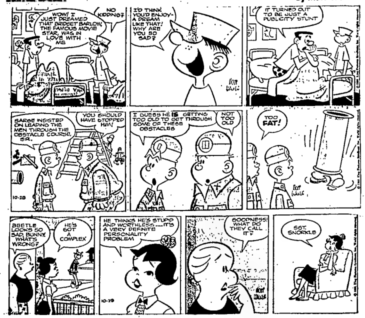
If elected Mayor, my intentions are to carry through the principles I believe in and have long fought for. I believe if any city is going to prosper it will mean that business, civic organizations and labor must work together to promote projects which will benefit our city for ALL PEOPLE.

I also believe that taxpayers' money must be wisely spent. We must concern ourselves with basic human problems. Many aged citizens are living on fixed incomes. Can they afford these increased tax rates? Can the rest of the citizens afford these high taxes and special assessments, with no increase in their earning capacity? One might ask, how well are we doing? Are we doing as well as we should? Unfortunately NO!

We cannot deny that new industry is developing all around us. The time is well overdue, we all know, that something must be done to increase the earning power in our city, or we will be left out just like we were by the Midwest Gas Transmission Company for natural gas. Warren, just 28 miles away, was included. Many new industries have been achieved around our area these last two years. Grafton obtained a Potato Flaking plant and the city of Grand Forks has a much larger one. Fosston is now in the process of building a half million dollar Potato Flaking Plant. Our very close neighbor, Red Lake Falls, will in the near future start rolling production machinery by the Alma Trailer Company and will employ about 60 people. What is the delay in our city? We have plenty of manpower, eager and willing for year-round employment.

Our city is well qualified for a reasonable sized industry. We are centrally located and have two good railroads —the Soo Line and Great Northern and we also have the trucking lines. New industry would increase their business and employment. Very little effort has been made to invite, secure, or attract any new industry into our city.

The educational output from our local Vocational and High Schools is large. Wouldn't it be worth our while, if we could retain some of these boys and girls, by enabling them to secure employment in our city?



If elected Mayor, I shall fervently work towards that goal. The time is NOW, so start boosting our city for an industrial site. A city government is elected to serve, not to dominate! All I ask is your support.

BE A GOOD CITIZEN AND VOTE ON ELECTION DAY, NOVEMBER 3rd!

Just Who Is Featherbedding?

Facts about Railroads and their Employes

In Memphis and the Mid-South live thousands of families; employes of railroads serving this area.

We own our homes, attend church, buy groceries, clothing, drugs, gasoline, furniture and accessories for our homes from you who are not directly connected with the railroad.

We, too, play an important role in our community affairs. We pay our taxes; we advocate better schools, clean government and other civic improvements that will afford everyone a better place in which to live.

Railroad employes have a notable heritage. We are proud of it, and would like to share with you some of our achievements and problems.

Railroad employes have the finest productivity record of any group of employes in the entire nation. Employe efficiency is at an all-time peak. This record of productivity is partly due to technological advances. New machines have furloughed thousands of maintenance of way employes. The consolidation of jobs, and the use of modern office equipment, have furloughed thousands of clerks in the railroad industry.

With the advent of the diesel locomotive, other thousands were laid off. Many railroad shops were closed completely; while others are being operated with skeleton forces. Likewise, operating employes lost thousands of jobs; in many instances, more than 50%.

An engineer now operates as many as four, or more, locomotives, and the fireman is responsible for the production of power in the same number of locomotives. The fireman is as important on a modern railroad locomotive as a co-pilot aboard a sleek commercial airliner.

In the days of steam engines, 100 cars were considered a big train; today 200 cars are not uncommon, and the same conductor, flagman and brakeman are responsible for the safe and efficient operation thereof.

From 1956 to 1959 the railroads laid off more than 230,000 employes; and Railroad management has no intention of calling them back to railroad service in any proportion to the upsurge in business activity.

What does this mean to the Railroads?

The Railroads are enjoying one of the highest levels of net income in their history. In the last four months of 1958 the railroads' rate of earning was better than $1 billion a year in net operating profits. Think of it; that's at an average rate of approximately $3,000,000 daily. In addition to fabulous profits, 190 new officials were added on the railroads between 1955 and 1957. The Boston and Maine Railroad increased the salary of its president from $25,000 to $75,000 a year between 1955 and 1957. President H. A. DeButts of the Southern Railroad drew a salary of $129,350 in 1957. The 58 top officials of the Southern Railroad received earnings of $1,667,510 in 1957.

In spite of fabulous profits, and salaries being paid railroad officials, the railroads' management has seen fit to launch a multi-million dollar propaganda campaign attempting to picture all railroad workers as "featherbedders" and over-paid incompetents. This reckless campaign of distorted facts by railroad management, is unparalled in the history of employer-employe relations. Railroad management spokesmen are openly threatening a lockout of railroad workers if they—and the public—do not surrender to rail management's demands for changes in the working rules of the operating employes.

Train and engine service employes, according to the Interstate Commerce Commission, get paid an average of only $2.38 an hour, certainly a low rate of pay for skilled workers in this day and age. Every class of railroad employes needs a substantial raise in wages in order to make them comparable to wages in other industries.

There are some outmoded work rules and conditions which should go.

(1) Railroad employes generally, do not receive a differential in pay between day and night work. This is an outmoded condition which should go.

(2) Railroad employes are not granted sick leaves. This is an outmoded condition which should go.

(3) Train service employes many times work as long as 14 hours without overtime pay. This is an outmoded rule which should go.

(5) Operating employes work Saturdays, Sundays and holidays for straight time wages. This is an outmoded rule which should go.

If every demand of the railroads were granted, it would not save the public one penny in the cost of railroad freight and passenger transportation. It would simply mean bigger profits, and fatter salaries to railroad officials. The only way by which the public will realize a saving in the cost of transportation is for the railroads to reduce rates. Let us look, for one moment, at the record. During the last 10 years, the railroads have laid off hundreds of thousands of employes; they have consolidated facilities and slaughtered passenger train service; all resulting in millions of dollars saved by the railroads. These savings were not passed on to the public; most of it went for bigger profits, bigger dividends and bigger salaries for railroad officials.

Railroads are not satisfied with their present fabulous profits; they are endeavoring to enter the mass transportation field. They want the right to transport freight by rails, highways, airways and waterways. This would tend to give them a monopoly in the transportation field.

We are beginning to wonder, just who is "featherbedding."

Listen to what President Von Willer of the Erie Railroad told an ICC rate case hearing in Kansas City, Mo., on November 26, 1956:

"In my opinion, Mr. Burchmore, the so-called featherbedding of railroad wages has been greatly exaggerated by railroad executives. There is very little so-called featherbedding."

Railroad employes do know one thing, i.e., if the railroads are permitted to get away with their vicious scheme, many more thousands will be laid off, and the public will pay for unsafe and inefficient rail transportation.

We believe the American people are too smart to be hoodwinked into believing the propaganda being splashed across the pages of our daily papers by the railroad magnates of our nation. Ask a railroad employe for the facts. He is probably your next door neighbor.

Doug Tegtmeier, master of ceremonies, stated that the program will include the invocation by Reverend Father K. Patnode, a welcome by president Sig Quam, and a response on behalf of the 4-H clubs by Margaret Wayne, Mavie club member.

During the dinner group singing and musical selections will be presented by Lorna and Karen Moe.

Miss Betty Elliott, state 4-H club agent, will give the address of the evening. Following that, Don M. Midwestern Gas Co. Given O.K. to Serve N.W. Towns

U.S. Power Commission Grants Request Subject to Getting Canadian Gas

The federal power commission (FPC) made a ruling in Washington Saturday that may bring natural gas to a dozen Minnesota communities.

The FPC authorized Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. to build a 58-million-dollar pipeline to import 204 million cubic feet of gas daily for use in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota and Michigan.

The ruling requires securing Canadian authorization for export of the gas, filing of satisfactory rates and showing firm proposals for financing the line. Midwestern expects to receive its gas supply from Trans-Canada Pipelines, Ltd.

The firm will sell to Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Co. and to Northern States Power Co., (NSP) Montana-Dakota Utilities Co., United Petroleum Gas Co., all of Minneapolis, and nine Minnesota communities.

The communities are Ada, Ar-

$822,858 Soil Bank Cash Paid out to Oct. 30

666 Pennington Co. Producers to Share; $74,000 Left to Pay

Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, announced today that $822,858.42 had been paid as of the close of business October 30, to 666 producers in the county who have contracts with the federal government under the soil bank program in 1959.

Approximately $74,000 remains to be paid to contract holders as soon as they sign and return the payment applications to the county ASC office.

Commodity Credit Corporation loan inspectors have reported the presence of mites in several bins of grain under loan, said Culkins. This could result in serious losses to the producers if immediate steps are not taken to control these parasites. All producers who have grain under loan are urged to inspect their grain bins without delay, and in the event that mites are discovered, take immediate steps to exterminate them.

Furnishing Rides to Polls Is Illegal under State Law

City Attorney Robert A. Wurst today called public attention to a Minnesota statute relating to the practice of providing transportation to the polls on election day. The law, he said, reads as follows:

"No person or committee, or organization shall convey or furnish any vehicle for conveying or bear any portion of any expense of conveying any voter to or from the polls, but this provision shall not apply to persons in the same household, nor shall it prohibit two or more voters from providing joint transportation for themselves by mutual agreement at their own expense."

Voters Will Fill 11 City Offices, Voice Views on Bond Issue

Doorbells in Thief River Falls will get a rest and suits with lapels wrinkled and soiled by being grasped by political candidates will be sent to the cleaners Tuesday when voters go to the polls to select eleven city officials for the next two-year term.

Activity increased during the latter part of the last week with campaign cards and folders blossoming out everywhere. Door-to-door personal calls by candidates and their workers increased as the week progressed with many meeting their opponents frequently during their canvassing.

"Committees for Good Government," formed in all wards to promote the candidacies of several aspirants, were matched in enthusiasm and hard work by other unnamed groups promoting the election of their candidates and by office-seekers working alone in their own behalf.

From the amount of discussion throughout the city and the tone of the discussions, the election may turn out a large number of voters. Backers of the two factions represented on the council are widely divergent on issues and are urging a strong vote to back their candidates.

Three candidates will have no opposition in their bids for re-election. Hazel C. Olson is the lone candidate for city treasurer. H. O. Chommie filed for re-election to the position of municipal judge and Stanley N. Mortenson, special municipal judge, is the only candidate for that position.

In the second ward, Art Christianson, R. A. Wegner and Martin Bothun are seeking the position of alderman now being filled by Roy Lee, who has filed for election as an alderman-at-large.

Olaf Dahlen, the incumbent alderman in the third ward, opposes Max Jensen; and Harry Ranum is running against the incumbent fourth ward alderman, S. A. Honebrink.

Three candidates are seeking

Halloween Festival Sponsored by Lions Termed Huge Success

Nearly 2,000 area youngsters took part in the annual community Halloween festival Saturday, Oct. 31, which was sponsored by the Lions club.

According to Ormond Johnson, general chairman of the festival, 1,200 to 1,400 grade school children attended the 2 p.m. matinee at the Falls theatre. A Shetland pony, donated to the Lions club by Stan Ranum, was won by Timothy Schultz, 619 Knight ave. N., a third-grade pupil at St. Bernard's school. Pupils registered for the drawing in their grade schools. As an added treat, ice cream bars and popsicles were given the children.

More than 300 junior high school pupils attended the costume roller skating party at the arena from 7:30 until 10:30 p.m. with the stock of skates in some sizes being exhausted. Prizes for the best skaters and for the best costumes were awarded. Assisting the arrangements for the party was the junior high school council.

With a live orchestra, the Arrows, playing for their dance from 9 until 11 p.m., senior high school students turned out in record numbers for what was described by the festival general chairman as the best teen-age dance in years. Silver dollar prizes were awarded every half hour to the group which was estimated at 350 students. Much of the work which went into this successful dance was done by the student council.

While most of the older children took part in the organized Halloween activities, the community was visited during the early evening hours by a host of spooks, hobgoblins, witches and

Interruption in Electric Service Here Early Friday

Equipment Failure at Minnkota Station Near City Causes Brief Break

Residents of some sections of Thief River Falls had an extra 30 minutes of sleep Thursday night, Oct. 29, but they had to make up the time by hurrying their breakfasts and appearing in public bleary-eyed and without shaves.

The electric alarm clocks, along with other electrical equipment, went out of commission some time after midnight Thursday when a voltage relay at the Minnkota switching station east of the city malfunctioned. After a 35 minute delay, company workers bypassed the relay until workers from the home office in Grand Forks could repair the damaged mechanism.

Service as far east as International Falls was cut off by the failure but was restored east of Thief River Falls when Minnkota plants at Warroad and Little Forks were put into operation.

In Thief River Falls, the power failure was general over the city for 17 minutes until the municipal generator were put into operation. First to be serviced was the western section of the city but the eastern section was without electricity for 30 minutes.

Farm Census Half Completed in Area

The 1959 census of agriculture is about 50 percent completed in this area, it was announced today by Field Director Guy A. Lutz of the Census Bureau's regional office at St. Paul.

The census official stated that he was well pleased with the cooperation the census takers are receiving from farmers in the area and has high hopes of completing the canvass within the next ten days. He pointed out that the field canvass of farms is one of the larger costs of the census and that cooperation of farmers in completing questionnaires promptly will be a vital factor in keeping down the final cost of the undertaking.

Quick completion of the census will not only help in keeping costs down but will aid in prompt publication of the results, the field director said. He urged local farmers who have not already done so to complete the census questionnaire and have it ready when the census taker calls.

Farmers to Get Data on Outlook and Stock Feeding on Thursday

Economics and livestock feeding, two subjects of high importance to area farmers will be discussed Thursday at the "Outlook and Livestock Feeding" meeting to be held at 8 p.m. in the court house meeting room.

Paul Hasbargen, extension specialist in economics with the University of Minnesota, will discuss the present volume of production of hogs, dairy, beef, sheep and crops. He will point out the trends in production. From this the farmer will be better able to chose an enterprise, expand it, or discontinue production of certain products depending on the outlook for the commodity. Economics plays a very vital part in the farm business and sheer volume doesn't assure profits.

Questions like these will be answered at the meeting: How will the large pig crop affect hog prices next year? Is this the time to expand dairy or sheep production? Is beef feeding to be profitable next year?

Following the outlook discussion, Robert Jacobs, livestock specialist will discuss livestock feeding. Does stilbestrol feeding produce profits in sheep and swine as it does in beef? What levels are best? Is antibiotic feeding necessary and economical? Should we pelletize feeds for sheep, swine and beef? What is the break-even point where pelletizing costs exceed profits? What are good rations for beef, sheep, and hogs? These and many other questions will be answered by Jacobs.

All farmers are urged to take part in this meeting on Thursday, stated County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. There will be information valuable to all, regardless of whether they are engaged in dairying, crop, sheep, hog, or beef farming.

Quinton Melgard, Pilot of Craft, Escaped with Minor Cut on His Face

Considerable damage was done to a Navion airplane Saturday afternoon when its engine failed a short distance east of the Thief River Falls municipal airport and the pilot was forced to land just outside the field boundary.

The pilot, Quinton Melgard, about 50, of Warren, escaped with only a minor facial cut.

According to eye witnesses Melgard had taken off to the south about 2:30 p.m. and was circling the field preparatory to going to Warren. They said the engine quit just east of the field.

Although Melgard was said to have had sufficient altitude to make the main runway, he apparently used too much time attempting to restart the engine and finally had to land in the triangular strip southeast of the administration building and just west of the county road which runs by the airport.

The plane, with landing gear extended, hit the old airport approach road only a few feet after touching down, the impact shearing off the left main gear and nose wheel. The plane then veered around so it slid almost tail first for a short distance.

After looking over the airplane, witnesses say the incident was believed to have been caused by Melgard's taking off on the auxiliary fuel tank, which was almost empty, instead of switching to one of the main tanks as he should have, prior to take-off.

The engine failed when the small auxiliary tank ran dry and the chain of events which followed resulted in over $2000 estimated damage to the plane.

TRF Man Stabbing Victim on Friday

Gary 'Doc' Carlson Gets Treatment for Two Wounds

A local man, Gary "Doc" Carlson, was treated and released from Northwestern hospital late Friday evening after he was found in a semi-conscious state in or near the Borchert trailer lot, with two cuts in his upper left arm.

City police have been unable to unearth any particulars in the case. Carlson and another local man reported they left the Mint cafe via the back door. The other person said he went up to alley toward another bar on E. Third st. while Carlson went in the other direction.

Somewhere near the Hartz supermarket, Carlson said, some men grabbed him and the next thing he knew the police were standing over him in the trailer lot. They had been called by an unnamed person who reported a man lying groaning and moaning in the trailer lot.

At the hospital it was discovered Carlson had two cuts on his left arm, each over two and one-half inches long but not deep. His leather jacket had several other slashes in it as well.

The man with Carlson at the Mint was questioned but no further information was gained from the man, who was cooperative with police and is not believed involved in any way.

Investigation is continuing, Police Chief Elton Cummings said today.

Mayor Asks Bond Issue Approval

In a pre-election interview over station KTRF Monday morning, Nov. 2, Mayor O. D. Belch urged voters to support the $225,000 bond issue to provide water storage facilities which will be on the Nov. 3 election ballot.

"If Thief River Falls is to grow, prosper and attract industry, we must have an adequate water supply and storage system," the mayor said. Dr. Belch is not a candidate for re-election in the city election.

"The dangerous conditions that exist are threatening the health and safety of our people and their property," he continued, pointing out that present facilities provide only a half-day supply of water in the elevated tank and underground reservoir.

He emphasized that the present facilities were installed about 50 years ago and are not only inadequate but in bad repair. Reports by engineers show that the elevated tank is corroded and that the underground reservoir is in danger of contamination.

Facilities provided by the bond issue would include a 250,000 gallon elevated tank, a one-million gallon underground storage reservoir near the water treatment plant, improvements in some of the water mains and an emergency power system for the pumping station. The present elevated tank would be used as part of the water system as long as possible and the underground reservoir would be abandoned.

Luth. Brotherhood Management Has Retained Control

Convention Delegates Support Administration of Pres. Carl Granrud

Delegates to the 15th general convention of Lutheran Brotherhood re-elected Arthur O Lee to the board of directors and named three new directors in a decisive vote of confidence in the fraternal life insurance society's administration, headed by Carl F. Granrud, president.

The election followed defeat of an anti-administration group's attempt to enlarge the board from 12 members to 15 in a move to gain control of the society.

New directors are:

Bertram M. Wilde, president of Janney, Dulles & Battles, Inc. Philadelphia investment banking firm, and president of the Board of Publication, United Lutheran Church in America.

Dr. A. R. Kretzmann, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church of St. Luke, Chicago, a congregation of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod; Dr. Kretzmann is widely known as a church arts consultant.

Harold C. Hoel, vice president in charge of the agency department at Lutheran Brotherhood and prominent lay member of the Evangelical Lutheran church.

The new board re-elected Mr. Granrud as president and J. A. O. Preus, former Minnesota governor, as chairman of the board. Mr. Granrud has been president since 1951, and Mr. Preus has been chairman since 1922, when that post was established.

The 1959 convention, held Oct. 28 at the Pick-Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis, drew nearly 1,300 delegates, by far the largest attendance in the society's 42-year history. Included were Harold G. Rasmussen, local agent for the insurance firm, and representatives of several Lutheran churches of this city.

FFA MEMBERS collected a record amount of grain Friday, Oct. 30, from area farmers for which they received $169.91 which will be donated to Camp Courage. The local chapter in five years turned over through the generosity of farmers' donations, a total of nearly $700 to the camp. Ten junior and senior FFA boys made the collection including Orrin Helegeland, Rt. 4, left; Oto Rehm, Rt. 3, center and Dennis Kainz, rt. 3, Goodridge, right, who are shown as they unloaded grain that they had collected.

Former State Attorney General Practices Here for One Year in 1909

G. Aaron Youngquist of Minneapolis, former Minnesota attorney general, who embarked on his distinguished legal career in Thief River Falls in 1909, died Thursday in a Minneapolis hospital at the age of 73.

He practiced here for one year after graduating from the St. Paul College of Law, and then moved to Crookston to practice from 1910 to 1921. He served as Polk county attorney from 1914 to 1918, when he entered the Army as a captain.

He became assistant Minnesota attorney general in 1921, serving until his election as attorney general in 1927. After one term in that office, he was appointed United States attorney general, serving until 1933.

It was during that period that he achieved national attention for directing an investigation that led to the prosecution of Chicago gangster Al Capone for income tax fraud.

He was a native of Skaraborgs, Sweden, coming to the United States with his parents in 1887. In 1952 he was named a commander in the Royal Order of Vasa, one of the Swedish government's highest honors.

W. Moscrip, Dairy Leader, Is Killed

N.W. Dairy Day Booster Dies in St. Paul Crash

William S. Moscrip, 81, nationally known leader in the dairy industry and known locally as a behind-the-scenes booster of Northwest Dairy Day, was killed in a car-truck crash in St. Paul Sunday morning. Also killed was Alfred Jensen, 75, who was Mr. Moscrip's first herdsman and who had been employed by him 61 years. One other occupant of the car escaped with minor injuries.

Mr. Moscrip was an international authority of livestock and dairy farming operations. Over a period of many years he had been an official of the Twin Cities Milk Producers Association, serving as its president 19 years.

He was a personal friend of Lew Conlon who has served as master of ceremonies of Northwest Dairy Day from the time it was organized, and Mr. Conlon has looked to him for guidance in the selection of the prize purebred calf that has been awarded as a prize at the Northwest show. Mr. Moscrip made a personal appearance at the show here last year and participated in the judging and in the program.

The fatal crash occurred when the car in which he was riding was hit broadside by a truck. He and his companions were on their way to a rifle range north of the city to sight their rifles for the deer season.

AN OPEN LETTER

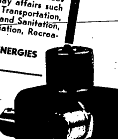
To the People of Thief River Falls

We wish to salute a sturdy and dedicated organization that is growing stronger and more aggressive every year. The Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce has consistently hit the ball without fanfare or cheers.

A Chamber of Commerce is a WORKING partnership of business, industrial and professional people and their interest in the community and area . . . an organization of PEOPLE . . . who know the WISDOM of coordinating their efforts under effective leadership for the civic, industrial and commercial advancement of the community.

The public has come to expect high standards of performance from a Chamber of Commerce; office procedures should be the most efficient, the employes the most accurate, courteous, alert, pleasant and helpful of any to be found in the area.

The premise on which a successful plan operates is to compel attention, awaken interest, initiate desire and finally motivate the potential leadership to action. This is accomplished with interesting, technically proficient progress reports and other informational methods to activate the members by using a central team (Board of Directors) as a cohesive force . . . in planning campaigns for subtle promotional purposes, there are no short cuts to the objectives, more is involved than merely hard work. Technical skills, a creative sensitive understanding, plus highly imaginative approaches to achieving specific results are necessary components.



In the always knotty problem of industrial development the Chamber of Commerce has moved boldly ahead, having helped form a corporation (Jobs Incorporated) to secure new industries. Sig Quam, the Chamber's able President, struck the keynote of this tremendous challenge in these words:

"In order to go out and attract a lot of new industry you must first understand that it is impossible economically to move present industry physically from one area to another. The real opportunity to obtain industry comes when a going concern is expanding. However, industry expands usually at the rate of from two to three per cent a year and so we have to compete with other communities in order to persuade industry to come here. This a program that our Chamber and Jobs Incorporated is dedicated to and has been working for."

In agricultural relations, Thief River Falls owes a great deal to the Chamber of Commerce for the fostering of friendly ties between the farmer and his Thief River Falls urban neighbor. Together, agriculture and industry make a formidable team in the Land O'Lakes.

The Chamber of Commerce uses special committees that have constantly endeavored in everyday affairs such as: Trade Promotion, Traffic, Education, Transportation, Legislative Affairs, Fire Prevention, Health and Sanitation, Agricultural Development, Water ways, Aviation, Recreation and International Relations.

Two Collisions Are Reported by Patrol

Two Crashes Involved Damage Totaling $375

Two property-damage accidents were reported by the highway patrol over the past weekend, with damage in the two collisions totaling about $375, the patrol office said today.

The first occurred about three miles south of the city on highway 32 at 12:30 p.m. Friday, when a car was driven out of a county road onto 32 by Hassen Forhart, rt. 5, and was struck by another vehicle driven north on 32 by Larry A. Dimmen, rt. 1, city.

About $200 damage was caused to Dimmen's car, $75 to Forhart's. No charges have been filed pending further investigation.

The second mishap occurred about 8:30 p.m. Saturday when a car was driven into the ditch along highway 59 near Barnick's Furniture Mart, by Richard Langevin, city, who said he went into the ditch to avoid hitting another car driven by Stanley Frank Jasnoch, city.

Both cars were traveling in the same direction and apparently Jasnoch made a signal to turn into the Barnick driveway then didn't make the turn. Damage in the mishap was estimated at $100 to the car driven by Langevin, the patrol said.

By STAN PETERSON

Election

Tomorrow, a few people in Thief River Falls will select city officials to govern their affairs and spend their money for the next two years.

"A few people" was said for, unless this election differs from those of the past, only a small percentage of eligible voters will turn out. Others will find a multitude of petty excuses why they can't take a few minutes to make known their preferences in candidates.

What is even more tragic will be the post-election reaction of these absent but eligible voters. They, above all others, are the "second guessers" and the belly-achers who "can't understand what the voters in this election were thinking of." Over their coffee cups and by means of telephones, they will deride the elected officials, extoll the virtues of those who were defeated and make dire predictions as to the future welfare and development of our city.

This absence of a large number of voters on election day is a dangerous thing. Any small but well-organized minority with a special interest which will be furthered by the election of its selected candidates or candidates can swing an election if there is sufficient voter apathy. Such an election could mean the unnecessary expenditure of your tax money, the improper conduct of city affairs and conditions which would set the city back even further than it is today.

The moral is plain to see. If you want the city run the way you feel is right, now is the time to do something about it. If you don't vote, you have no right to question the judgment of those who did.

Vote 'Yes'

One major item which will appear on the ballots tomorrow is the question of whether the city should spend $225,000 to build a water tank, underground reservoir and install the necessary piping. The situation which brought about the inclusion of this question on the ballots has been largely unexplained.

The present tank, built many years ago when the city was much smaller and which is smaller than the ones which service Plummer and St. Hilaire is inadequate for present and future needs.

The tank has been repaired again and again until it has reached a point where it is impossible to repair it without turning off all water in the city for an extended period. The steel shell of the tank to which the support legs are attached could very possibly give way to any time, completely shutting off the city's water supply.

The underground storage tank is cracked and surface water drains into it.

Fire insurance rates will never be lowered in the city until a more adequate water storage system is supplied.

Industry can never be attracted to a community until it can be assured a constant and adequate supply of water. That is one of the 1st facilities nearly every industry questions when it contemplates moving to a community and one which Thief River Falls, at the present time, cannot provide.

The city needs the facilities which would be provided by the $225,000 bond issue on which you will vote tomorrow. Let's be realistic — let's vote in favor of the bond issue.

Jepson Resigns Finance Co. Post

Peter Jepson, for the past two years manager of the Nides Finance company office in this city, announced today that he had resigned his position, effective October 31. He added that he will devote his full attention to the operation of the B&P Truck Line.

Cloutier's car sustained approximately $200 when it hit a car belonging to Harry Ranum, city, which was damaged to the extent of approximately $250. Another car belonging to Miss Fancha Connors, 311 N. Knight, was shoved into it, causing about $10 damage.

The other mishap occurred about 7:50 p.m. Saturday. Kenneth A. Manning reported he was driving east on E. Eighth st. when he met a car whose driver refused to dim his headlights. As a result, Manning told police, he pulled to the right and failed to see a parked car owned by John R. Duke in time to avoid collision. The mishap occurred near Atlantic av.

Approximately $125 damage was done to the Manning car, $250 to the Duke car. No charges have been filed.

Police reported a quiet, routine Halloween with the only matter of consequence being the theft of two wheel covers from a car belonging to Patrolman R. A. Werner. The wheel covers were valued at $18 each, Werner said.

The Prowlers scored a 7 to 0 win over a fumble-plagued Crookston Central team in a Northwest conference football game played here Friday night. The win lifted coach Joe Mrkonick's squad into a tie for third place with East Grand Forks. The Roseau Rams, defeating East Grand Forks, 13 to 9, at Roseau on Friday night, won the conference title, posting a record of four wins and no losses.

The below-freezing weather that prevailed on Friday night made for hazardous ball-handling, and fumbles proved to be the deciding factor in the game. The Prowlers gave up the ball twice on fumbles, while Crookston committed five ball-yielding bobbles.

In the first period, which saw the game's only touchdown being scored, Crookston, defending the north goal, accepted the kickoff, with Glenn Clark making an 18-yard return to the Pirates' 38. Crookston, with John Lysaker running for good yardage, picked up a first down to the Prowlers' 48. Roger Dewhurst, Curt Hannah, and Lysaker moved the ball to the Prowlers' 39 where the drive was halted when Prowler tackle Dennis Pederson recovered a Pirate fumble.

Fullback Jeff Hartje hit the line for a first down on the midfield stripe; Gary Klungness added six yards at left tackle, and then turned right end to the Crookston 30. Hartje and Steve Embury, hitting inside the tackles, picked up a pair of first downs to carry the ball to the Crookston 7-yard line. Hartje made three yards at left tackle; a Prowler penalty moved the ball to the 9-yard line; Klungness, on a sweep around right end, scored a touchdown, hitting the end zone just inside the boundary marker. Hartje, on a plunge over right guard, added the point, giving the Prowlers a 7 to 0 lead.

The game's most exciting play, and which was nullified by a Prowler illegal procedure penalty, occurred late in the second period. A kick by Crookston's Lysaker had been dead on the Prowler 4-yard line. A pair of running plays had picked up seven yards, and then, from the Prowler 11, right halfback Lloyd Ranum broke through left tackle and raced eighty-nine yards for a touchdown. But the play went for nought when the Prowlers were detected in an illegal procedure and penalized five yards.

In the second half, and particularly in the fourth period, the Crookston Pirates made several strong bids at scoring, being very effective on their passing pattern, with quarterback Gary Harris having success at hitting his targets. But fumbles proved costly, with Crookston giving up the ball on a fumble on the Prowler 20, with Pederson recovering for the locals.

In the fourth period, Ron Amundson recovered a Crookston bobble on the Prowlers' 42; and later in the period, Arlan Hjelle covered a Crookston fumble on the Prowlers' 29.

Jeff Hartje played a starring role for the Prowlers in their win over the Pirates, the chunky fullback carried the ball on seventeen plays from scrimmage and picked up 68 yards. On defense he was a bulwark, playing at guard he put on numerous rushes on the Crookston quarterback, and nabbed the Pirate signal-caller for several crucial tackles.

In the first-downs category, the Prowlers gained thirteen first downs while the Pirates picked up nine first downs. In the first half, the Prowlers held a nine to four advantage over the Pirates in first downs.

The summary:

Sportsmens' Club to Stage 'Biggest Deer' Contest

$25 Prize to Hunter Who Bags Largest Deer and Meets Terms of Contest

The Pennington County Sportsmen's club will hold a "largest deer" contest this fall, with the winner of the contest to take home a $25 cash prize, Gay Warnecke, club secretary, said today.

Warnecke said the contest proceeds will got toward the clubhouse building fund.

Hunters desiring to enter the contest will purchase entry blanks where they buy their license. The entry blank will be a two-part affair and when the contestant kills and tags his deer he must also affix half the entry form to the deer with the tag. His hunting license number must also be written on the contest tag and must correspond with the number on his deer tag and hunting license.

Entries will cost $1 each. An official weighing station will be set up at Fred's Mobil Service on Main av. at Fourth st., and the contest will close Nov. 17 at 6 p.m., the last day deer can be legally transported after season. The contest winner will be announced the same evening at the regular monthly meeting of the club, Warnecke said.

All deer entered in the contest must be field-dressed, he added. Entry forms will be available where deer licenses are sold in the city and at several out-of-town locations, and Warnecke urged that all hunters participate in the contest.

Congratulations, Roseau

The Roseau Rams made their debut into Northwest conference athletic competition most auspicious when, on Friday night, they defeated the East Grand Forks team, 13 to 0, to win the conference football title.

The Rams, coached by Ray Kavanagh, finished their conference play with a record of four wins and no losses. And the Rams turned in convincing wins as they moved through their conference opponents. Roseau opened with a 13 to 0 win over Bemidji Lumberjacks, followed with a 26 to 7 win oved Crookston Central, and added a 25 to 12 win over Thief River Falls.

The Roseau fans have enjoyed a couple of prosperous years as the Rams have turned in some "bonanza" seasons in athletics. Roseau has been supreme in high school hockey, won district titles in track, golf, and baseball and now they have added a football championship. The Northwest conference football title is well worth the struggle and toil that the team expends in their efforts to win the championship. The conference, comprising the teams from Bemidji, Roseau, Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks and Crookston, is perhaps the strongest high school football conference in northwestern Minnesota.

Game and Fish

From the evidence and the reports, it's a fact that the good hunters are bagging game birds, while the rest of us are just enjoying the glories of northwestern Minnesota's foliage, etc., etc.

We had a report of a successful shoot on partridge by Orlando Bishop and his party. Bish, who has been getting nation-wide notoriety from Home McCoy's articles in "Guns and Ammo" (Bishop's picture was used to embellish an article in the current issue of the magazine), reports that he bagged a limit of partridge hunting the area just off the Norris Camp territory, to the west of the camp. His report, though, is the only optimistic ruffed grouse hunting report we have received.

The duck hunters had some lively action this past week, during the middle of the week, that is, when a considerable flight of bluebills moved into Thief Lake.

And there are quite a number of late-season mallards in Mud lake, but to maneuver into position to get some action on these mature ducks is the problem. Last week, Rude Christianson and his party from Holt, had a limit shoot on mallards. They were out early in the morning, and were fortunate enough to intercept the feeding pattern of the mallards. The ducks were all prime birds, very fat and fullfeathered.

While the duck and bird hunters are scouring the by-ways, several of the anglers have been busily engaged in wrestling some chunky walleyes out of the pools below the dam. Having exceptional luck this past week were Phil Beadle and George Schlieff. Phil and George have been using spinning outfits, but have been baiting their hooks with minnows.

Miscellany

Included in the 18-man varsity basketball squad that has begun daily drills under coach Louie Bogan at North Dakota U are former—Prowlers Ken DeLap and Dave Hanson The two boys are sophomores and are well-regarded by the Sioux coaching staff. Ken, a six-foot four-inch forward, was a co-captain of the 1958 Prowler squad. Dave, a six-foot five-inch center, set a number of scoring records during his play as a Prowler . . . Dick Miller, a Prowler football letterman during the 1954 and 1955 seasons, is attending Bemidji State college, and he is a member of the Beaver football squad there. Bemidji is currently leading the state college conference race, and is favored to win the championship. . . Drayton's Tom Knoff is participating in the Florida instructional baseball league this fall and winter. Tom, a smooth-throwing southpaw, signed a New York Yankee contract last spring and spent the summer months pitching for the Kearney team in the Nebraska State league, is considered a prime prospect. We'll long remember that game played here between coach Ralph Skay's local American Legion juniors and the Drayton juniors, and which found Knoff hooking up in a duel with righthander Harlie Drees. Knoff won the game in eight innings, 1 to 0. . . Dave Hendrickson, the former Eveleth high school hockey star, and later a member of the Michigan State hockey squad, is the new hockey coach at Crookston Central. . . . Bill Taylor, Crookston's splendid all-round athlete who is now attending Harvard university, is running at a first-string halfback position on the Harvard freshman eleven. Bill and the Prowlers' Jerry Jorgenson are roommates.

Marshall Board Lets Contracts for Ditch Repairs in East Area

Three ditch repair jobs located in the eastern part of Marshall county were awarded by the Marshall county board of commissioners in special session at Warren Oct. 27. The projects involve work on County Ditches 32 and 20 and Judicial Ditch 63.

Herbert Holthusen of Grygla was the low bidder of the two major projects on County Ditches 20 and 32 while Oscar Schenkey of Middle River was the low bidder on a minor job on Judicial Ditch 63.

For the repair of Branches 2 and D of County Ditch 20, a distance of 10.1 miles located 3 miles north and 1 mile east of Goodridge, Holthusen bid $16,646.89. Other bids were as follows: Arnold Gunnufson, Gary, $18,409.56; Oscar Scehnkey, Middle River, $18,480.76; Clifford Hadeen, Thief River Falls, $19,853.12; Al Berggren, Crookston, $21,581.12 and Joe Halstensgaard, Fertile, $17,090.72.

Laterals 1, 2 and 4 of County Ditch 31, located 4 miles north of Goodridge is a project of 16.83 miles in length. Holthusen bid $23,704.24 on this project for the low bid. Other bidders were as follows: Oscar Schenkey, $29,859.68; Al Berggren, $29,093.56; Arnold Gunnufson, $25,934.68 and Joe Halstensgaard, $25,050.54.

Only two bidders submitted proposals for the small job on Branches 4 and 5 of Judicial Ditch 63 of Marshall and Roseau counties. Marshall county property will pay only about 7 per cent of the cost of the project which includes a ditch leading into Thief Lake. Oscar Schenkey was the successful bidder at $5,448.80 with Herbert Holthusen bidding $6,459.63 for the job.

Work on the projects will get under way in the spring and will be completed during the summer.

Senator Charges Authorities Lax on Tax Evaders

State Senator Wright Rejects Claim That State Loses $3,500,000 a Year

State Senator Don Wright of Minneapolis, chairman of the senate tax committee, today accused the state administration of "either falling down on income tax law enforcement or grossly overestimating the extent of evasion of the law."

Wright's accusation followed a report by State Tax Commissioner Joseph M. Robertson that 128 criminal charges against tax evaders smoked out 6,300 others who voluntarily paid income taxes totaling $500,000.

"The commissioner has been telling us the state is losing $3,500,000 a year in failure to pay income taxes," Wright said. "He said he collected $500,000. That is about one-seventh of the claimed delinquency. If 6,300 persons appeared voluntarily, does that mean there are still 38,000 violators going unpunished?

"If there are, what is he going to do about them? Why doesn't he go out and get them? After representing to the legislature that there are many thousands of tax evaders, he has been able to apprehend only 128 of them. The state tax department has access to files of the U.S. internal revenue service. It gets information returns from every employer in the state that set forth how much money was paid each employee. It has a large appropriation for enforcement of the law.

"It appears that the tax commissioner and the administration are so imbued with the idea we must have withholding to collect income taxes that he just can't get going on the enforcement phase of his job. Either that, or he must admit that the administration has grossly overestimated both the number of tax evaders and the amount they owe. I never have believed there are as many tax dodgers in Minnesota as the administration claims."

Churches Ask Funds to Send Surplus Food to Hungry Overseas

Thousands of Americans will be asked for $865,210 to feed more than twenty million hungry people overseas in a special appear to be launched during the Thanksgiving season to finance the 1960 Share Our Surplus program, through which three hundred million pounds of food from United States surplus will be distributed free in some twenty-five distress areas abroad.

Objectives of the appeal were announced today by Dr. R. Norris Wilson, executive director of Church World Service, National Council of Churches, which sponsors the program on behalf of major denominations in America.

Value of U. S. surplus commodities scheduled for distribution in 1960 through the SOS program, Dr. Wilson said, is approximated at slightly over $25 millions.

SOS foods, Dr. Wilson explained, come from the United States store of surplus commodities accumulated by the United States Commodity Credit Corporation under the agricultural price support system. They are made available to the churches without cost only after provision has been made for needy people in the United States.

The SOS foods, he said, are given in emergency relief to disaster victims, in supplemental feeding programs for widows, orphans and school children; in programs aiding hospital patients and aged people, and in assistance to refugees and others in distress.

Americans will make their gifts to Share Our Surplus this year at special community Thanksgiving services, in churches, church-related organizations, by individual contribution, or through the Christian Rural Overseas Program, CWS food-collection agency.

In the program's five-year history, Share Our Surplus foods, distributed by Church World Service, are credited with helping to save the lives and improve the health of millions throughout the world.

Areas scheduled to receive 1959-1960 CWS surplus shipments include Austria, Belgian Congo, Chile, Egypt, France, Germany, Ghana, Greece, Haiti, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Jordan, Korea, Lebanon, Liberia, Malaya, Nigeria, Okinawa, Pakistan, Poland, Taiwan, and Yugoslavia.

Vote Tuesday

A large vote is predicted for the city election tomorrow and we hope this prediction proves to be true. A large vote is always desirable. The results of a large vote are more indicative of public sentiment. A small vote may be representative only of a well organized minority.

While there are no clear-cut issues in the election, there is some bitterness based on questions already resolved. And some of the bitterness is based on differences that are just plain personal. That is unfortunate and it is to be hoped that such personal matters will not be carried over into the next administration.

Looking over the field of candidates, we are sure that the affairs of the city will be in good hands next year. But let's have a good turnout at the polls. A big vote will be much more satisfactory than a small vote. Vote as you please but vote Tuesday.

Vote "Yes"

A new water tank for the city of Thief River Falls is a "must" and it is our opinion, based on information we have received from people whose opinions we respect, that the bond issue proposal that will be submitted to the voters in the election tomorrow deserves a favorable decision.

The tank was checked last year by the representative of a company that specializes in the maintenance and repair of tanks. The tank was declared to be in a dangerous condition, the report reading:

"Lower two 5 ft. bands of shell very badly pitted. We estimate approximately 60 pits per sq. ft. These pits range from 1/32 to 1/8 inch in depth with about 50% of these pits being 1/8 in depth. Original thickness of this section of the tank was 1/4 inch. Replacement of these two bands only feasible type of repair.

"We would like to bring to your attention that the above section of your tank is the section that the leg standards are attached to, or in other words, this is the section that is holding your entire tank in place. Although your tank when erected was engineered so that it had 80% more tensile strength than was needed as a safety factor, you have now lost at least 50% of your original strength which in our estimation leaves the tank in a dangerous condition."

The question has been asked, why, if this is such an urgent need, doesn't the Council go ahead and make the necessary improvements. The answer is that a bond issue for such a purpose requires the approval of the voters. Revenue bonds cannot be sold because the water department has no net revenue.

It therefore follows that if this bond issue is not approved at the regular election tomorrow then the Council probably would have to call a special election for this purpose. The urgency of this need has not received the publicity such a matter deserves but we are satisfied that the need is urgent and that a "Yes" vote is justified.

We Are Happy to Agree

"What is a University?" asks the Minneapolis Tribune, and answers its own question by quoting Webster. Webster defines a university as "an institution organized for teaching and study in the higher branches of learning and empowered to confer degrees in special departments, as theology, law, medicine and arts. In the United States a university typically comprises a college and one or more graduate schools."

Now we are making some progress. The Minneapolis Tribune wants the University of Minnesota to grow great as a university. That is exactly what the Thief River Falls Times wants and has long advocated.

We want the University to become great as a university and not as a junior college. Over a period of years it has expanded enormously, and now is one of the great schools of our country—in enrollment—but not as a university.

During the past 30 years it has made little progress in "the higher branches of learning." While its facilities have been greatly expanded, it is not producing any more medical doctors, dentists, lawyers or pharmacists now than it did 30 years ago. The need for more production at the upper level has increased year by year but the University has failed to meet that need.

Instead it has expanded at the lower levels, providing for the junior college needs of Minneapolis and the metropolitan area at state expense.

Are We Penny Pinchers?

Minnesota citizens pay more taxes to support their state and local governments than do the citizens of most other states, according to a report by the federal census bureau released Saturday. The report was based on the figures for the year 1957. In that year Minnesota was 18th from the top among the spendingest states.

In relation to our ability to pay, according to our average incomes, we were in eighth place. In only seven other states were the people taxed more, according to their ability to pay, and in 40 other states the tax burden was not as great.

Minnesota's per capita tax outlay in 1957 was $260.64. Of this total $100.78 went for education, compared to a national average of $83; $53.32 went for roads, compared to a national average of $45.90; $22.40 was spent for public welfare, compared to a national average of $19.99, and $22.78 was for health and hospitals, compared to a national average of $18.79.

Figured as a percentage of personal income the Minnesota expenditures were $140.73 per $1,000 of income, compared to a national average of $116.94 per $1,000.

The spenders here in Minnesota will still tell us we are a bunch of penny pinchers and that for the sake of just a few dollars we are neglecting practically everything worthwhile. On this point, however, the facts speak for themselves.

More important at this time than the question about how much we spent is the always reasonable question as to how much we got for what we spent. Did we get a fair return on our investment? Were the dollars spent wisely or could we have, with better management, provided the essential services at a lower cost?

There would be disagreement about the answers but there always is justification for raising such questions. Organized pressure groups clamor constantly for more spending. Those who pay the bills, the taxpayers, as such, are not well organized. In self defense, and in the best interests of good government, they should organize.

Juvenile Decency

(New York Times)

The attention that juvenile delinquency has been getting recently has obscured for many New Yorkers the fact that only a fraction of our youngsters are involved in such activities. The Board of Education has pointed up the positive side of the picture with a report on the thousands of pupils who took part last year in constructive, civic-minded work under school auspices.

Juvenile decency may not draw sensational headlines, but it should be remembered that far more of the city's young people are actively engaged in worthwhile activities than ever ran afoul of the law. School civic clubs have led a community-wide clean-up campaign; run errands for elderly and disabled persons in the neighborhood; collected food and clothing for the children of needy coal miners, and helped raise funds to equip an educational center in Liberia, to name but a few of their activities. Certainly youngsters who devote their time to work like this are well on the road to good citizenship. They deserve our salute.

Most people do not like to be fooled. There are some who disagree with that generalization, who seem to think people want to think only about the brightest, most favorable or most promising features about any situation. But I am quite certain that most people want honesty. They certainly feel "taken in" when they know they have been or are being misled.

TV Honesty

Certainly the reaction to recent revelations about "rigged" quiz shows indicates popular reaction against fooling the public, even if done only to entertain them. Revelations of this kind tend to make the public suspicious—and the skepticism thus aroused may be a good thing. On the other hand, such suspicion may extend too far and result in a general public distrust of many things that should be above suspicion.

Intentional or Unintentional

Sometimes people are misled and fooled, even though no one deliberately tries to create a false impression, because the matter is complicated and unfamiliar. Intent is pretty hard to ascertain. Advertising and publicity naturally try to present the most favorable picture possible. Sometimes they count on a tendency of people to read carelessly and hastily, and to believe what they want to believe. How many people, for example, when they read that a certain proprietary medicine will "relieve the symptoms" of a disease, understand that this is no claim to relieve the disease itself, but perhaps only to kill pain?

Why Laws?

Many laws have been passed, both on the state and federal level, to try to prevent practices that would fool the people. Laws set up certain standards of information that must be met when securities are offered for sale. Laws exist to prevent misleading advertising. These laws to establish honesty in business not only serve to protect the public; they also protect honest business from unscrupulous competitors.

Another Law Needed

When people are generally fooled about something that affects their economic well-being, something should be done about it. One subject about which there is widespread misunderstanding today is the cost of credit. The majority of consumers who borrow money today do not know how much they pay for the use of that money.

Widespread Misunderstanding

A few years ago the Journal of Marketing reported that approximately two thirds of the users of instalment credit did not know either the amount of the carrying charge or the rate of interest on their latest instalment purchase. And an additional number of those who knew what the carrying charge was did not know how much this meant in actual interest rate.

A more recent Fortune survey reports gross misunderstanding with regard to one of the most common forms of credit, loans on automobiles. The average estimate made as to interest paid on car loans was 5½ per cent, whereas the actual interest being paid was 19 per cent. The borrowers were, on the average, paying more than three times as much as they thought they were paying.

Increasing Problem

This kind of consumer credit it rising at the most rapid rate in history, to the highest level it has ever reached. It is a more important part of the cost of living than most people realize. As of now it amounts to approximately 48 billion dollars in the United States, up nearly five billion in just one year. It is therefore becoming more and more important that people know what they pay for this credit.

This is why I have advocated, and continue to advocate a law requiring all forms of credit to state, in clear and understandable and comparable terms, the cost of credit in terms of its equivalent in annual simple interest rate.

Local Artists May Enter 'U' Art Show

Exhibit to Be Held in St. Paul January 4 to 15

Non-professional artists living in rural Minnesota or in a Minnesota town of 15,000 or less are eligible to enter the University of Minnesota's ninth Rural Art show, again being held on the St. Paul campus in January.

Artists must be of high school age or over.

The show will continue for two weeks this year, Jan. 4-15. It will open in the new Student Center the week before the University's Farm and Home Week.

The show is being extended to give more visitors and students the opportunity to see it, according to A. Russell Barton, chairman. During the month of February the American Swedish Institute will exhibit most of the paintings.

Works entered in the show must be original—not copies—and not previously exhibited in the Rural Art show. Artists may enter any type of painting, sculpture or graphic art.

Each artist will be limited to two entries. Management of the show reserves the right to select final exhibits.

Every entry must be accompanied by an application blank filled out completely. Application blanks and entry rules are available from Rural Art Show, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

Exhibits must reach the Student Center by Jan. 2, accompanied by an entry blank. Entries valued by the owner at more than $200 will not be accepted.

Biggest bargain in Thief River Falls. A year's subscription to the Times, only $4.00 a year in Northwestern Minnesota; $4.50 a year elsewhere.

Clerical Workers Make Most Use of Health Insurance

Survey Indicates 'White Collar' Workers Collect Oftener Than Farmers

Families headed by clerical workers use their health insurance more than any other families, the Health Insurance Institute reported today.

A nationwide consumer survey of health insurance, recently published by the Institute, revealed that certained occupational groups tended to have more health insurance claims than others.

The survey showed that white collar workers, such as clerical employees, and professional and technical personnel, received health insurance benefits about twice as frequently as farmers and farm laborers.

Some 49 per cent of all insured families headed by clerical workers reported they received benefits in the 12 months preceding the survey. Families headed by professional and technical personnel had claims less frequently, 39 per cent, as did those headed by managers and business proprietors, 37 per cent, the institute stated.

Farm families — including those headed by farmers, farm managers and farm laborers—had the lowest proportion of claims, 24 per cent.

The survey also showed families in various occupational groups differed in the kinds of health insurance coverage they had, and in the extent to which they had dependents insured, the institute said.

Employes of N.W. Breeders Guests at Annual Dinner

Two hundred and twenty employees and their wives of Consolidated Breeders Cooperative gathered in Minneapolis Thursday evening, October 22, for the annual party and recognition banquet, which was held prior to the refresher course for technicians on Friday. R. W. Seath, manager, acted as master of ceremonies and welcomed the group, giving special recognition to the former employees of Northwest Breeders of Roseau, who are now a part of Consolidated Breeders Cooperative.

Special recognition was also given to employees who have worked a number of years and to those who have serviced a large number of cows during the period of their employment.

A full program of instruction and inspirational talks made up the Friday program. Dr. C. L. Cole, chief of dairy husbandry, University Farm, moderated a panel discussion on "How to Work with Other Agricultural Agencies in Your Community".

Department heads of Consolidated Breeders Cooperative were also on the program.

WATERPOWERED MILLS

The romance of milling, particularly with the old waterpower mills, caught the public fancy and much has been said about the old mills both in music and in fiction.

The wheel shown above was one of the stone grinding wheels that turned the kernels of wheat or corn into grist and flour. Often power was supplied by a picturesque waterwheel.

This value of waterpower was one reason so many pioneer towns were built on the banks of streams . . . even when the streams were too small for navigation.

Farmers used to throw two sacks of grain over the back of a horse and take them to the mill. The miller ground one sack for the farmer and kept the other as his pay for the job although other terms were arranged later. Corn meal, ground by the old mills, as well as wheat, barley and rye, were necessities in the pioneer home.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

I am pleased to make a few comments in regard to your 30-Year Celebration of Community Progress.

It was gratifying to see the progress made in this community from the early days which led to the establishment of the Land O'Lakes plant. The inauguration of the "Self Help Plan" was successful due to the fine cooperation of creditors and neighbors who by continued patronage through Land O'Lakes paid for for their own indebtedness. It was encouraging to see the shifting trends that have taken place within Land O'Lakes as they are changes that have come about through progress. The new turkey eviscerating plant is a notable achievement for the area.

I was very happy to see the interest the dairymen are taking in the development of higher producing cows. The DHIA has proved its worth also in this area. The inauguration of Northwest Dairy Day, which is now known throughout the nation, is a worthy accomplishment.

It was interesting to notice the progress that has taken place in Thief River Falls industrially and otherwise, the enlargement of the schools and school district boundaries giving new opportunities for rural youth, the many new churches, and best of all the splendid church attendance which is now evident, I believe, in all the churches of the city.

Your turkey banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce for managers, fieldmen, boards of directors of districts no. 14 and 17, and the Land O'Lakes personnel in appreciation of the Land O'Lakes organization was a fitting testimonial of the Thief River Falls community.

In behalf of Mrs. Norby and myself, I wish to thank you for your invitation to be with you and thank you for your many kind words and acts throughout our stay.

B. O. Norby

State Delegation Plans Trip South

To Make Promotion Tour to New Orleans Nov. 29

Governor Orville L. Freeman plans to head a substantial delegation to Minnesota business leaders on another trade and travel promotion expedition, this time to New Orleans and St. Louis, November 29-December 3, inclusive. The group will be participating in the annual meeting of the Mississippi River Parkway Commission to be held at New Orleans on those days as well as calling on industrialists and those associated with vacation travel.

The Mississippi Parkway, now taking form and receiving identificaton all the way from the Gulf of Mexico to its intersection with the Trans-Canada Highway, is of large importance to the people of this state. Some 600 miles of its extent will be in Minnesota, more than in any other of the affected commonwealths.

Governor Freeman, supported by a wide range of civic and industrial agencies, will call the attention of business leaders along the river to the potentials of greater Pine to Palms travel and trade.

A colorful and dramatic type of presentation of Minnesota's sales program is being planned. All those, including wives, who feel they would like to be a part of such patriotic and worth while project are invited to participate in it. Details of the trip, which will be via Braniff Airlines, may be obtained from the department of business development at the capitol in St. Paul.

Midwest Council to Meet in St. Paul November 4th

The Midwest pheasant council has been called to a special one day meeting in St. Paul next Wednesday, November 4, according to George A. Selke, commissioner of conservation.

The council is composed of the pheasant specialist from twelve mid-western states, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Ohio, Wisconsin and Ontario, Canada. It was founded two years ago by the Association of Midwest Fish and Game Commissioners when they met in Minnesota.

The special meeting was mutually decided upon by state conservation administrators after Minnesota Director J. W. Kimball contacted five neighboring states by telephone. Commissioner Selke then invited each of the pheasant council states to send a technical representative to Saint Paul. In his letter Commissioner Selke expressed the concern of the states over the fact that the percentage of young pheasants being shot thorughout several states is below the desirable level.

The Midwest pheasant council will be asked to prepare a coordinated plan of research to be undertaken immediately by each state aimed at solving the problem of poor pheasant reproduction or excessive mortality of young pheasants.

SPECIAL NOTE: Remember, November 7 is the last day you can buy a license to take deer with firearms.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—Each month I get a check from VA for a disability I received while fighting in Korea. Will the amount of this check be changed because of the new pension law?

A—No. The new law applies only to veterans who receive pensions for non-service connected disabilities, and the widows and orphans of war veterans who died of non-service connected injuries or illness. Your check is compensation for service-connected disability. It will not be affected by the new pension law.

Q—I understand VA has recently liberalized its definition of change-of-course, for veterans attending school under the GI Bill. Will you please give an example of this new definition?

A—A veteran may now move from one GI training program to another, in cases where the first is prerequisite to, or generally required for, the second, without being charged with the one-and-only change of program allowed by law. An example would be a veteran who who set out in GI training with the objective of getting a BA degree, and who later decides to become a lawyer. Since work toward his BA degree is prerequisite to his study of law, he would not be counted with a change of course.

Q—I am a young man of 22, eligible for War Orphans schooling. May I file an application on my own, since I am over 21, or must my mother file in my behalf?

A—You may file your own application, since you are over 21. For young people under 21, application must be made by the living parent or guardian.

Q—I may have to put off making my GI loan payment temporarily. Will my lender charge me a penalty for late payment?

A—That would depend on the terms of your agreement with him. Since you are perhaps unfamiliar with those terms, we suggest you talk things over with your lender.

Q—I get compensation for a 50% service-connected disability and may now be entitled to more money because my only living parent, my father, is no longer able to work. How much more would I get if VA allows him as a dependent parent?

A—The extra compensation for one dependent parent is $4.75 a month.

Q—I have a $10,000 World War Two GI term insurance policy and would like to convert it. Do I have to convert it all to the same kind of permanent plan?

A—No. You may convert to more than one permanent plan if you wish. For example, $5,000 to ordinary life, $3,000 to 30-payment life, and $2,000 to an endowment plan. But whether you choose one or several permanent plans you may not convert less than $1,000 of your GI term insurance, and the amount converted must be in multiples of $500.

Q—I was totally and permanently disabled in an accident recently, and I now plan to apply to VA for a pension. In giving VA figures on my annual income, must I include income before I was disabled?

A—No. Income received prior to the date you became permanently and totally disabled is disregarded. Only income received from the date of your disability is counted for VA pension purposes.

Q—I am the widow of a World War I veteran, and I have a daughter in college who is receiving death compensation payments from VA. She will soon reach her 21st birthday, but she will still be in school. Will it be possible for the VA payments to continue?

A—No. Under law, compensation payments made to a child of a deceased veteran while she is in school may not be continued after she passes her 21st birthday.

What it does: Protects farmers buying special blends against poor workmanship, according to the State Department of Agriculture. State inspectors are authorized to take samples for laboratory analysis to determine if the blend is in accordance with the sales invoice of each individual order.

This is the first year that Howard Buscho in Steele county has gotten a crop off one particular field on an 8 per cent slope. He turned the trick by contour strip cropping the sandy loam area. And O. Properly constructed waterways often save a crop from devastation, simply by steering flood waters away. So it happened for W. M. Thomas, cooperator in the North Goodhue soil conservation district. He recently told Julius Kubler, SCS worker, that "the waterway saved me from flooding out and prevented a loss of 5 acres of corn this year."

No one in his right mind would pour fertilizer down a rat hole. But setting a match to straw, stalks or stubble is almost that bad. That material contains valuable organic matter, important to the soil and future crop yields, according to Curtis Overdahl, extension soils specialist at the University of Minnesota. His advice: Plow it under or work it down before planting another crop.

All redemptions will be made upon notice of call mailed not less than thirty (30) days in advance of the date specified for redemption to the holder, if known, of each bond to be redeemed, and to the bank at which the bonds are then payable. Holders who wish to receive such notice may register their names, addresses and bond numbers with the City Treasurer.

IT IS HEREBY CERTIFIED, RECITED, COVENANTED AND AGREED that all acts, conditions and things required by the Constitution and laws of the State of Minnesota to be done, to exist, to happen and to be performed preliminary to and in the issuance of this bond in order to make it a valid and binding general obligation of said City according to its terms, have been done, do exist, have happened and have been performed as so required; that the 1959 Storm Sewer Improvement Bond Sinking Fund has been duly created and provisions made for the support thereof by general ad valorem taxes heretofore levied and by special assessments heretofore agreed to be levied for the years and in aggregate amounts not less than 5% in excess of sums sufficient to pay the interest hereon and the principal hereof as they respectively become due, and additional taxes, if needed for such purpose, will be levied upon all taxable property in the City without limitation as to rate or amount; and that the issuance of this bond does not cause the indebtedness of said City to exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, by its City Council, has caused this bond to be executed in its behalf by the signature of its Mayor, attested by the signature of the City Clerk, and sealed with its official seal, and the appurtenant interest coupons to be executed and authenticated by the facsimile signatures of said Mayor and City Clerk, and this bond to be dated as of October 1, 1959.

4. Said bonds shall be prepared under the direction of the City Clerk and attorneys, and when so prepared shall be executed in behalf of the City by the signature of the Mayor, attested by the City Clerk, and the seal of said City shall be affixed to each thereof and the interest coupons shall be executed and authenticated by the printed, engraved, or facsimile signatures of the Mayor and the Clerk. When said bonds have been so executed and authenticated, they shall be delivered by the Treasurer to the purchaser upon payment of the par value of the bonds plus interest accrued thereon from date of issue until date of delivery.

5. There is hereby created and the City Treasurer shall hereafter maintain on the books and records of the City a separate and special fund designated as the "1959 Storm Sewer Improvement Fund," to which fund there shall be credited the entire proceeds of the sale of the improvement bonds herein authorized and the entire proceeds of the sale of any additional bonds which may hereafter be authorized for the purpose of paying the expenses of said improvement. There also shall be credited to said fund all of the collection of special assessments and interest thereon agreed to be levied for the purpose of paying the expenses of making said improvement. From said fund there shall be paid all expenses incurred and to be incurred by the City in the making of the improvement for Storm Sewer District No. 3 from the inception to the completion thereof, as such expenses are incurred and allowed until the cost thereof is paid in full. Any payments of principal or interest which may become due on the bonds herein or hereafter authorized on account of said improvement shall also be paid from said fund until the discontinuance thereof. When the cost of said improvement has been paid in full, said improvement fund shall be discontinued and any sum remaining therein shall be paid into the sinking fund described below.

6. There is hereby created a separate debt redemption fund for said Storm Sewer Improvement Bonds of 1959 and any further series of bonds which may hereafter be authorized and issued for the same purpose, which fund shall be designated as "1959 Storm Sewer Improvement Sinking Fund." Said fund shall be kept by the Treasurer apart from all other funds of the City and used for no other purpose than payment of principal and interest on the bonds herein authorized and any additional bonds which may be made payable therefrom in accordance with paragraph 7 hereof; provided, that if any payment shall become due when there is not sufficient money in said fund therefor the Treasurer shall pay the same from the general fund of the City, and said general fund shall be reimbursed for such advances out of the next collections of the special assessments and general ad valorem taxes levied on account of said improvement.

7. It is hereby estimated that the collections of the special assessments herein agreed to be levied and the general ad valorem taxes herein levied on account of said improvement will be sufficient to produce sums at least 5% in excess of the amounts needed to meet when due the principal and interest payments on the bonds herein authorized. The City hereby reserves the right to issue such additional series of bonds as may be necessary in order to complete the financing of the costs of constructing said improvement, payable from the funds created in paragraphs 5 and 6 hereof, provided that the City shall first have levied special assessments and/or general ad valorem taxes, appropriated to said funds, for the years and in the amounts sufficient to provide sums at least 5% in excess of the amounts needed to meet when due the principal and interest payments on all of such bonds. The City further recognizes its obligation, in the event that the moneys in said 1959 Storm Sewer Improvement Bond Sinking Fund are at any time insufficient for the payment of the principal and interest coming due or past due on any bonds payable from said fund, to levy each year a sufficient amount to take care of accumulated or anticipated deficiencies.

8. It is hereby determined and ordered that the sum of not less than ONE HUNDRED THIRTY-THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($133,000) of the cost of said improvement shall be paid by special assessments to be levied forthwith upon all assessable lots, pieces and parcels of land benefited thereby and located within the area proposed to be assessed, based upon the special benefits received by each such lot, piece or parcel. It is found and determined that said sum, hereafter to be assessed for said improvement does not exceed the total benefits conferred and to be conferred by said improvement upon all of said properties. The City hereby covenants and agrees that it will do and perform as soon as may be all acts and things necessary for the final and valid levy of special assessments for said improvement against benefited properties in an amount not less than above stated. In the event that any assessment levied for said improvement shall be at any time held invalid, due to any error, defect or irregularity in any action or proceeding taken or to be taken by the City or by this Council or by any of the City's officers or employees, either in the making of such assessments or in the performance of any condition precedent thereto, the City and this Council will forthwith do all such further acts and take all such further proceedings as may be required by law to make said assessments a valid and binding lien upon said property. Said assessments shall be payable in 20 equal consecutive annual installments, the first of said installments to be payable with general taxes for 1959, collectible with such taxes during the year 1960. Deferred installments shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum from the date of the resolution levying the assessment until December 31 of the year in which the installment is payable.

9. For the purpose of paying the remainder of the cost of said improvement which will not be paid from special assessments, there is hereby levied upon all of the taxable property in the City a direct, annual, ad valorem tax which shall be spread upon the tax rolls for the years and in the amounts stated below, said levies to be collected with and as a part of other general property taxes in the respective ensuing years:

Year	Amount	Year	Amount
1959	$3,000	1969	$5,000
1960	3,000	1970	5,000
1961	3,000	1971	5,000
1962	3,000	1972	5,000
1963	3,000	1973	5,000
1964	4,000	1974	5,000
1965	4,000	1975	6,000
1966	4,000	1976	6,000
1967	4,000	1977	6,000
1968	4,000	1978	6,000

Said taxes shall be irrepealable as long as any of said improvement bonds are outstanding and unpaid, provided, that the City reserves the right and power to reduce said levies by the amount of any moneys irrevocably appropriated to and actually paid into the 1959 Storm Sewer Improvement Sinking Fund other than the taxes and assessments herein pledged to said fund, in accordance with provisions of Minnesota Statutes 1957, Section 475.61.

10. The City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to file with the County Auditor of Pennington County a certified copy of this resolution, together with such other information as the County Auditor may require, and to obtain from said County Auditor a certificate that said bonds have been entered upon his bond register, and that the tax required for their payment has been levied.

11. The officers of the City and said County Auditor, are hereby authorized and directed to prepare and furnish to the purchaser of said bonds and to the attorneys approving the legality of the issuance thereof certified copies of all proceedings and records relating to said bonds and to the financial affairs of said City, and such other affidavits, certificates and information as may be required, to show the facts relating to the legality and marketability of said bonds as the same appear from the books and records under their custody and control or as otherwise known to them and such certificates, certified copies and affidavits, including any heretofore furnished, shall be deemed representations of the City as to the correctness of all statements contained therein.

To the Citizens of Thief River Falls

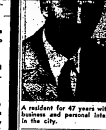
I urge each and every voter to exercise his important privilege of voting in the City Election of November 3.

In declaring my candidacy for the office of Mayor, I do so with the awareness of the responsibilities of the office. I believe that the taxpayers are entitled to honest, efficient government and the most their tax dollars can provide. A City Council working together cooperatively to seek a solution to our City's problems can accomplish these ends.

I will work with the council you elect, listen to all sides of any problem and make recommendations when necessary. Any ordinances, orders or resolutions of the council will receive my very careful consideration before rejecting or accepting them.

I realize also that one of the responsibilities of the Mayor is the police department and I will endeavor to continue the efficient operation of this department.

I am most interested in the future of our City and I realize that it takes efficient planning to have a progressive community.



If elected your Mayor, I will proudly represent the City whenever called upon and will perform the duties and responsibilities of the office to the best of my abilities.

I will appreciate your vote in the November 3 election.

Almost every family has a few pet phrases which mean almost nothing to outsiders or are often misunderstood by them. Words and phrases like these have a way of "sticking" with a family, sometimes over a period of many generations. The use of such "private" language within a family can have certain advantages, but it can also lead to a few difficulties.

Pschologists believe that one of the areas where the use of private language can lead to trouble is in sex education. Most parents dislike the "gutter" terms which we know to be associated with sex and we are willing to go to great lengths to avoid using them in our conversations in the family.

Still other parents go to the other extreme and "sugar coat" the language of sex. They make up slushy, sentimental "goody-goody" words which they teach their children to use when speaking of eliminative and genital organs and functions. The trouble with this is that it makes sex very special and without intending to do so parents who devise a private language place undue emphasis on the whole matter; and often reveal thereby their excessive concern about sex.

The proper names for the parts and functions involved in sex are not too difficult for children to understand and employ, and the regular use of the proper vocabulary results in a "matter-of factness" about the whole process. Children whose questions about sex are answered in correct language accept these terms in an offhand, unemotional way. Possession of a proper vocabulary helps them to think through their own questions more precisely and arrive at some correct answers on their own. To know the appropriate terms also gives the youngster a distinct advantage in dealing with these questions outside the home. There is no need for a lot of relearning when studying related matters in school, and the embarrassment of being the naive one is avoided. Finally, the child who is armed with a proper vocabulary will most likely be able to weather his experience with "gutter" language in the same way that he weathers many other temporary "ilings."

Raspberry canes may be laid down and covered completely with soil. Tip covering alone will usually be adequate if a good snow cover can be expected. It's the sudden changes in temperature during late winter that kill the canes rather than the extreme cold.

Don't cover strawberries too early. Wait until the plants have been hardened by a few frosts but before freezing weather sets in. Then cover the plants with a 2-3 inch cover of clean straw or marsh hay. Fruit buds will be injured if temperatures fall lower than 20 degrees F. before they are protected.

Locker Plants Tell Duck Hunting Story

How good was duck production this year? What kinds of ducks are now in the state? How does the opening of the pheasant season affect duck hunting? These and other duck facts are being found in cold storage lockers in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Arthur S. Hawkins, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service biologist located in Minneapolis, and Forrest B. Lee, waterfowl biologist for the Minnesota conservation department, report that the locker plants are the source of the following information.

Duck production this past year was poor—very poor. In normal years, at the beginning of the waterfowl hunting season, hunters bag mostly young ducks. Generally they will shoot two or more young ducks for every adult duck that they shoot. Young ducks, Hawkins points out, are not as educated to the pitfalls of life as are the older birds which have run the hunting gauntlet north to south through the United States at least one time.

But this year the locker plants show that young ducks are outnumbered by their parents. This means that Minnesota hunters are dipping into the basic breeding stock of ducks—which isn't a happy situation.

Ducks will reproduce and bounce back if there are good water conditions on their United States and Canadian breeding grounds. But rapid recovery can only occur if a good breeding stock remains after the hunting season. There is encouraging news from Canada of early heavy snows and a "wet" freeze-up which greatly increases the chances for a good run-off to refill the dry potholes next spring.

The locker plants show that Minnesota hunters are depending heavily on "bluebills" (lesser scaup and ring-necked ducks) for their shooting—that mallards are not carrying their usual share of the load—that most teal left the state two weeks ago. Fortunately the diving ducks being given special protection this year (canvasback, redhead, ruddy duck) have not been gunned heavily. Unfortunately one of the reasons this is true is that these birds are very scarce this year according to aerial surveys and all reports. The locker plans say, too, that most Twin Cities hunters desert the marshes in favor of the cornfields for the pheasant season opening. This, also, is a break for the scarce diving ducks since by another week most of them will have moved on to other areas. It looks as though Minnesota hunters can expect some good shooting on mallards in the weeks to come.

The first Monday following the opening weekend of hunting in Minnesota, Hawkins and Lee, with the help of other federal and state biologists, checked 598 ducks in Twin Cities locker plants. The second Monday they checked 659 ducks. The third Monday they checked 293 ducks. The first Monday check showed a ratio of 0.96 young to each adult duck. The second Monday the ratio was 0.76::1. The third Monday it was 0.93::1.

Twenty kinds of ducks and five kinds of geese have been left at these locker plants by Minnesota hunters. Among the duck species the check showed 505 bluebills, 96 baldpates (widgeon), 436 mallards, 110 teal, 17 canvasback, 42 redhead, and 122 ring-necked ducks.

The Twin Cities locker plant check is a part of a Flyway-wide project sponsored by the Fish and Wildlife Service and the Mississippi Flyway Council. Later in the season similar investigations will be conducted farther south but the Minnesota checks will continue as long as there are birds available.

State Man Named to High U. S. Post

Robert Forsythe Named Health Dept. Secretary

The appointment of Robert Forsythe to the position of assistant secretary for legislation of the department of health, education and welfare was made by President Eisenhower. Forsythe's previous position was congressional liaison officer for this department.

Mr. Forsythe will direct, guide, coordinate and promulgate the entire legislative program for all parts of the department. This means drafting or helping to draft legislation, working with the White House and the bureau of the budget on legislative proposals from this department and testifying before senate and house committees on legislation which touches the activity of the department.

Forsythe has been in Washington since 1953 when he became chief counsel of the senate small business committee. He served in this post under both Republican and Democratic committee chairmen until Sept. 1, 1955 when he went into Senator Thye's office as administrative assistant in charge of the entire office. He left that office in January of this year when he started with the department of health, education and welfare.

As assistant secretary, Forsythe replaces Elliott Richardson, who has resigned to become United States district attorney for New York. The post carries an annual salary of $20,000.

A graduate of St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., and the University of Minnesota law school, Forsythe won state and national honors as an undergraduate debater. He was president of the student body at St. Olaf in 1942.

Later he served in the army, entering as a private in July, 1942 and separated in the rank of captain in April, 1946. He served on the faculty of the college of St. Catherine in St. Paul from September 1947 to May 1, 1953.

Study Preference of Honey Bees for Various Legumes

'U' of M. Scientists Say Kind of Sugar in Legume Is Determining Factor

Scientists have turned up a clue to why honeybees prefer some legumes to others.

It isn't how sweet the nectar is, but it's apparently the kind of sugar in a legume flower that makes the difference.

Entomologists Basil Furgala, T. A. Gochnauer and F. G. Holdaway at the University of Minnesota found that combined amount of glucose and fructose (two types of plant sugar) in the nectar is directly related to bee preference.

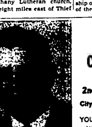
The fussy appetite of bees results in consternation to many a legume seed producer in northwestern Minnesota. Without bees, a field of alsike clover, for example, won't get pollinated and won't bear seed. Bees, though, prefer sweet clover, alfalfa, alsike and red clover in that order.

This means that bees will go to alsike only in absence of both alfalfa and sweet clover, and so on.

Up to now, the big question has been why.

The entomologists analyzed nectar from the four crops in field near Roseau. They found that content of sucrose (table sugar) couldn't account for the difference in preference. The least-preferred of the four, red clover, had a higher percentage of this sugar in its nectar than any of the rest. Total sugar content didn't explain the differences, either.

Combined percentage of glucose and fructose, however, were directly related to the order of preference. These two sugars made up 51 per cent of total nectar solids in sweet clover, 42 per cent in alfalfa, 32 per cent in alsike and 25 per cent in red clover.



Important as this information is, though it still means farmers themselves must deal with the problem posed by competing crops at pollination time. Best approach, say entomologists, would be for farmers to plan their seed production on a community wide basis. Then alsike and red clover would be grown only where crops that compete for the bees' attention aren't as common.

Bob Carlson and Honebrink Losers; Bond Issue Carries

Voters of Thief River Falls approved the $225,000 waterworks improvement bond issue by more than a 2 to 1 majority in the Tuesday, Nov. 3 election and replaced two familiar faces in the council chamber when they turned out a moderately-heavy vote of 2,349.

Approval of the bond issue assures the city a new water tank, underground storage reservoir and the necessary piping to put the facilities into operation to supplement and replace the present aged equipment.

Orin J. Green was a heavy favorite in the race for the position of mayor which will be vacated by Dr. O. D. Beich the first of next year. Green had a total of 1,639 votes in the unofficial tally compared to 660 for Mrs. Agnes Israelson. The vote was the worst defeat for Mrs. Israelson in her last three campaigns. In 1955, she polled 1,1?? votes to Dr. Beich's 1,373 and in 1957, she was defeated by Dr. Beich 1,213 to 788.

In the mayoralty contest, these were the final unofficial results by wards:

	Green	Israelson
First Ward	264	[illegible]
Second Ward	361	[illegible]
Third Ward	293	[illegible]
Fourth Ward	429	[illegible]

Pennington Will Get $40,888 IN FAS Funds Payable July 1, 1960

State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman has announced the allocation of $6 million to Minnesota counties for their 1960 construction programs for Federal Aid Secondary roads. This amount will come from the $7,340,810 certified as Minnesota's share of the fiscal 1961 federal aid apportionment for secondary roads.

Although these funds do not actually become payable to the state until July 1, 1960, Commissioner Zimmerman's announcement will permit the counties to program their road projects well in advance in anticipation of the allotments.

He released a listing of the amount alloted to each county, showing also the deductions necessary to repay one-half of the federal funds advanced to certain counties for their 1959 construction programs. The allotments were determined by using the formula established for the distribution of state collected road-user funds, which takes into consideration the county's motor vehicle registrations, the number of miles of county-state aid highways and the financial needs.

The FAS allotment for Pennington county is $45,012, from which a loan payment of $4,124 is to be deducted, leaving a net of $40,888. The allotment for Marshall county is $108,540; Red Lake, $38,010; Roseau, a net of $45,133; Kittson, $62,440 net; and Polk, $149,490.

Rural Power Use Shows Growth at 'Phenomenal' Rate

Consumption of electricity in the rural areas is increasing at a "phenomenal" rate David A. Hamil, administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration told 250 delegates from Minnesota, North and South Dakota attending the sixth annual Area Power Conference at Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3 and 4. Sponsors of the conference were Northern States Power Company, Central Power Electric Co-operative, Minnot, Otter Tail Power Company, Minnkota Power Co-operative, Grand Forks, and Montana-Dakota Utilities.

Hamil pointed out that 98.6 per cent of all farms in Minnesota recorded in the last census are now receiving central station electric service. The comparable figure for North Dakota is 85 per cent and for South Dakota 87 per cent. More than 130,000 consumers are being added to REA lines each year, he pointed out, with non-farm consumers outnumbering farm consumers by 3 to 1. As a consequence, almost 30 per cent of REA loans in the past six years were for generation and transmission facilities.

Prof. F. W. Duffee, chairman of the agricultural engineering department of the University of Wisconsin, told the conference that "probably one of the greatest developments in American agriculture during the next quarter century will be in the area of mechanizing livestock chore work."

Among the advances toward "push-button farming" cited by Prof. Duffee were improved milking systems that have cut work about 50 per cent, mechanical aids that make it possible for one man to take care of a flock of 10,000 laying hens or 20,000 broilers, and electric-operated machinery that makes it possible to feed 600 hogs merely by turning a switch.

The CANDID COMMENT

It isn't often we take to the typewriter to pound out a column nowadays but we feel an occasion such as Tuesday's election warrants a little comment, from a loser's point of view.

First off, I want to thank those 108 people who had enough confidence in me to give me their votes. I am highly gratified that there was that many of them, and again, THANK YOU from the bottom of my heart.

In view of the way other things turned out Tuesday I probably owe the 240-odd voters who DIDN'T vote for me just as many thanks. There is no doubt they saved me much grief over the next two years.

Naturally, no one enjoys coming out second man in a two-man race. But, as I said above, the way things worked out I'm the winner in the long run because I'll have a lot more evenings free and a lot less trouble on my mind the next two years. I don't envy Milt Reierson a bit.

On the contrary, I wish him luck and will be happy to give him my support wherever and whenever needed. I am sure he will be a good representative on the council for folks in our ward.

I gained a lot of experience during my brief fling in city politics. It is work to get out house to house, especially in raw weather such as we had last week. But, it was an experience I enjoyed immensely.

Best of all, I think, was the privilege I had of meeting so many of the people in our ward. They were very friendly and receptive and they made the job much easier by their friendliness. I think this experience alone is worth the effort, win or lose!

There'll be no post-mortems on my part—"if I had done this" or "had I done that," is out the window. Milton had the support and confidence of fifth warders and worked hard to win, so he deserved to win, as I'm sure everyone will agree. I'm also sure everyone is behind him!

Unless I am badly mistaken, my tenure on the airport commission ends in December. As chairman of the commission I have noted that opposition to the municipal airport has made the commission's road a rocky one to travel at times, often unreasonably so.

Fortunately, there are no major needs there now, that I know of. One job remains—the badly needed extension of the ramp to provide better access to the new shop building. At present the new building is surrounded by a sea of mud, an almost intolerable situation. Getting even the smallest airplane in and out of the shop is a major undertaking. The remedy should be relatively inexpensive, however.

For the most part our outgoing city council has been friendly toward maintaining a good airport. We hope the new council will also listen sympathetically to our needs, which I feel are reasonable and few at this time.

We aren't interested in getting the largest possible wad of taxpayers' money to throw around—all we want to do is run a good, efficient airfield for local folks' use. There can be reasonable opposition to that!

4-H Leaders' Council Reviews Activities

Pennington 4-H Leaders Council reviewed 4-H activities and set up working committees at the monthly meeting held Monday.

The council constitution will be mailed to all new adult leaders. A committee of junior leaders was selected to work at the achievement banquet. They were Virginia Finstad, Rocksbury; Gloria Philipp and Nancy Newton, Smiley; and Deanna Burtness, Silverton.

The district 4-H institute will be held in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, January 6. Other northwestern counties will send delegates for training at the institute. The delegates in turn relay the information to their councils. Representing Pennington county at the institute will be Mrs. Ray Oen, Mrs. Thad Szymanski, Mrs. Merle Dagen, Mrs. Stanley Radniecki, Dale Svendsgaard and Robert Hirst.

The next leader council meetings will be held on the second Monday of December and January instead of the first Monday, to avoid conflicts with other events.

4-H club officers in each club will receive sheets describing their duties. This is in lieu of an officer training meeting which will not be held.

Junior leaders were requested to sign up in their projects at an early date. Council attendance is required for their project award, the key award, and the "Club of the Year" plaque.

Minutes of the last meeting will not be mailed as they were previously. Action was voted by the council to discontinue the practice.

Milton Leiran, council's roving reporter, reported on the achievement banquet held by the Highlanding 4-H club. The club has a point system based on 4-H members' activities. The awards to the members are given on basis of points earned.

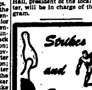
Newfolden Loses to Argyle 19-12

Nordics End Season with Five Wins, Three Losses

The Newfolden Nordics closed their 1959 football season on Friday, October 30, when they dropped a 19 to 12 decision to the Argyle Eagles at Argyle.

The Nordics, coached by Jack Junker, a 1957 graduate of Denver university, ended the season with an overall record of five wins and three losses. In east half Northern Lights conference play, the Nordics posted a mark of four wins and two losses, placing third in the standings.

Coach Junker singled out the following boys for special mention: Lowell Halvorson, a senior halfback; Wayne Bjornrud, a senior tackle; Ronald Ueland, junior end converted from halfback after the start of the season; David Haug, a junior who moved over to quarterback after having been an end last season; Howard Davis, junior center who was the mainstay of the offensive line, and a linebacker on defense; and Darrell Bakke and Wendell Hagenbeck, seniors who performed ably at halfback and tackle, respectively.



Coach Junker is optimistic about next season's Newfolden prospects despite the loss of seven seniors by graduation. Returning for next season's competition will be ten lettermen, and he believes that the club will be among the top three in the conference play.

Two Lincoln high school students, their adviser and Mochammed Sjachrani, Indonesian foreign exchange student, will attend a model United Nations assembly in Winnipeg April 22-23 of next year under the sponsorship of the local Rotary club.

The announcement was made at the Monday meeting of the club at which letters from Mary Demetrellou, 1958-59 foreign exchange student, were read by Roy Oen. Hunting Regulations in The Mud Lake Area

Deer hunting will be permitted on the Mud Lake unit of the Red Lake National Wildlife refuge from sunrise to sunset, Nov. 7 to 15, both dates inclusive, according to Herbert H. Dill, refuge manager. Only deer may be taken.

Hunting conditions are expected to be better than last year. Most of the open area is accessible to hunters on foot.

Entrance to the hunting area may be gained from Marshall county highway "E," or from the north at the Clearbrook county highway 7 junction. Hunters may enter the east gate at Kelly Ridge until he closed. Refuge game will be opened at 6 a.m. and cars will not be permitted to enter the refuge from any other points. All cars must be out of the refuge by 5 p.m.

Travel by car on the refuge however will be limited to designated areas; traffic will be restricted in accordance with weather conditions to prevent damage to the roads. Parking will be permitted in the fields by hunters.

Hunters must comply with all state regulations pertaining to deer hunting but will not be required to check in at the checking stations before hunting. However, checking stations will be operated at three points and hunters are requested to check out when leaving regardless of weather or not they were successful.

Additional information may be obtained by writing to: Refuge Manager, Mud Lake Refuge, Holt, Minn., or calling at the refuge headquarters. A map will be available showing the locations of the hunting areas and giving a synopsis of the special regulations.

Safety Chief Offers Winter Driving Tips

Six tips for cold weather driving were offered Minnesota motorists today by Harry A. Nelsen, Minnesota highway safety director, as the opening gun in the fall "Operation Winter" campaign of the International Association of State and Provincial Safety Coordinators.

Based on scientific research by the Automotive Safety Foundation on winter driving hazards, under actual driving conditions and driving tests conducted by professional drivers and engineers, the safety rules are as follows:

1. See as the key to your own safety. Driving conditions are definitely are less favorable in winter. Be up to your maximum for your car, wear-wise your driving glasses and your hearing aid, if you do your best to avoid accidents.

2. Rely on good tires and the chains You may prefer snow tires for winter, but you will should carry reinforced tire chains for the infrequent occasions when they will help you get through. Even more important are snow and ice conditions.

3. Keep windshield and windows clear. Be sure your wiper blades are in good condition, and that wiper arms have adequate pressure to sweep snow and sleet from the glass. Be sure the defroster and defogger are working smoothly. Clear snow and ice from the windshield and all windows of your car before beginning any trip. Keep the windows free from fogging.

4. Get the "feel" of the road. In order to avoid untrectional skidding, start driving at slow speeds, try the brakes and gently press the accelerator to get the feel of slowly and on traffic and high way conditions permit. Then adjust speed to a comfortable rate governed by the existing road and weather conditions.

5. Follow at a safe distance. Keep at least a four second interval between your car and the vehicle ahead. It takes chainless cars from three to 12 times more distance to stop on snow and ice than on dry pavement.

6. During your brakes. A pumping action permits you to maintain better steering control and ice or slippery snow. A fast application and release of the brakes — one or two times per second — will provide the same effect as cautious braking effort separated by short intervals of controlled steering while wheels are rolling.

State Medics Give Facts about Hair

How many does "we numerous as the hairs on your head" ours? For the average scalp is relatively approximately 120 sq. in. area, the number of hairs on ourselves between 120,000 to 140,000 hairs, says the Minnesota State Medical association.

Blonds lead the list with approximately 1,167 hairs per sq. inch. Persons with black hair, 850 hairs per sq. inch, redheads, 730 hairs per sq. inch.

Hair grows at the rate of approximately three-quarters of an inch per month. A hair which has been spared the barber's shears could reach a length between 22 and 24 inches in two years, after which it will fall from six months to several years.

The elastic properties of hair make it possible for members of the fair sex to be adorned with the latest permanent wave hair dos.

Once a hair is blond, it is always blond, even though it is a shade red as far as Mother Nature is concerned. The pigment responsible for the various color of hair are found at the base of the hair beneath the scalp, it is said.

Due to the structure of the hair, it always will curl when cut, unstruck when the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service said was would not open duck hunting before November 14. Hunters had expected hunter use Douglas fir lumber for framing.

WILDLIFE by Minnesota
by JIM KJELLAND '59

Who said life gets tedious? These are not the words of a Minnesota farmer, however, that's for sure.

Jim Kjelland, a senior in Minnesota's conservation department, is becoming well acquainted with the agency's wildlife research unit. He is working on a project to determine the food habits of the ring-necked pheasant.

Jim's job is to collect crops of birds taken by hunters during the season. He then examines the crops to determine what the birds have been eating.

Jim is a native of Thief River Falls and a graduate of Thief River Falls high school. He is a student at the University of Minnesota-Duluth.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

Just a few words in regard to your editorial on our school in the October 26th issue of The Times. We have a fine school system and a very large one, with more than anyone else.

If my memory serves me correctly, when the school building program was instituted we were in dire need of more school space. Since that time we have had a building program which has met more classrooms than were necessary at that time. Also many built-ins which were stated in the 1 am sure there would have been quite an upsurge about the time the new high school was built. I speak of the band room on the east side of the river. We have been using the band in the school built on it. We also know we have been asked to pay for it. I believe that you will agree with me that the band room is not in a good location for the school or any other business. How else would one get the band there in advertising sales which took effect at the Times when it was built?

I personally believe we have the right to a good educational system, number of other local citizens I have talked to feel the same sincerity in your thinking.

Drivers License Examiner Tests Set for Nov. 17

The state date for applications for drivers license examiner positions with the state of Minnesota highway department will be received until Nov. 17, and will be received until that time by the state civil service department for examinations which will include written and oral tests for which a score of 70 or above is required on each part.

The duties of the examiners administer and assess written, vision and driving performance tests to applicants for driver's licenses and recommends granting or refusing licenses. The salary for the position is currently being fixed by the state in which he would also fall that on its face. Even a two-week delay would not have helped this year. The cold weatherman got into the spirit of things and dumped nearly a mile-per-hour gust along with rain and sleet on the opening two days of the season. The letting on good late season plentiful snow on this date.

Who says, "Life gets tedious? Don't it?"

Uniform Time Needed

Harrison J. Cowan, author of Time and its Measurement, reminds us that standard time was established November 18, 1883. Until then, the country ran on "more than 300 local times."

The fight for a uniform time system was led by the railroads, for "it had become hazardous to try to catch a train or meet one." The adoption of a uniform system was heralded as an epic event.

Now, during several months each year, we lapse again into the confusion of "more than 300 local times" because some very bright people have discovered that by setting their clocks ahead they can start the work day an hour earlier by getting up at the same time. Public transportation is still geared to standard time.

The only possible solution for this mess appears to be federal control of all time schedules, and this probably would require a constitutional amendment. The federal government now has the exclusive authority over money. Throughout the states we have a uniform currency, and that, we will all agree, is good. Most people would probably agree too that uniform time schedules throughout the states would also be good.

Europe Is Stable

Eighteen of every hundred cars bought for private use in West Germany are imported, according to a West Germany industry report. Nearly two-thirds of the imports were Italian made and nearly one-third were made in France.

There probably are people in Germany who are unhappy because foreign-made cars are sold in competition with the products of their own country. Such complaints are common everywhere. It is natural to look upon competition as an evil.

But a free exchange of goods and services across international boundaries has just as much to recommend it as the freedom of exchange across our state boundaries. Barriers to trade probably can be justified under some conditions but in most instances they are more harmful than good.

The gradual removal of trade barriers among the countries of Europe could be helpful in the establishment of an enduring peace. As they develop a common market they will develop other common interests, and with greater understanding will come greater tolerance.

There is no assurance, of course, that Europe will never again produce another Napoleon or a Hitler, but such men are not likely to develop unless there is a recurrence of somewhat similar conditions. Western Europe is prosperous at the present time and in all countries there now seems to be a healthy stability.

More Trouble Ahead

The steel strike has become an increasingly serious threat to the American economy as a steadily increasing number of workers in other industries have been idled because of a growing steel shortage. And the prospect for peace on the labor front during the next year is not bright, assuming that industry will hold the line against any further wage and price increases.

Public sentiment, we are sure, is overwhelmingly opposed to more inflation and a further shrinking in the buying power of the dollar. That sentiment prevails throughout the rank and file of labor itself. The demands for wage boosts are supported in too many instances because of a failure to understand that across-the-board wage boosts must lead inevitably to price boosts.

The big danger next year is the possible shutdown in the defense industries where several battles are already in the making. And contracts are expiring in several large non-defense industries during the coming year, any one of which could result in a serious tie-up.

Considering what is ahead of us, there is a possibility that during the next year we may find ourselves operating in a state of national emergency, with wages and prices frozen, and the government at the controls. That is not a condition to be looked forward to with happy anticipation but the circumstances may make it necessary.

Settlement of the steel strike is not going to settle the country's labor problems. The steel strike is just one battle of what may become a prolonged war that neither side could win and that could result only in a further weakening of our country in competition with a world of tough competitors.

Unless we approach these problems with reasonable restraint, recognizing the only alternatives that we have and that the inevitable effect of wage and price boosts is more inflation, we are headed for serious trouble.

United Giving

It isn't only in Thief River Falls that fund raising is a problem. Over a period of years we have had the Community Chest but, while it has served a good purpose, it has not accomplished its main objective of putting all of the "community begs in one askit." Other communities have had much the same experience.

In recent years a new organization has made more progress toward this objective in many communities and especially in larger cities. Northfield, Minnesota, adopted the new plan last year with good results, but this year the same old problems are developing. Under the United Comunity Fund plan there are more controls on fund raising within the community and in the one big drive the number of organizations provided for are increased. Organizations that are heavily staffed with their own fund raising personnel prefer to conduct their own solicitations and fight desperately against any group plan.

The following comment by Carl Weicht, editor of the Northfield News, is especially interesting to us because, essentially, we are faced with a similar problem.

"Northfield's United Community Fund, which last year was an outstanding success in its initial drive after the constructive 30-year record of the Community Chest, is beset with a new and vexing problem this year—namely, the activities of new agencies which are unwilling to share in the united program and wish to conduct their own campaigns.

"One such agency is the Minnesota Heart association, which has declined to participate in our united program and, in effect, turned down a $1,000 allocation, which was subsequently given by Northfield to the University of Minnesota heart research. Another appears to be the Multiple Sclerosis society, which is presently engaged in a campaign by mail. There are others and they pose a problem to all united funds for they appear to be engaged in useful and needed programs deserving public support.

"It is to be noted, with reference to the Multiple Sclerosis society, that this agency did not request an allocation and the officers of the Northfield United Community Fund have not received a report from the Minnesota Research Council with reference to how this agency apportions its funds, how much is used for expenses of campaigns, what goes to salaries of paid officials and workers. Since the United Fund depends on the Minnesota Research Council for valuable information on various agencies, our directors have taken a sound position in neither including this agency in our united campaign nor approving its separate drive.

"The new problem, coupled with all the usual difficulties in a united campaign for a large sum of money, should alert Northfield citizens to the need for effective support of what we are trying to do together in this community. The United Community Fund is a necessity and its effectiveness has been demonstrated; it deserves the loyalty of every one of us and outside agencies must not be allowed to interfere with this reasonable and constructive community effort."

In Northfield 20 agencies will be aided by funds allocated by the United Community Fund and the budget is $17,000. In their effort to make the United Fund drive successful they are fighting a battle in which we have more than just a sympathetic interest.

The hoax perpetrated by those fixed quiz programs merely flim-flammed the TV public and only the conspirators were really hurt by their own duplicity. But, who can reckon the actual physical damage ensuing from some of those deceptively mendacious cigaret and patent medicine commercials, or the moral debasement from some of the filth which fouls up the TV channels? The TV broadcasting industry and the sponsors who finance it should be quick to clean up the garbage and elevate the standards before an indignant public seeks more stringent governmental regulation. —New Prague Times.

This is the month of Thanksgiving and we surely have a lot to be grateful for although the year started badly by having our school burn. The steel strike also affected the construction by delaying material at times, but headway is being made. The business people are heavy taxpayers supporting school, churches and community welfare and appreciate your business. Eddie Nelson and Roy Stennes joined their ranks this fall; real estate has changed hands this year; remodeling, building and road construction has been done this summer inspite of inclement weather. Not too far west potatoes and beets are still in the ground and some grain hasn't been harvested, so while they say the grass is greener on the other side of the fence, this side has been pretty good this year.

(Although this is addressed to Chevrolet owners, we'd be glad to have you read it, no matter what make you now own or plan to buy. It might well be as interesting and significant to you as to the Chevrolet owner.)

TO THE MORE THAN 16 MILLION PEOPLE WHO OWN CHEVROLETS

The first and the latest—the 1912 and the 1960 Chevrolet. The progress represented here is the result of continuing efforts to make your new Chevrolet always more beautiful, more useful and more valuable in every respect.

We hope you're proud of that. It must give you great satisfaction to know that your judgment in choosing Chevrolet has been confirmed by so many other people.

We know that we can hold your preference and your loyalty only by meeting our responsibilities to you fully and completely from the day you buy your Chevrolet to the day you trade it in. And so we'd like to talk with you about our responsibilities as we see them, and what we are doing to meet them.

Our first responsibility, we think, is clear: To design and build products that satisfy your needs and your wants to the highest possible degree. To that end, we have done these things for 1960:

Made the 1960 Chevrolet more economical, roomier, more quiet and comfortable, easier to handle and maneuver. Introduced the compact and revolutionary Corvair. Produced a new line of Chevrolet trucks with unprecedented advances in efficiency, cargo handling, driver-comfort and ability to get a job done.

But it isn't enough to design and build the kinds of products you want. They must be built right. Solidly. Carefully.

Let us assure you of this: Chevrolet's fine reputation as a solid, well-built, dependable product is being safeguarded by more checks and inspections and tests, than ever before.

Along with your Chevrolet dealer, we want you to have available the finest and most complete service facilities. That is why we: Conduct training schools for Chevrolet dealer mechanics. Study and recommend improved service equipment and techniques. Maintain the industry's most complete parts warehouse system.

Finally, neither Chevrolet nor your Chevrolet dealer has any intention of forgetting you after you buy. To help keep you happy with your Chevrolet, we have established a department new to us, and so far as we know, new to the automobile industry. This is the Chevrolet Department of Owner Relations, whose only job is the coordination of Chevrolet and Chevrolet dealer activities so that you enjoy utmost satisfaction during your entire period of ownership. Through this department, and through all the other extraordinary steps we are taking, Chevrolet and your Chevrolet dealer hope to keep you a happy member of the Chevrolet owner family.

Firearms Season on Deer Opens Saturday

The 1959 deer firearms season opens November 7th with shooting hours from sunrise to sunset, Jim Kimball, state director of game and fish, announced today. Hunters should consult the map in the 1959 Hunting and Trapping Regulations for zones, closing date and type of weapon. Bow and arrow hunting is permitted in all of the open zones during the November season. Nine different zones have been established to permit an adequate deer harvest according to the number of animals available.

After a series of several mild winters the deer population is good and indications are that the deer are widespread throughout the zones which have been opened. If weather and hunting conditions are satisfactory we should have a successful deer season, James W. Kimball, director of game and fish said today.

During the 1958 November firearms season 203,430 resident hunters took 75,141 deer for an average hunting success of 38 per cent.

This year division game managers with the assistance of Y. C. C. boys censused two sample townships in Itasca county using the deer drive method and found 18 and 16 deer per square mile respectively. In the year 1939 three sample townships in the same area were censused by C.C.C. boys. They got a count of 17, 9 and 5 per deer per square mile on three different sections.
